Mrs. Wilson Chides Ike For Criticizing Husband

Tempest Over Guard Remark Blows Harder

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) — Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, wife of the secretary of defense, chided President Eisenhower today for his criticism of her husband, and the storm over Wilson's remarks about the National Guard blew harder.

Wilson has come in for wholesale denunciation for his assertion that there was draft dodging by some guard enlistees during the Korean War. Because of the political strength of the guard and its supporters, there was speculation that Wilson's Cabinet days may be numbered.

His latest critic was Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) who, mentioning his 26 years of association with the Air Reserve and the National Guard, said:

"Secretary Wilson would do well to study the success of the National Guard concept and the constantly high quality of leadership and soldiers that it has produced for the Army and the Air Force in times of war."

Remarks "Uncalled For"

In coming to the defense of her husband, Mrs. Wilson said the President's remarks at his news conference yesterday were "uncalled for."

She referred indignantly to Eisenhower's comment that he thought Wilson made "a very . . . unwise statement, without stopping to think" when he cast aspersions on some members of the guard.

"I know I probably shouldn't say a thing," Mrs. Wilson exclaimed in an interview with the Washington Evening Star. "I'll just get him in more hot water."

In discussing the possibility of her husband's resignation, she said, "It's perfectly true that we think he has earned the right to take it easy now."

Wilson Declines To Testify

Wilson was invited to appear before a House Armed Services subcommittee next Monday and elaborate on his views about the guard, but Wilson's office said today he had declined the invitatation.

A Pentagon spokesman said Wilson plans to leave Saturday for a brief vacation and speaking engagement in Florida.

Oldtimers here could recall no other occasion, at least in modern times, when a Cabinet lady has taken issue publicly with a president in quite the way Mrs. Wilson has done.

President Calls For Immigrant Quota Increase

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) — President Eisenhower asked Congress today to admit more immigrants to the United States, with a special welcome to fugitives from communism.

He called, in a message to the House and Senate, for an increase of 65,000 a year in the number permitted to come in.

He asked, too, for changes in immigration quotas that would open the doors to more Southern Europeans, many of whom have been kept out by the "national origins" restrictions of present law.

Reaction Mixed

Eisenhower's recommendations were much like those he submitted a year ago, without success.

However, his tying the requests this time to the plight of Hungarian and other refugees from communism may cut into congressional opposition.

Chairman Walter (D-Pa) of the House Immigration subcommittee expressed opposition to any large increase in immigration.

Rep. Celler (D-NY) chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, parent group of the immigration subcommittee called Eisenhower's proposals "a step in the right direction but nowhere far enough."

Hillings Offers Bill

Sen. Ives (R-NY) described the President's suggestions as "intelligent and honorable remedies" for "our shameful immigration law."

Rep. Hillings (R-Calif) of the Immigration subcommittee introduced a bill to carry out Eisenhower's recommendations. Hillings said the greatest controversy would center on the number of additional immigrants to be admitted and "I am convinced the President is not wedded to exact numbers."

Justice Reed Retires From Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) — Justice Stanley Forman Reed today announced his retirement from the Supreme Court. He said "the strain of unremitting exertion" required by his duties no longer seems wise.

Reed was 72 years old Dec. 31. A Kentucky-born Democrat, he went on the high tribunal 19 years ago today, by appointment of President Roosevelt. A New Dealer when appointed, he came to be regarded as a member of the court's "conservative bloc."

Will Draw Full Salary

In retirement he will draw his full salary of $35,000 a year.

In a longhand note to President Eisenhower, the justice made known his desire to retire on Feb. 25. The President in a reply letter said he wished to "tender my congratulations on your long and splendid record in public service."

Eisenhower also commended Reed's "dedication and devotion that are so much a part of your reputation."

Warren Lauds Reed

Chief Justice Warren in a statement said Reed had made "a great contribution to the court."

"We will miss both his wise counsel and his genial disposition," Warren stated.

Announcement of Reed's decision to quit caused immediate speculation on his possible successor. Names of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; Leonard W. Hall, the retiring Republican national chairman, and Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell were among those mentioned promptly.

Woman Found Fatally Beaten

LEECHBURG, Pa., Jan. 31 (AP)—An attractive 25-year-old housewife was found bludgeoned early today in an alley behind her garage-apartment home. She died in the arms of her husband.

Elman L. Foster, 31-year-old steelworker, told police he returned home from a bowling alley and tavern and found his wife, Emily, a few feet from their apartment door. She had spent the evening playing bingo with her husband's parents.

Coroner C. M. Woodward of Armstrong County said an autopsy showed Mrs. Foster suffered two skull fractures—one above each ear. He said she also suffered gashes in front of the left ear and in the forehead.

Sheriff William Hutchinson of Armstrong County told newsmen: "This was definitely homicide. It can't be anything else."

Police said she had been struck on the head with a blunt instrument. Her purse was found shortly after noon along Route 356, almost 10 miles west of her home. It was empty except for her drivers' license. It had contained less than $5 in cash.

Singer's Father Dies

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31 (AP)—The father of Anna Maria Alberghetti, the Italian-born singer, died today after a brief illness.

Daniels Alberghetti, 53, came to this country in March 1953 with his wife and three children.

Contracts Given For Three More Atom Submarines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Navy announced tonight the awarding of contracts to two companies for building three more atomic-powered submarines.

One contract went to the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. of Pascagoula, Miss., which will build the submarines SSN-590 and SSN-592 at a total contract price of $40,998,770.

The Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., Groton, Conn., was awarded the contract for building the atomic submarine SSN-589 at a price of $25,800,000.

Both contracts are fixed price and were awarded following competitive negotiations, the Navy said.

The prices do not cover the cost of the reactors through which the vessels are propelled.

The contracts for the three submarines are under congressional authorization for building five additional nuclear submarines.

$10,000 Savings Stolen

FAIRFAX, Va., Jan. 31 (AP) — Arthur L. Donahew, a Ft. Belvoir electronics engineer, told police that someone broke into his home and stole $10,000.

The money, he said, was his accumulated savings of more than five years. He said he had planned to invest it today.

Women Fired For World Junket At U.S. Expense

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Two employes of the Senate Appropriations Committee went off the payroll today, after an outcry was raised over a round-the-world inspection trip they took at government expense.

Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz) said the women, Mrs. Grace E. Johnson and Mrs. Mary Frances Holloway, "are no longer with the committee." He said they were removed from the payroll as of today.

Hayden didn't go into detail. Neither did a Republican senator who reported there had been many protests about the trip.

The official purpose of the women's trip was stated to be the examination of salaries and payrolls in offices of the U. S. Information Agency.

Hayden first said that Mrs. Holloway had resigned to join her husband in Oklahoma. Later he said both women had been removed from the payroll.

Mrs. Johnson told reporters:

"Those stories about being drunk are absurd. I do not get drunk here in Washington and I was on too tight a schedule of investigations to get drunk then."

Mrs. Johnson showed reporters letters signed last Aug. 1 by Committee Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz) authorizing an inspection trip by the two women to Europe, Asia and the Near East.

The letter asked Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson and the head of the United States Information Agency to assist the two committee representatives by the use of official travel, funds and counterpart funds.

Plane Wreckage Probed For Victims

Rescue workers search through the wreckage of a giant airliner seeking victims after the plane fell in pieces on the playground of Pacoima Junior High School near Van Nuys, Calif., yesterday. The tragedy resulted from the collision of the airliner and a jet plane, both on test flights, at an altitude of 20,000 feet. The four men aboard the transport and one of the two in the jet were killed. Two students died and 78 persons were injured, three critically. (AP Photofax)

Saud's Support Of Ike Program Sought In Talks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles sought King Saud's support today for President Eisenhower's program to insulate the Middle East against communism so that troubled area can settle its problems in peace.

Dulles conferred with the Saudi Arabian King for 2¼ hours at Blair House, official guest house where Saud is staying, across from the White House.

Dulles arranged a dinner tonight in Saud's honor. Vice President Nixon entertained the 55-year-old monarch at lunch today.

Snow Interests Arabs

Dulles' conference with Saud followed the tall, brown-robed Arab leader's visit to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The King laid a wreath at the tomb amid new-fallen snow. His aides fingered the snow on tree branches in wonder at a substance foreign to their desert homeland.

Eisenhower gave Saud an unprecedented personal welcome yesterday and arranged a final round of conferences for tomorrow, the final day of the King's state visit. Saud vetoed plans for a nationwide tour thereafter, electing to stay for nine or 10 days at a resort near Washington, the plush Greenbrier Hotel at White Sulpher Springs, W. Va.

Negotiations Move Slowly

Negotiations apparently were slowed by two things: The need for interpreters, meaning everything said had to be repeated, and the usual Arab practice of proceeding extremely slowly from generalities to particular points.

Dulles smilingly brushed off reporters at Blair House as they asked for a word on what he and the King had discussed.

Eisenhower and Dulles are trying to win Saud's support of the President's Mideast proposal. As approved by the House yesterday, it would empower the President to use military force to counter any overt Communist attack. It also provides for stepped-up military and economic aid.

11 Of 60 Trapped By Snow Rescued

CHAMA, N. M., Jan. 31 (AP)—Five men were brought out by helicopter and six others by Army Weasels today from two trains caught in heavy snow atop Cumbres Pass on the Colorado-New Mexico line.

J. D. Norwood, assistant superintendent of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad, said he had made two trips up to the trains atop 10,000-foot Cumbres Pass.

The 11 taken out today left 49 still stranded.

"They are still full of spunk," Norwood said. "They have plenty food, plenty fuel, plenty shelter."

The record snow stranded the trains Saturday. One was a rescue train equipped with snow plows and extra food for the stranded men it was meant to rescue.

Cadillacs For Saud?

DETROIT, Jan. 31 (AP)—General Motors Corp. was reported today to be building more than 60 custom-built Cadillacs — costing around a million dollars—for King Saud of Saudi Arabia, now on a state visit to the United States.

Flood Deaths Rise; Disaster Declared

Ike Orders Federal Funds Used For Relief

[By The Associated Press]

President Eisenhower designated portions of Kentucky and West Virginia major disaster areas Thursday as low temperatures and rain added to the misery of thousands left homeless by floods that lashed four states.

There were eight dead in Kentucky; three in West Virginia and one in Virginia. Property damage in these states and in Tennessee ran to millions of dollars.

Eisenhower ordered the use of whatever federal funds are necessary for relief in those states. The Small Business Administration in Washington also designed 23 counties in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia as disaster areas.

Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., Army engineer from Cincinnati, said the worst of the flood is over in Kentucky "if we don't have any more heavy rain."

"Terrific" Cleanup Job

Smyser, who toured the disaster area Thursday, added that the "big job now is cleaning up and it will be terrific."

Gov. A. B. Chandler's office said it planned to send National Guardsmen into Prestonburg, Ky., to halt looting there. The request for help came from Mayor Harry Sandige, who said two patrolmen had been assigned temporarily to the business district.

Sandige said about 1,000 were forced to flee their homes and that damage would reach four million dollars. He said the town needed food, and medical supplies, principally typhoid vaccine.

The Army, National Guard and civilian teams already have set up typhoid vaccination centers in other hard-hit towns like Hazard, Perry County. Damage there was estimated at more than five million dollars.

Other devastated areas in Kentucky included Pikeville, Barbourville, Harlan and Neon.

Williamsburg, Ky., Threatened

Sandbagging was under way at Williamsburg in Whitley County, Ky., where the Cumberland River continued to rise. Mayor Virgil Bailey said the town was prepared for a record flood stage.

Elsewhere in the state, rain-swollen rivers and streams began retreating. Transportation and communication remained a problem.

At least 7,000 telephone and 103 long distance lines were out in the Kentucky floodlands.

Additional roads were closed as flood waters moved downstream in eastern and southern Kentucky.

The highway department said highways as far west as its Bowling Green district were under water, adding the listing was incomplete because of poor communications.

'Kremlin Twins' Will Put Show On Road Again

MOSCOW, Jan. 31 (AP)— Premier Nikolai Bulganin and party leader Nikita Khrushchev are putting their show on the road again. This time they are going to Finland—probably this spring.

Visiting Premier Karl August Fagerholm of Finland invited them at a Kremlin luncheon yesterday and they accepted today at a luncheon in the Finnish Embassy.

The announcement seemed to squelch rumors here and abroad that a reshuffle is imminent in the Kremlin hierarchy. Some diplomats thought this was one of the reasons for the prompt acceptance of the Finnish invitation.

The rumors had it that President Klimenty Voroshilov was to retire, with Bulganin to replace him. Khrushchev then was to move into the Premier's job, with former Premier Georgi Malenkov assuming leadership of the party. All this was to have been announced at a meeting of the Supreme Soviet beginning Feb. 5. But now Bulganin, Khrushchev and Voroshilov are all heading for foreign visits—the latter to Red China in April and May; and presumably all with the titles they hold now.

Bulganin told the Finns he and Khrushchev were ready to go at any time, spring, summer or autumn. But Khrushchev appeared to pin the timing down. Spring is the best time to go visiting, he said, because "Spring is the best season for love."

The visit to Finland will permit Bulganin and Khrushchev to resume their traveling salesmanship abroad, halted by the worldwide storm of anti-Soviet feeling which followed the use of Soviet armed force in Hungary.

India Joins U.S. In Move To End Mideast Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—India joined the United States and Canada today in an attempt to work out a solution for a stalemate over Israel's withdrawal from Egypt.

V. K. Krishna Menon, India's roving Cabinet minister, conferred for an hour with Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of the United States. Later it was reported the U.S.-Canadian plan had been modified slightly to make it more acceptable to President Nasser of Egypt who must consent if U.N. Emergency Forces are to move into areas Israel vacates.

Two-Part Plan

Lodge, Krishna Menon and Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson were busy with other delegates.

Lodge and Pearson have proposed a two-part program. The first part, a short resolution, would have the General Assembly deplore Israel's failure to complete her withdrawal from Egypt and call for the sixth time for her to withdraw completely.

Once this resolution was approved, the plan was for the Assembly to take up immediately a second resolution covering use of the U.N. Emergency Force along the 1949 armistice line, in the Gaza Strip and in the Sharm el Sheikh area.

End Result The Same

Krishna Menon was said to have suggested a more general formula be used so the General Assembly would not be appearing to issue orders to Egypt and the UNEF would not have the appearance of an occupation army. This view evidently was accepted, since the end result would be the same.

The cardinal point of the U.S.-Canadian plan remained firm. That is a call on Egypt and Israel to abide faithfully by the 1949 armistice agreement. Israel says the armistice is no longer in force. The U.N. has not recognized that contention.

Barber Wouldn't Cut Negro's Hair, Must Pay $200

STOCKTON, Calif. Jan. 31 (AP)—Archie Manley, a Negro church deacon, had a $200 damage award today because a barber refused to cut his hair.

Barber Robert Murrillo testified yesterday he refused because he had not been trained to cut the hair style of a Negro.

Ted To Wed "Soon"

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—The stepmother of a New York model said tonight her daughter will marry Boston Red Sox outfielder, Ted Williams "soon."

Mrs. Fran More said her daughter, Nelva, 24, and the 38-year-old slugger are engaged and that the wedding could take place "tomorrow or the next day."

Dior Drops Skirt Hemline In New Spring Fashions

PARIS, Jan. 31 (AP) — Christian Dior decreed today that a lady should not show her calf in public. His new spring fashion line dropped skirt hems a good four inches below the current Paris trend.

The French designer's latest is no revolution for American and English women, who already are wearing midcalf length skirts. Hemlines in the latest London openings just about agreed with Dior, but Italian designers and most of Dior's competitors in Paris stuck to the old 16- or 17-inch hemline. That doesn't fall far below the knee.

Dior, observing his 10th anniversary as the top Paris designer, displayed what he called the "Liberty line." It included cocktail dresses with the hem almost at the ankle and long tube-slim skirts trickily fitted "screw" waists and low, wide and handsome necklines. It creates a new silhouette that has more than a hint of the vampire.

Some midcalf sheaths trail a panel train on the floor behind, and others have a split overskirt to the bottom of the calf. A completely new daytime ensemble appeared as a slim skirt which just missed a hobble hem by the inset of little vee pleats at each side, teamed up with a short top and a hip-length belted jacket which looks like a tropical busn shirt and is called a "Sahara."

The little woman is out of luck this year, for everything points to a tall look. Dior helped it along with spindly high heels and the tallest mannequins he could find.

Air Collision Rains Death From Skies

Five Fliers, Two Students Killed And 78 Injured

VAN NUYS, Calif., Jan. 31 (AP)—A giant airliner crashed like a bomb into a schoolyard filled with playing children today after colliding with a jet fighter plane at 20,000 feet over the teeming San Fernando Valley.

Tonight, authorities counted seven dead. Four were aboard the transport. One of the two in the jet was killed. Two students died, and 78 persons were injured, three critically. Twenty - eight were in hospitals.

Residents in many areas of the valley witnessed the spectacular midday collision, which occurred in sparkling clear weather. Both planes were on test flights.

Both planes were on test flights.

There were about 75 boys in gym suits frolicking on the athletic field of nearby Pacoima Junior High School when the monster liner, trailing smoke and spurting flames, smashed down with a force felt throughout much of the valley.

Church, School Damaged

The children were bowled over like tenpins. After the first shock came a rain of fragments—bits of aluminum, wreckage of every kind. A church and school across the street were badly damaged. Another school three blocks away was peppered. So were houses for miles around.

Dazed, shocked children, some whimpering and some calm, picked themselves up. Some didn't arise. Teachers rushed out with blankets to cover the injured.

An armada of ambulances took the children to hospitals all over the valley.

Meanwhile, tape recorders at airport towers recorded these final chilling words from the stricken DC7 transport:

"Midair collision. . . Midair collision. Ten-how (an abbreviated identification number).

"We're going . . . uncontrollable . . . uncontrollable . . .

"Say goodbye to everybody."

Then silence.

Jet Survivor Hazy

The jet survivor, Radarman Curtiss A. Adams, 28, of the F89 Scorpion, parachuted into nearby Glendale. He said at a hospital where he was treated for burns and bruises:

"We had just completed the second of three passes we were making to test our radar. I saw something loom up on the left side . . . There was a crash.

"We lost our cockpit canopy. Fire came in. There wasn't time to think of anything—everything was fire and we were spinning toward the ground. I guess I bailed out. I can't figure how we collided with that airliner, if that's what it was. . . . I just can't figure it."

The jet crashed in La Tuna Canyon to the east.

On the schoolground, sheets of flame spurted horizontally as the two million dollar sky giant, being tested for delivery to Continental Airlines, plunged in.

One child said of the crash: "It was like an earthquake."

A teacher said: "The boys fell as though they were hit by a scythe."

Probe May Star Envoy Byroade

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) — Henry Byroade, former ambassador to Egypt, has been recalled to Washington to help the Eisenhower administration prepare for a Senate investigation of Middle East policy.

Responsible informants disclosed this today as top State Department and Intelligence Agency officials began assembling a mass of documents to defend the administration's record against Democratic criticism.

Byroade, who may turn out to be one of the most controversial figures in the investigation, is now ambassador to South Africa. He was transferred there after Egypt's President Nasser seized the Suez Canal July 26, touching off the present Middle East crisis.

As ambassador from January 1955 on, Byroade is known to have appealed frequently to the State Department to give or sell American weapons to Egypt to keep it from turning to the Soviet Union for military aid. The Egyptians concluded such a Red arms deal in September of 1955.

Plane Wreckage Probed For Victims

Rescue workers search through the wreckage of a giant airliner seeking victims after the plane fell in pieces on the playground of Pacoima Junior High School near Van Nuys, Calif., yesterday. The tragedy resulted from the collision of the airliner and a jet plane, both on test flights, at an altitude of 20,000 feet. The four men aboard the transport and one of the two in the jet were killed. Two students died and 78 persons were injured, three critically. (AP Photofax)

Saud's Support Of Ike Program Sought In Talks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles sought King Saud's support today for President Eisenhower's program to insulate the Middle East against communism so that troubled area can settle its problems in peace.

Dulles conferred with the Saudi Arabian King for 2¼ hours at Blair House, official guest house where Saud is staying, across from the White House.

Dulles arranged a dinner tonight in Saud's honor. Vice President Nixon entertained the 55-year-old monarch at lunch today.

Snow Interests Arabs

Dulles' conference with Saud followed the tall, brown-robed Arab leader's visit to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. The King laid a wreath at the tomb amid new-fallen snow. His aides fingered the snow on tree branches in wonder at a substance foreign to their desert homeland.

Eisenhower gave Saud an unprecedented personal welcome yesterday and arranged a final round of conferences for tomorrow, the final day of the King's state visit. Saud vetoed plans for a nationwide tour thereafter, electing to stay for nine or 10 days at a resort near Washington, the plush Greenbrier Hotel at White Sulpher Springs, W. Va.

Negotiations Move Slowly

Negotiations apparently were slowed by two things: The need for interpreters, meaning everything said had to be repeated, and the usual Arab practice of proceeding extremely slowly from generalities to particular points.

Dulles smilingly brushed off reporters at Blair House as they asked for a word on what he and the King had discussed.

Eisenhower and Dulles are trying to win Saud's support of the President's Mideast proposal. As approved by the House yesterday, it would empower the President to use military force to counter any overt Communist attack. It also provides for stepped-up military and economic aid.

11 Of 60 Trapped By Snow Rescued

CHAMA, N. M., Jan. 31 (AP)—Five men were brought out by helicopter and six others by Army Weasels today from two trains caught in heavy snow atop Cumbres Pass on the Colorado-New Mexico line.

J. D. Norwood, assistant superintendent of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad, said he had made two trips up to the trains atop 10,000-foot Cumbres Pass.

The 11 taken out today left 49 still stranded.

"They are still full of spunk," Norwood said. "They have plenty food, plenty fuel, plenty shelter."

The record snow stranded the trains Saturday. One was a rescue train equipped with snow plows and extra food for the stranded men it was meant to rescue.

Cadillacs For Saud?

DETROIT, Jan. 31 (AP)—General Motors Corp. was reported today to be building more than 60 custom-built Cadillacs — costing around a million dollars—for King Saud of Saudi Arabia, now on a state visit to the United States.

Flood Deaths Rise; Disaster Declared

[By The Associated Press]

President Eisenhower designated portions of Kentucky and West Virginia major disaster areas Thursday as low temperatures and rain added to the misery of thousands left homeless by floods that lashed four states.

There were eight dead in Kentucky; three in West Virginia and one in Virginia. Property damage in these states and in Tennessee ran to millions of dollars.

Eisenhower ordered the use of whatever federal funds are necessary for relief in those states. The Small Business Administration in Washington also designed 23 counties in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia as disaster areas.

Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., Army engineer from Cincinnati, said the worst of the flood is over in Kentucky "if we don't have any more heavy rain."

"Terrific" Cleanup Job

Smyser, who toured the disaster area Thursday, added that the "big job now is cleaning up and it will be terrific."

Gov. A. B. Chandler's office said it planned to send National Guardsmen into Prestonburg, Ky., to halt looting there. The request for help came from Mayor Harry Sandige, who said two patrolmen had been assigned temporarily to the business district.

Sandige said about 1,000 were forced to flee their homes and that damage would reach four million dollars. He said the town needed food, and medical supplies, principally typhoid vaccine.

The Army, National Guard and civilian teams already have set up typhoid vaccination centers in other hard-hit towns like Hazard, Perry County. Damage there was estimated at more than five million dollars.

Other devastated areas in Kentucky included Pikeville, Barbourville, Harlan and Neon.

Williamsburg, Ky., Threatened

Sandbagging was under way at Williamsburg in Whitley County, Ky., where the Cumberland River continued to rise. Mayor Virgil Bailey said the town was prepared for a record flood stage.

Elsewhere in the state, rain-swollen rivers and streams began retreating. Transportation and communication remained a problem.

At least 7,000 telephone and 103 long distance lines were out in the Kentucky floodlands.

Additional roads were closed as flood waters moved downstream in eastern and southern Kentucky.

The highway department said highways as far west as its Bowling Green district were under water, adding the listing was incomplete because of poor communications.

'Kremlin Twins' Will Put Show On Road Again

MOSCOW, Jan. 31 (AP)— Premier Nikolai Bulganin and party leader Nikita Khrushchev are putting their show on the road again. This time they are going to Finland—probably this spring.

Visiting Premier Karl August Fagerholm of Finland invited them at a Kremlin luncheon yesterday and they accepted today at a luncheon in the Finnish Embassy.

The announcement seemed to squelch rumors here and abroad that a reshuffle is imminent in the Kremlin hierarchy. Some diplomats thought this was one of the reasons for the prompt acceptance of the Finnish invitation.

The rumors had it that President Klimenty Voroshilov was to retire, with Bulganin to replace him. Khrushchev then was to move into the Premier's job, with former Premier Georgi Malenkov assuming leadership of the party. All this was to have been announced at a meeting of the Supreme Soviet beginning Feb. 5. But now Bulganin, Khrushchev and Voroshilov are all heading for foreign visits—the latter to Red China in April and May; and presumably all with the titles they hold now.

Bulganin told the Finns he and Khrushchev were ready to go at any time, spring, summer or autumn. But Khrushchev appeared to pin the timing down. Spring is the best time to go visiting, he said, because "Spring is the best season for love."

The visit to Finland will permit Bulganin and Khrushchev to resume their traveling salesmanship abroad, halted by the worldwide storm of anti-Soviet feeling which followed the use of Soviet armed force in Hungary.

Barber Wouldn't Cut Negro's Hair, Must Pay $200

STOCKTON, Calif. Jan. 31 (AP)—Archie Manley, a Negro church deacon, had a $200 damage award today because a barber refused to cut his hair.

Barber Robert Murrillo testified yesterday he refused because he had not been trained to cut the hair style of a Negro.

Dior Drops Skirt Hemline In New Spring Fashions

PARIS, Jan. 31 (AP) — Christian Dior decreed today that a lady should not show her calf in public. His new spring fashion line dropped skirt hems a good four inches below the current Paris trend.

The French designer's latest is no revolution for American and English women, who already are wearing midcalf length skirts. Hemlines in the latest London openings just about agreed with Dior, but Italian designers and most of Dior's competitors in Paris stuck to the old 16- or 17-inch hemline. That doesn't fall far below the knee.

Dior, observing his 10th anniversary as the top Paris designer, displayed what he called the "Liberty line." It included cocktail dresses with the hem almost at the ankle and long tube-slim skirts trickily fitted "screw" waists and low, wide and handsome necklines. It creates a new silhouette that has more than a hint of the vampire.

Some midcalf sheaths trail a panel train on the floor behind, and others have a split overskirt to the bottom of the calf. A completely new daytime ensemble appeared as a slim skirt which just missed a hobble hem by the inset of little vee pleats at each side, teamed up with a short top and a hip-length belted jacket which looks like a tropical bush shirt and is called a "Sahara."

The little woman is out of luck this year, for everything points to a tall look. Dior helped it along with spindly high heels and the tallest mannequins he could find.

India Joins U.S. In Move To End Mideast Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—India joined the United States and Canada today in an at'empt to work out a solution for a stalemate over Israel's withdrawal from Egypt.

V. K. Krishna Menon, India's roving Cabinet minister, conferred for an hour with Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of the United States. Later it was reported the U.S.-Canadian plan had been modified slightly to make it more acceptable to President Nasser of Egypt who must consent if U.N. Emergency Forces are to move into areas Israel vacates.

Two-Part Plan

Lodge, Krishna Menon and Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson were busy with other delegates.

Lodge and Pearson have proposed a two-part program. The first part, a short resolution, would have the General Assembly deplore Israel's failure to complete her withdrawal from Egypt and call for the sixth time for her to withdraw completely.

Once this resolution was approved, the plan was for the Assembly to take up immediately a second resolution covering use of the U.N. Emergency Force along the 1949 armistice line, in the Gaza Strip and in the Sharm el Sheikh area.

End Result The Same

Krishna Menon was said to have suggested a more general formula be used so the General Assembly would not be appearing to issue orders to Egypt and the UNEF would not have the appearance of an occupation army. This view evidently was accepted, since the end result would be the same.

The cardinal point of the U.S.-Canadian plan remained firm. That is a call on Egypt and Israel to abide faithfully by the 1949 armistice agreement. Israel says the armistice is no longer in force. The U.N. has not recognized that contention.

Ted To Wed "Soon"

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—The stepmother of a New York model said tonight her daughter will marry Boston Red Sox outfielder, Ted Williams "soon."

Mrs. Fran More said her daughter, Nelva, 24, and the 38-year-old slugger are engaged and that the wedding could take place "tomorrow or the next day."

Air Collision Rains Death From Skies

VAN NUYS, Calif., Jan. 31 (AP)—A giant airliner crashed like a bomb into a schoolyard filled with playing children today after colliding with a jet fighter plane at 20,000 feet over the teeming San Fernando Valley.

Tonight, authorities counted seven dead. Four were aboard the transport. One of the two in the jet was killed. Two students died, and 78 persons were injured, three critically. Twenty - eight were in hospitals.

Residents in many areas of the valley witnessed the spectacular midday collision, which occurred in sparkling clear weather. Both planes were on test flights.

Both planes were on test flights.

There were about 75 boys in gym suits frolicking on the athletic field of nearby Pacoima Junior High School when the monster liner, trailing smoke and spurting flames, smashed down with a force felt throughout much of the valley.

Church, School Damaged

The children were bowled over like tenpins. After the first shock came a rain of fragments—bits of aluminum, wreckage of every kind. A church and school across the street were badly damaged. Another school three blocks away was peppered. So were houses for miles around.

Dazed, shocked children, some whimpering and some calm, picked themselves up. Some didn't arise. Teachers rushed out with blankets to cover the injured.

An armada of ambulances took the children to hospitals all over the valley.

Meanwhile, tape recorders at airport towers recorded these final chilling words from the stricken DC7 transport:

"Midair collision. . . Midair collision. Ten-how (an abbreviated identification number).

"We're going . . . uncontrollable . . . uncontrollable . . .

"Say goodbye to everybody."

Jet Survivor Hazy

The jet survivor, Radarman Curtiss A. Adams, 28, of the F89 Scorpion, parachuted into nearby Glendale. He said at a hospital where he was treated for burns and bruises:

"We had just completed the second of three passes we were making to test our radar. I saw something loom up on the left side . . . There was a crash.

"We lost our cockpit canopy. Fire came in. There wasn't time to think of anything—everything was fire and we were spinning toward the ground. I guess I bailed out. I can't figure how we collided with that airliner, if that's what it was. . . . I just can't figure it."

The jet crashed in La Tuna Canyon to the east.

On the schoolground, sheets of flame spurted horizontally as the two million dollar sky giant, being tested for delivery to Continental Airlines, plunged in.

One child said of the crash: "It was like an earthquake."

A teacher said: "The boys fell as though they were hit by a scythe."

Probe May Star Envoy Byroade

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) — Henry Byroade, former ambassador to Egypt, has been recalled to Washington to help the Eisenhower administration prepare for a Senate investigation of Middle East policy.

Responsible informants disclosed this today as top State Department and Intelligence Agency officials began assembling a mass of documents to defend the administration's record against Democratic criticism.

Byroade, who may turn out to be one of the most controversial figures in the investigation, is now ambassador to South Africa. He was transferred there after Egypt's President Nasser seized the Suez Canal July 26, touching off the present Middle East crisis.

As ambassador from January 1955 on, Byroade is known to have appealed frequently to the State Department to give or sell American weapons to Egypt to keep it from turning to the Soviet Union for military aid. The Egyptians concluded such a Red arms deal in September of 1955.

AFL-CIO Orders 140 Unions To Remove Corrupt Officials

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP)—The AFL-CIO today ordered its 140 unions to remove from office any union official "commonly known" to be corrupt without waiting for them to be convicted in court.

This was among strict new rules adopted today by the AFL-CIO's executive council in its campaign to clean crooks out of organized labor.

The new rules designed to insure honesty among union leaders were contained in three codes drafted by an ethical practices committee, headed by Al Hayes of the machinists union, and approved by the council.

One of the codes deals with union responsibility to oust corrupt and immoral officials, a second with safeguarding health and welfare plan money and the third with union men having questionable private business connections.

Besides adopting the code, the council issued a statement protesting President Eisenhower's welcome to America of King Saud of Saudi Arabia. It charged Saud is a slave owner, has tortured his subjects and barred American military and civilian personnel who are Jews from his country.

"While the American government showers honor on King Saud," the council statement said, "he's busily engaged in plotting against the free world. . .we cannot effectively oppose the slave labor of Communist regimes while paying tribute to the owner of chattel slaves in Saudi Arabia."

The statement accused Saud of beheading slaves caught escaping and torturing labor strikers with poison scorpions, slow burning and pulling out fingernails.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, told reporters national unions will be expected to enforce the new ethical practices code among local unions. He said threatened expulsion from the AFL-CIO will be the weapon held over unions to compel compliance.

King Saud's Son Enters Hospital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The presidential suite at Walter Reed Army Hospital was occupied tonight by a young prince from Saudi Arabia.

He is 3½-year-old Prince Mashhur, favorite son of King Saud who arrived yesterday for a state visit.

The young prince is undergoing examination by some of the Army's top doctors in an effort to determine the cause of a malady that has left the boy's right arm and right leg partly paralyzed since birth.

President Eisenhower arranged for the examination, which may require several days. Prince Mashhur was taken to the hospital by Eisenhower's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder.

Nasser Still Alive

CAIRO, Jan. 31 (AP)—An official source denied here tonight reports widely circulated around the world that Egypt's President Nasser had been assassinated. A similar apparently groundless rumor circulated yesterday reported ex-President Naguib had died.

Tests Support Drifter's Claim Confession Lie

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP)—Edward (Bennie) Bedwell, Skid Row dishwasher, got support from a medical report today in his efforts to prove his confession of the Grimes sisters slaying was a lie.

Bedwell also charged that police slugged and threatened him and finally told him he'd get nothing more than disorderly conduct charge if he "told the truth" about the Grimes girls because it had been established they had "died of exposure."

He is seeking his release from jail on bond in a habeas corpus hearing in Criminal Court which was continued to Saturday.

Dr. Walter J. Camp, state toxicologist, testified that his tests indicated the girls met death sometime before midnight on Dec. 28, the night they disappeared.

This would be less than an hour after the girls, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, are believed to have left a movie without ever reaching their home.

Bedwell, in his recanted confession, said he and a companion named Frank, slugged, stripped and dumped the Grimes sisters in a snowbank Jan. 13 after living and carousing with them in Skid Row hotels and bars for a week. He said the girls ate hot dogs shortly before they died.

Their frozen bodies were found alongside a highway southwest of Chicago on Jan. 22.

Camp said Patricia's stomach was empty and that Barbara's stomach contained traces of sweet potatoes, tuna fish, peanuts and unpeeled apple—items served at the family dinner the night the girls disappeared.

Military Funeral To Be Motorized

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Pentagon has decided to motorize military funerals and abolish the time-honored horse drawn caisson and the riderless horse that follows its master to the graveside.

The Defense Department said today the decision was prompted by a need for economy. It said the 38-billion-dollar military budget for the year starting July 1 contains no money for support of the matched greys and the rest of the historic ceremonial that has long been a part of military custom.

Officials produced figures to show that a motor hearse can perform the funeral function for $2.10 per ceremony. They said it cost more than $80 to use horses to draw the traditional gun carriage from the Ft. Meyer chapel to the graveside in Arlington National Cemetery.

Benjamin Harrison was the last bearded President of the United States.

Gas Prices Cut As Stocks Soar

[By The Associated Press]

Gasoline prices inched lower in a wide area from New England to Texas Thursday as inventories of motor fuel climbed to near-record levels.

Price cuts at wholesale ranged from half a cent to a full cent a gallon on both "regular" and premium fuels. In many cases the reductions were attributed to "competitive conditions."

Late Wednesday Socony Mobil Oil Co. announced reductions ranging from half a cent to a cent a gallon in the wholesale price of its Mobilgas and Mobilgas special in Rhode Island and most of Massachusetts. At the same time Socony chopped a full cent from the fair trade retail price of its gasolines in that area.

In Texas, Humble Oil & Refining Co., Phillips Petroleum Co. and Magnolia Petroleum Co. joined other oil companies in a round of gasoline price cuts started previously by Continental Oil Co.

Atlantic Refining Co. reduced its fair trade retail gasoline price in eastern Pennsylvania by one cent.

Winchell Kicked Him, Youth Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—A teenager testified today that he was cursed and kicked by columnist Walter Winchell. The youth said he was under arrest and in handcuffs at the time. He also claims that Winchell threatened him with a gun.

The testimony came from Richard Nelson, 19, on trial with Joseph Ware, 20, on felonious assault charges. They are accused of beating two newspaper photographers and a copyboy at Broadway and 51st St. last Sept. 25.

There was no immediate comment on the testimony by Winchell. However, a detective already has testified under oath that no newspaperman struck or threatened the youths.

Nelson said that after a street fight he was taken by police to St. Clare's Hospital where the three victims were being treated for their injuries.

He testified that Winchell struck him across the face with a leather jacket as he was entering the hospital, then followed him in and kicked him repeatedly in the legs while cursing him.

Taken to the W. 47th St. police station, Nelson continued, Winchell again kicked him in the legs and told him:

"You're not so tough now."

Nelson testified:

"He put his gun to my head and said, "I'm going to kill you. You're not so tough when you're outnumbered.'"

Hunters' Tricks Kill Bounty Bill

MONTPELIER, Vt. Jan. 31 (AP)—In the wake of charges of counterfeiting and black marketing in porcupine ears, a bill was withdrawn from the Legislature today which would have restored a 50 cents bounty on the spiny creatures.

The Fish and Game Department feared the measure would result in hunters collecting the fee by presenting ears—proof of kill—of porcupines slain in neighboring New Hampshire.

It also was stated that some hunters had become extremely adept at fashioning supplementary ears—as many as 16 pairs from a single porcupine carcass.

70% Of Air Defense Units Get Nike By '58

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker says that by midsummer of 1958 about 70 per cent of the antiaircraft battalions in the continental defense system will be armed with Nike missiles.

He also has told the House Armed Services Committee that the first "Missile Master" system is now being installed "at a key installation in the continental United States."

The Missile Master, developed by the Glenn L. Martin Co. for the army, provides automatic, high-speed electronic control for detecting approach of enemy planes, selecting the batteries which should open fire and launching the missiles at the proper time for interception.

BUILT-IN SUPERCHARGER!

A Studebaker-Packard exclusive
so good other cars will have to copy it!

It's like having two engines in one—an economical engine for normal driving, and, when you want it, a super-powered engine for acceleration . . . for safer passing, hill-climbing and high altitude operation.

Today, only Studebaker-Packard brings you an engine with a built-in supercharger which has been tested and proved in service. Already, its high efficiency and remarkable performance have shown it to be the power plant of the future. Here, graphically, is proof:

The acceleration curves shown on this chart were obtained by plotting miles-per-hour against time, in seconds. The solid line shows the performance of Studebaker's supercharged Golden Hawk. The dotted line is the performance curve for the average American family sedan. Notice how much steeper the Studebaker curve is. It's the direct result of the supercharger pouring pressurized fuel-air mixture into the engine.

You can see how much more power the supercharged engine has in reserve for instant acceleration—at any speed—when you need it.

Winchell Kicked Him, Youth Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—A teenager testified today that he was cursed and kicked by columnist Walter Winchell. The youth said he was under arrest and in handcuffs at the time. He also claims that Winchell threatened him with a gun.

The testimony came from Richard Nelson, 19, on trial with Joseph Ware, 20, on felonious assault charges. They are accused of beating two newspaper photographers and a copyboy at Broadway and 51st St. last Sept. 25.

There was no immediate comment on the testimony by Winchell. However, a detective already has testified under oath that no newspaperman struck or threatened the youths.

Nelson said that after a street fight he was taken by police to St. Clare's Hospital where the three victims were being treated for their injuries.

He testified that Winchell struck him across the face with a leather jacket as he was entering the hospital, then followed him in and kicked him repeatedly in the legs while cursing him.

Taken to the W. 47th St. police station, Nelson continued, Winchell again kicked him in the legs and told him:

"You're not so tough now."

Nelson testified:

"He put his gun to my head and said, "I'm going to kill you. You're not so tough when you're outnumbered.' "

Hunters' Tricks Kill Bounty Bill

MONTPELIER, Vt. Jan. 31 (AP)—In the wake of charges of counterfeiting and black marketing in porcupine ears, a bill was withdrawn from the Legislature today which would have restored a 50 cents bounty on the spiny creatures.

The Fish and Game Department feared the measure would result in hunters collecting the fee by presenting ears—proof of kill—of porcupines slain in neighboring New Hampshire.

It also was stated that some hunters had become extremely adept at fashioning supplementary ears—as many as 16 pairs from a single porcupine carcass.

70% Of Air Defense Units Get Nike By '58

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker says that by midsummer of 1958 about 70 per cent of the antiaircraft battalions in the continental defense system will be armed with Nike missiles.

He also has told the House Armed Services Committee that the first "Missile Master" system is now being installed "at a key installation in the continental United States."

The Missile Master, developed by the Glenn L. Martin Co. for the army, provides automatic, high-speed electronic control for detecting approach of enemy planes, selecting the batteries which should open fire and launching the missiles at the proper time for interception.

BUILT-IN SUPERCHARGER!

so good other cars will have to copy it!

It's like having two engines in one—an economical engine for normal driving, and, when you want it, a super-powered engine for acceleration . . . for safer passing, hill-climbing and high altitude operation.

Today, only Studebaker-Packard brings you an engine with a built-in supercharger which has been tested and proved in service. Already, its high efficiency and remarkable performance have shown it to be the power plant of the future. Here, graphically, is proof:

The acceleration curves shown on this chart were obtained by plotting miles-per-hour against time, in seconds. The solid line shows the performance of Studebaker's supercharged Golden Hawk. The dotted line is the performance curve for the average American family sedan. Notice how much steeper the Studebaker curve is. It's the direct result of the supercharger pouring pressurized fuel-air mixture into the engine.

You can see how much more power the supercharged engine has in reserve for instant acceleration—at any speed—when you need it.

Average U.S. Clergyman Underpaid, Report Says

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Whatever rich rewards there are in preaching the Gospel, they usually aren't in cash.

That's the substance of a report out today on the status of clergymen's salaries.

Church members, the report said, seem to take the attitude that the pastor is "doing the Lord's work and the Lord will provide."

So the congregation itself often doesn't do much providing—at least not in the way of pay for the parson.

The average cash salary to the Protestant minister, as based on the latest tallies throughout representative denominations, is about $4,000 a year (not counting value of dwelling, which generally is provided).

Although the average itself is far below other professional categories, the amount in the many smaller churches is often down in the $2,000 or $3,000 bracket.

"Pastors of larger churches are fairly adequately paid," said Dr. Albert McClellan, Nashville, Tenn. assistant executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention. "Those of smaller churches are underpaid."

The average is based on figures from the research department of the National Council of Churches, whose monthly organ, the Outlook, comments:

"In an era of the greatest church membership in history, swelling collection plates and a church building boom in the millions of dollars, the average U. S. clergyman is being grossly underpaid."

Although he is expected to be a "highly trained man, skilled not only as a preacher and pastor, but as organizer, administrator, program planner, financier and public relations expert," the report said, his pay is about the same as that of "barbers, sailors and longshoremen."

With the value of living quarters, usually calculated at 15 per cent of cash salary, included in the average income in most cases, then the average is about $4,600.

This still is way down the line, with most professional groups averaging about twice as much.

The annual pay rate climbed an average of almost $1,000 in five years, but as affected by the rising cost of living, the real gain is small.

(Roman Catholic priests get much lower pay, since they receive both food and lodging, and do not have wives or children to support. Their usual cash pay ranges from about $1,500 down to $750 a year.)

Here are the latest figures on the average pay of Protestant ministers in various denominations (All of them except those for Congregational Christians and estimated value of housing rental:

Congregational Christian—$4,163

American Baptist Convention—$4,748

United Presbyterian Church—$4,377

Protestant Episcopal Church—$4,905

Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.—$5,405

American Lutheran—$4,316

United Lutheran—$4,391

Southern Baptists—From an average $2,242 for churches of about 100 members to an average $9,452 for churches with 3,000 members up.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP) — The "outstanding lieutenant of the 1st Army" is 1st Lt. Stephen A. Dukkony, a Texas Western College graduate now serving at Ft. Hancock, N. J. Dukkony was chosen by the Society of American Wars, which makes the selection annually.

U.S.-Belgium Liaison

BRUSSELS, Jan. 31 (AP)—Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak will go to Washington in February to establish a liaison between the U. S.-Belgium nuclear energy agreement and the atomic pool being set up in six European coal and steel community nations.

Russian Production Exceeds Plan By 11%

MOSCOW, Jan. 31 (AP)—The government announced formally today what its leaders have been claiming for weeks: In 1956 the Soviet Union exceeded its state economic plan by 11 per cent.

The central Statistics Department of the U.S.S.R. Council of Ministers said preliminary data boosted its heavy industry by 11.4 per cent and its consumer goods production by 9.4 per cent above the targets.

The announcement also said Soviet national income was 12 per cent higher in 1956 than in 1955. But it did not give over-all figures for either year.

It said earnings of workers rose 3 per cent.

The statistics bureau cited some industries—among them coal, ferrous metals and building materials — for "serious shortcomings" and failure "to fulfill their plans both as regards the production of main types of goods and as regards gross output."

Industries praised were oil, gas, aluminum, electric power, diesel engines and prefabricated houses.

Theoodre Roosevelt in 1895 authorized the appointment of the first police matrons in New York.

Pilot Ditches Jet After Long Glide

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 31 (AP)—A Navy pilot glided his supersonic jet fighter completely across New Jersey yesterday and ditched it in the Atlantic Ocean after developing engine trouble 50,000 feet over populous Philadelphia.

The Navy identified the pilot as Capt. Robert Dose, commanding officer of Air Development Squadron 3 at the Atlantic City Naval Air Station. He parachuted from the craft and was rescued from the icy waters by a seaplane from the air station minutes after he hit the water.

The veteran naval officer, who holds nine different service ribbons, was pulled from the water about four miles off Surf City in Ocean County. The plane crashed about 20 miles offshore, the Navy said.

The Navy identified the plane as an F8U Crusader which holds the world's speed record for military aircraft at 1,015 miles an hour and is capable of breaking the sound barrier in level flight.

When a mayfly goes below the water to lay its eggs, it "wraps up" a supply of air in its wings before going under.

Cab Driver Sues Lanza For $70,000

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31 (AP)—A cab driver has sued Mario Lanza for $70,000 damages, alleging that the singer was driving with "conscious indifference to surrounding circumstances" last Thursday night.

Seymour E. Maslow, 32, asserted he suffered head, back and neck injuries when his taxicab and Lanza's car collided. Maslow, also a free-lance artist, charged that Lanza, 36, was driving at excessive speed.

A date palm may bear fruit for about 200 years.

Patricia Blake To Become Bride Of Ronald Barb

Miss Patricia V. Blake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter K. Pickett, 114 North Allegany Street, is to become the bride of Ronald P. Barb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Barb, 224 Beall Street, today.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 7:30 tonight in First Presbyterian Church, with Rev. Maurice Robertson officiating.

Mrs. Carrol Brant Bowers will be the bride's matron of honor and only attendant, while Leo Brill serves as his cousin's best man. Joseph White and Denver Kidwell, another cousin, are the ushers.

Mr. Pickett will give his daughter in marriage. For her wedding the bride has chosen a white lace and satin, ballerina-length gown, with fingertip-length veil and bouquet of white flowers.

Her attendant's gown is of pink lace and nylon chiffon, made complementary to the bride's. With it she will wear a veiling headdress and corsage of pink flowers.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1955, and is employed by Potomac Motors Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate o. Allegany High School, class of 1952, and recently received his discharge from the Army after three years service, of which two and one half were on duty in Germany.

A wedding reception will be held in the church social hall, following the ceremony.

Youth Day To Be At Mapleside

Mapleside Methodist Church will observe "Youth Sunday" at two services Sunday, with Raymond Mull, president, in charge of both. The first will be a program at 9:45 and the Youth Fellowship officers will be installed at 11 a.m. by the pastor.

Taking part in the services will be Cheryl Mull, Mary Lou Hinds, Christy Miller, Gale Arbogast, Glenn Twigg and Kenneth Bender.

Officers to be installed are Raymond Mull, president; Cheryl Mull, vice president; Sue Bender, secretary; and Christy Miller, treasurer.

A special number will be sung by the Junior MYF Choir at the 11 o'clock service. Members of the choir are James Steinger, Richard Hinds, Gary Seibert, John Rosser, Paul Dicken, Brenda Proudfoot, Edith Steinger, Randi Reynolds, Janis Shobe, Donna Seaders, Anne Bryant, Sue Bryant, Claudette Sisk, Linda Hare, Patricia Detinger, Pamela Lewis, Michael Bryant and Louise Hare.

The weekly round and square dance, sponsored by the Bedford Road Firemen and Ladies Auxiliary, will be held tomorrow evening from 9 until 12.

Makes Career Of Dolls

Doll collecting is more than a hobby for Mrs. Lydia Bowerman, Mount Vernon, Ohio. She collects dolls, lectures about dolls; writes about dolls, and paints portraits of dolls.

In fact, since her retirement four years ago, she devoted most of her time to dolls.

The walls of Mrs. Bowerman's home bear the portraits of dolls. Her library bulges with books on dolls, including some which quote her as an authority on the subject.

Her extensive collection includes a creche doll made in Italy in the early 1700s, an 1825 English doll with wires that close its eyes, and a doll with a head of human hair—each hair having been placed in the wax scalp with a hot needle more than 100 years ago.

She has antique doll carriages, high chairs, rattles, dishes and even an 1880 German doll house.

But her favorite is a Parismade Queen Victoria, believed to have belonged once to a lady-in-waiting to the queen herself. Since she acquired the doll, Mrs. Bowerman has read everything she could find about Queen Victoria.

Her interest in dolls — as a hobby rather than playthings — dates back 20 years. Since retiring as a New York Central railroad statistician in 1952, she has devoted all her time to them.

When Mrs. Bowerman isn't working with her own dolls, she judges those of others. She was a judge last year at the national meeting of the Doll Club Federation and will be a judge again this year.

Lucy Lee Becomes Bride Of Frank P. Venable

Miss Lucy Lee, 427 Franklin Street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lee, Lonaconing, became the bride of Frank P. Venable, son of Mrs Nice Warner, Front Royal, Va., January 23.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in First Methodist Church, Lonaconing, with Rev. S. W. Price officiating.

Mrs. Francis Schultz, aunt of the bride, with whom she resided, was her matron of honor and only attendant; while Francis H. Schultz served as Mr. Venable's best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white brocade sheath dress, trimmed in pearls. With it she wore a black hat and accessories. A bouquet of yellow rosebuds completed her costume.

Her matron of honor wore a blue knit suit with beige accessories and had an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Lee chose a black costume for her daughter's wedding and had a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Central High School, Lonaconing, and is employed as a secretary in the engineering department of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Front Royal High School, served in Korea and is employed at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass plant by Sargent Electric.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar M. Smith, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, in Gilmore. The bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Venable flew to Miami, Fla. For traveling she wore a red knit suit. The couple is residing at 609 Hill Top Drive.

Youth Will Die In Gas Chamber For Killing Cop

BALTIMORE, Jan. 31 (AP)—Alvin Herbert Braxton, 17-year-old convicted killer of a Baltimore policeman, today was sentenced to die in the gas chamber.

Judge James K. Cullen, who presided at Braxton's trial in Youth Court, imposed the death sentence after the youth made a sobbing plea for his life.

Braxton, a Negro, was convicted of slaying Patrolman John R. Phelan while trying to escape from an ambulance. Braxton had been wounded while fleeing from an attempted holdup. In the ambulance, he grabbed Phelan's gun and shot the policeman.

Phelan's wife gave birth to their first child not long after the policeman was killed.

Braxton had been shot after an attempted holdup of a liquor store and was being taken to a hospital by police when Phelan was shot with his own gun.

A jury deliberated 26 minutes last Nov. 27 before returning a verdict of first-degree murder.

Judge Cullen said he had "slept with the case for the past two months" but could find no mitigating circumstances.

He said he had fully considered Bryant's age and that his family had been deserted by the father even before his birth, but that he found the youth deliberately left his mother's care several years ago to take to a career of crime.

Two other Negroes drew prison terms in the liquor store holdup attempt.

Albert H. Braxton, 19, Alvin's brother, was sentenced to 24 years. Roger W. Ray, 21, who also tried to shoot it out with police, was sentenced to 45 years.

Legislative Sidelights

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 31 (AP)—A big bite by the State into the trading stamp business was proposed today by two Baltimore delegates.

Dels. Mandel and Behounek introduced a bill that would require companies which issue stamps to pay the State the face values of any unredeemed after one year.

Imposition of a franchise tax on building and loan associations was sought by Del. Buffington (D-Balto 3rd).

Capital stock over one million dollars would be subject to a tax of 10 cents for each $100 worth. The one million dollar exemption would leave only a handful of companies subject to the tax. It would produce an estimated one million dollars in State revenue.

Del. Riggin (D-Somerset) believes women as well as men should have to pay for a license to catch oysters. He put in a repealer of the exemption now available to women. Men have to pay $3.50 for a license while women may apply for a free one.

The hot question of whether dredging of oysters should be permitted in the Potomac River came formally before the Legislature. Bills to permit it with sail boats were introduced in both houses by Republican Sen. Phoebus and Democratic Del. Riggin of Somerset County.

The prohibition on dredging in the river has led to what comes close to war between Maryland and Virginia. The Virginians already have a law which would permit dredging but it is inoperative until Maryland also sanctions it. In the meantime, Maryland enforcement officers are kept on the run chasing Virginians dredging illegally.

The permission to dredge is expected to bring opposition from Maryland legislators from the counties bordering the Potomac.

A bill which would increase the speed limit on Maryland's dual highways from 55 to 60 miles per hour stalled today on its route through the Legislature.

The House Judiciary Committee postponed action on the measure pending an explanation by its backer, the State Roads Commission.

The bill would increase the speed limit on dual lane, limited access highways unless a lower maximum is designated by the SRC.

Del. Staten (D-Balto County) was telling the House about the tour he conducted for some visitors.

"I took them to see Gov. McKeldin, who made a short-half hour talk," he said.

Del. Woodward (D-Montgomery) took a puzzled look at a bill to license "body booting." He asked if one of the sponsors wouldn't explain what it meant.

"I'm not too sure I know either," said Del. Moore (D-Harford) as he got up to try. "Body booters" are duck hunters who wear wading boots up to their waists and stand in the water. But Moore got in deeper when he said they would have to obtain a "bushwacking or sneak boat rig" license, terms also strange to non-hunters.

After Moore was through floundering, Del. Hughes (R-Allegany) recalled to him a bit of advice. "Even a fish doesn't get in trouble if he keeps his mouth shut."

The census of 1850 showed a U. S. population of slightly more than 23 million, of which about one in seven were slaves.

Training School Bill Moves Up

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 31 (AP)—The way was cleared today for the House of Delegates to sustain the last of Gov. McKeldin's 11 vetoes of 1956 General Assembly acts.

The House Judiciary Committee approved a substitute measure relating to the management of Maryland's four training schools for delinquent children.

The new bill is also sponsored by Del. Schweinhaut (D-Montgomery) and is designed to satisfy the governor's objections, while keeping the purpose of the original measure.

Mrs. Schweinhaut's bill would give the State Department of Public Welfare undisputed responsibility for the general management of the four training schools while maintaining boards of managers at each school as advisory groups.

The measure proposed last year would have eliminated the local boards and established a central advisory board for all four schools.

In vetoing last year's bill, McKeldin said "these unpaid (local) boards number among their members some of our fines citizens, whose personal and devoted attention to the affairs of the particular schools . . . is well known to me."

Widow, 77, Knocked Down And Robbed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The 77-year-old widow of an Army colonel was knocked down and robbed while walking home last night.

Police said the attack on Mrs. Alice N. Hunt occurred as she was walking toward her Connecticut Avenue home. With her was Mrs. Elizabeth Kutz, 84-year-old widow of Brig. Gen. Charles W. Kutz, who was engineer commissioner for the District of Columbia.

Mrs. Hunt, whose pocketbook containing $30 and personal papers was stolen, suffered a broken wrist and bruises of the head and legs. Mrs. Kutz, who lives near Mrs. Hunt, was not injured.

The women said that when they were within a block of Mrs. Hunt's apartment a man suddenly shoved Mrs. Hunt to the sidewalk, grabbed her pocketbook, and fled.

Liquor "Ages" In Rail Car, Trucks Under W. Va. Governor's Ban

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 31 (AP)—More than 2,800 cases of whisky and wine are aging in a railroad car and two truck trailers parked outside the State Liquor Commission warehouse here.

The freight car arrived yesterday from Fresno, Calif. One trailer has been here since Jan. 23, and the other since Jan. 25.

Liquor Commission employes refuse to unload the car, containing 1,425 cases of wine, or the trucks, with about 700 cases of whisky each.

State officials are puzzled—they do not know where the liquor will go or who will pay the rent, or demurrage, for the car and trailers—already $2,000.

Commission employes explained they can't unload the liquor because of Gov. Underwood's Jan. 14 order cancelling all liquor shipments. Underwood said yesterday he has "no idea" when he will lift the ban.

Father And Two Sons In Court Same Day

SHARPSBURG, Md., Jan. 31 (AP)—It was Family Day in court today.

Harry T. Henson, Sr., 50, came before Magistrate Jesse Shank on a drunken driving charge.

Next came Harry T. Henson, Jr., 21, charged with driving without a license.

John W. Henson, 19, charged with driving without a license.

And it will be Family Day for a month for father Henson and sons in the county jail. Each was sentenced to 30 days.

Youth Will Die In Gas Chamber For Killing Cop

BALTIMORE, Jan. 31 (AP)—Alvin Herbert Braxton, 17-year-old convicted killer of a Baltimore policeman, today was sentenced to die in the gas chamber.

Judge James K. Cullen, who presided at Braxton's trial in Youth Court, imposed the death sentence after the youth made a sobbing plea for his life.

Braxton, a Negro, was convicted of slaying Patrolman John R. Phelan while trying to escape from an ambulance. Braxton had been wounded while fleeing from an attempted holdup. In the ambulance, he grabbed Phelan's gun and shot the policeman.

Phelan's wife gave birth to their first child not long after the policeman was killed.

Braxton had been shot after an attempted holdup of a liquor store and was being taken to a hospital by police when Phelan was shot with his own gun.

A jury deliberated 26 minutes last Nov. 27 before returning a verdict of first-degree murder.

Judge Cullen said he had "slept with the case for the past two months" but could find no mitigating circumstances.

He said he had fully considered Bryant's age and that his family had been deserted by the father even before his birth, but that he found the youth deliberately left his mother's care several years ago to take to a career of crime.

Two other Negroes drew prison terms in the liquor store holdup attempt.

Albert H. Braxton, 19, Alvin's brother, was sentenced to 24 years. Roger W. Ray, 21, who also tried to shoot it out with police, was sentenced to 45 years.

Star Performers

Lassie is one of the star performers in Police Officer Ernest E. Pressley's Safety Circus scheduled to appear in Cumberland Tuesday, February 12. It will be presented that morning at West Side School, at noon at the meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club, and in the afternoon at Pennsylvania Avenue School. Officer Pressley with his trained dogs will be brought here by the American Trucking Association, Inc., national sponsor of the show which teaches safety lessons to the boys and girls of America. Each act points up the importance of observing traffic regulations.

Dogs Will Present Circus On Safety At Two Schools

Children at West Side and Pennsylvania Avenue Elementary schools will have the opportunity Tuesday, February 12, of learning about traffic safety through the efforts of a Charlotte, N. C., police officer and his talented dogs.

Known as the Officer Pressley Traffic Safety Circus, this unusual method of teaching youngsters to be more alert to safety, has played to more than 4,500,000 children. It is currently touring elementary schools of the United States under sponsorship of the American Trucking Association.

Earl D. Chaney is the local contact.

The Cumberland Rotary Club also is joining in sponsorship of this program, which also will be presented at the Rotary meeting at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday, February 12, at Central YMCA.

Children at the two local schools will be treated to a 40-minute circus, complete with music, performing dogs and ringmaster.

Credit for originating this novel method of teaching safety to school children goes to Ernest E. Pressley, a Charlotte police officer. He conceived the idea while noticing the interest of neighborhood children in tricks performed by his pet setter. Pressley then trained other dogs to act out the safety rules and started his tour of the country.

The highly-trained dogs make up the supporting cast for this traffic safety circus, which holds attention of children by performing a great variety of tricks. Each act demonstrates the importance of traffic safety and brings real meaning to Pressley's slogan—"Walk Safe—Ride Safe—Play Safe."

Harold D. Barber, president of the Rotary Club, said the Traffic Safety Circus is endorsed by the National Safety Council, the International Chiefs of Police Association, J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI and educators and civic leaders throughout the country.

Freighter Vanishes

KARACHI, Jan. 31 (AP) — The Pakistani freighter Minocher Cowasjee, carrying a crew of 51, has vanished in high seas of the Indian Ocean on a voyage from Indonesia to South Africa.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

From Paris a Maryland serviceman has written to me saying:

"My wife and I are proud parents of an adopted child — a little girl who is now five months old. We adopted her in Germany when she was 11 days old and, naturally, we want to bring her home with us."

But, the letter pointed out, it is sometimes as difficult for a baby to gain admission to the United States as it is for an adult.

Adopted Children Wait

The problem arises from the fact that since the end of last year there has been no legislation providing specifically for the admission of orphans or adopted children. Consequently, the babies and youngsters fall into the regular system of immigration quotas, where many countries are already heavily oversubscribed.

No Lobbyists for Babies

Accompanying the Maryland serviceman's letter was a newspaper item in which the writer has expressed his regrets that "adopted children have no lobbyists in Washington" to promote their cause.

Well, now, if they want one, this Senator from Maryland would like to volunteer.

I have already given my strongest support to proposed legislation designed to ease the plight of the serviceman's little girl and others like her, and I intend to do everything possible to see that it gains prompt and favorable action.

Free Concert Tickets

While thinking of the younger generation, I would like to announce that groups of Maryland high school students who will be visiting Washington from April 17 through May 21 can obtain free tickets through our office to attend a "Music for Young America" concert.

The concerts will be given by the National Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Howard Mitchell.

Mrs. Merriweather Post will sponsor the series.

$2,000 Music Contest

Mr. Ralph Black, Manager of the Symphony, has also announced that the organization will hold the Merriweather Post Music Contest in conjunction with the concerts.

Open to all high school violinists, pianists and cellists, the contest will offer young musicians a chance to win a first prize of $2,000 or one of the $100 prizes which will be awarded to all finalists.

Each winner will also be given an opportunity to make a solo appearance with the National Symphony.

Application forms for the contest, which must be returned to the orchestra headquarters by March 1, can be obtained from the symphony office at 1779 Massachusetts Avenue, N. W. Washington 6, D. C.

Rabbit To Bear

ZAO, Japan, Jan. 31 (AP)—Yoshio Shiono said he was chasing a rabbit down a slope when the snow gave way and he landed in a deep hole. He saw something staring at him in the gloom and shot it with his rifle. He bagged a bear aroused from its hibernation.

Old time trains in the United States were known as "brigades" and the conductor was called the "captain."

Dogs Will Present Circus On Safety At Two Schools

Children at West Side and Pennsylvania Avenue Elementary schools will have the opportunity Tuesday, February 12, of learning about traffic safety through the efforts of a Charlotte, N. C., police officer and his talented dogs.

Known as the Officer Pressley Traffic Safety Circus, this unusual method of teaching youngsters to be more alert to safety, has played to more than 4,500,000 children. It is currently touring elementary schools of the United States under sponsorship of the American Trucking Association.

Earl D. Chaney is the local contact.

The Cumberland Rotary Club also is joining in sponsorship of this program, which also will be presented at the Rotary meeting at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday, February 12, at Central YMCA.

Children at the two local schools will be treated to a 40-minute circus, complete with music, performing dogs and ringmaster.

Credit for originating this novel method of teaching safety to school children goes to Ernest E. Pressley, a Charlotte police officer. He conceived the idea while noticing the interest of neighborhood children in tricks performed by his pet setter. Pressley then trained other dogs to act out the safety rules and started his tour of the country.

The highly-trained dogs make up the supporting cast for this traffic safety circus, which holds attention of children by performing a great variety of tricks. Each act demonstrates the importance of traffic safety and brings real meaning to Pressley's slogan—"Walk Safe—Ride Safe—Play Safe."

Harold D. Barber, president of the Rotary Club, said the Traffic Safety Circus is endorsed by the National Safety Council, the International Chiefs of Police Association, J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI and educators and civic leaders throughout the country.

Freighter Vanishes

KARACHI, Jan. 31 (AP) — The Pakistani freighter Minocher Cowasjee, carrying a crew of 51, has vanished in high seas of the Indian Ocean on a voyage from Indonesia to South Africa.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

From Paris a Maryland serviceman has written to me saying:

"My wife and I are proud parents of an adopted child — a little girl who is now five months old. We adopted her in Germany when she was 11 days old and, naturally, we want to bring her home with us."

But, the letter pointed out, it is sometimes as difficult for a baby to gain admission to the United States as it is for an adult.

Adopted Children Wait

The problem arises from the fact that since the end of last year there has been no legislation providing specifically for the admission of orphans or adopted children. Consequently, the babies and youngsters fall into the regular system of immigration quotas, where many countries are already heavily oversubscribed.

No Lobbyists for Babies

Accompanying the Maryland serviceman's letter was a newspaper item in which the writer has expressed his regrets that "adopted children have no lobbyists in Washington" to promote their cause.

Well, now, if they want one, this Senator from Maryland would like to volunteer.

I have already given my strongest support to proposed legislation designed to ease the plight of the serviceman's little girl and others like her, and I intend to do everything possible to see that it gains prompt and favorable action.

Free Concert Tickets

While thinking of the younger generation, I would like to announce that groups of Maryland high school students who will be visiting Washington from April 17 through May 21 can obtain free tickets through our office to attend a "Music for Young America" concert.

The concerts will be given by the National Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Howard Mitchell.

Mrs. Merriweather Post will sponsor the series.

$2,000 Music Contest

Mr. Ralph Black, Manager of the Symphony, has also announced that the organization will hold the Merriweather Post Music Contest in conjunction with the concerts.

Open to all high school violinists, pianists and cellists, the contest will offer young musicians a chance to win a first prize of $2,000 or one of the $100 prizes which will be awarded to all finalists.

Each winner will also be given an opportunity to make a solo appearance with the National Symphony.

Application forms for the contest, which must be returned to the orchestra headquarters by March 1, can be obtained from the symphony office at 1779 Massachusetts Avenue, N. W. Washington 6, D. C.

Rabbit To Bear

ZAO, Japan, Jan. 31 (AP)—Yoshio Shiono said he was chasing a rabbit down a slope when the snow gave way and he landed in a deep hole. He saw something staring at him in the gloom and shot it with his rifle. He bagged a bear aroused from its hibernation.

Old time trains in the United States were known as "brigades" and the conductor was called the "captain."

Man Found Not Guilty In Appeal Case

A jury in Circuit Court deliberated only about five minutes yesterday before returning a verdict of not guilty for William Warner Wilson, 35, of Backbone Mountain, Bloomington, on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Wilson, who has been confined to the Maryland House of Correction since November 23, was granted a writ of habeas corpus on Monday by Chief Judge George Henderson, who at the time criticized the handling of an appeal by Wilson after a decision October 26 in Trial Magistrates Court by Magistrate Donald W. Mason in which Wilson was given one year.

Edward R. Martin, 19, formerly of Ohio, but residing in Westernport at the time, was sentenced to two one-year terms in the House of Correction in the same case. The Martin youth appeared as a witness in the hearing.

Martin told the court that he and Wilson had been drinking in Westernport and consumed a fifth of whisky and some beer. They both hitched a ride to the McCoole area. Martin said John Newcomb drove them to the area and that the next thing he knew a man was pulling him from a tractor-trailer owned by the Moran Trucking Company.

James Paul Moran, of the trucking firm, testified that he had been notified that someone had driven off in two tractors, one of which had a trailer attached. One of the tractors was found in a ditch nearby. Later, Moran testified, the Martin youth drove into the firm's yard in the other tractor-trailer rig.

John M. Robb, attorney for Wilson, asked Chief Judge Henderson for a directed verdict of acquittal after the evidence in the case was completed. The court overruled the motion and Judge Henderson stated he would give the case to the jury and perhaps take action later on the motion.

Robb told the court that the state had not presented any evidence that Wilson had driven the tractor-trailer or that he was even in the vehicle. He said the Martin youth testified he did not remember who was with him and that the man who pulled him from the truck was Moran. The youth admitted he had been drinking heavily earlier in the evening. The incident occurred about midnight, October 6.

James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney presented the state's case.

Bolivian Who Stoned "Mona Lisa" Insane

PARIS, Jan. 31 (AP)—A French magistrate decided yesterday the Bolivian who hurled a stone at Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" in the Louvre Museum Dec. 30 was mentally unbalanced and ordered him committed to an asylum for treatment.

A charge of defacing public property was dropped.

The Bolivian is Hugo Ungaza Villegas, 42. He had been living at a Salvation Army shelter. The stone, which he said he threw on a sudden impulse, broke the painting's protective glass and chipped some paint from the figure's left elbow.

Museum experts restored it and the painting was rehung Jan. 2.

Ex-Reporter Seized As Nicosia Killer

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Jan. 31 (AP)—Police arrested a former newspaper reporter and accused him today of being the wholesale killer of Nicosia's "murder mile."

More than a dozen persons have been shot dead in the area along Ledra Street in downtown Nicosia in the last four months.

Police identified the man as Nicos Samson, a 22-year-old Greek Cypriot who was a newspaper reporter until he went underground as an EOKA rebel.

Samson came out of prison last February after serving a 3-month sentence for student anti-British demonstrations.

The ancient Egyptians made beer and later the Greeks, Romans and Gauls took it up.

Largest island in the Mediterranean is Sicily with 9,927 square miles.

Recruiter Congratulated

M/Sgt. Virgil F. Smith, local Army recruiter, is congratulated by Col. R. E. Gambrill, commanding officer of the Second Army Recruiting District, upon his standing as honor student in Class No. 55 of a new recruiting procedures course Sgt. Smith completed recently. Col. Gambrill presented diplomas to the class.

35 Kelly Employes Go On Retirement Today

Thirty-five veteran employes of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here will retire today.

A new retirement system with pensions and related benefits of insurance and hospitalization becomes effective today.

Many of the workers in this group have 30 or nearly 30 years of service. Some of them have been with Kelly since the first tire was produced in the local plant in April 1921.

Retiring are Lester I. Barnes, 228 Pear Street, mechanic; Arthur J. Kirtley, 109 East First Street, instrument worker; Lee L. Moore, 485 Central Avenue, stock preparation.

Herman J. Rolley, 719 Patterson Avenue, mold department; John F. Feeney, 409 Beall Street, mechanic; E. P. Ogle, 116 North Chase Street, receiving; I. D. Ryan, janitorial department.

Willis M. Miler, 656 Fayette Street; curing department; Norman H. Knieriem, Cresaptown, curing department; I. C. Spiker, Corriganville, electrician; Albert C. Brant, Carpenters Addition, Ridgeley, mechanic.

W. H. Fazenbaker, 145 Frost Avenue, Frostburg, curing department; Robert C. Pollock, Foundry Row, Mt. Savage, mold department; Chris L. Pollock, Mt. Savage, mold department.

G. B. McLaughlin, 453 Baltitmore Avenue, mechanic; George W. Dodge, Allegany Grove, tire builder; B. J. Leydig, Hyndman, paint department; E. P. Berkley, Meyersdale, mechanic.

H. L. Sutherland, Westernport, mechanic; J. F. Blue, Fort Ashby, stock preparation; Leo Leasure, RD 1, Oldtown, stock preparation; T. M. Powell, Romney, tube department.

Amos Lechliter, Allegany Grove, mechanic in the curing department; Charles W. Conner, RD 1, Hyndman, calender gun department; Charles J. Eagan, Midland, elevator operator, and Ralph Barber, Hyndman, janitorial department.

Staff workers retiring are O. A. Huff, Frankfort Road; Charles E. Cochran, 204 Avirett Avenue, both foremen; Ralph F. Potter, 850 Greene Street, stock distribution; C. F. Nave Sr., 737 Washington Street, engineering department, and Clarence R. Jones, 504 Avirett Avenue, development.

A luncheon was given yesterday at noon at the Kelly cafeteria in honor of the 35 men. J. C. Warden, plant superintendent, expressed the company's appreciation of the devotion and loyalty shown by these men in helping make Kelly's growth possible.

The employes of the mechanical department at Kelly will honor the members of their department who are among this group Saturday night at a dinner in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Episcopalians Plan Meeting

All Episcopal parishes in Allegany and Garrett counties will be represented at the 173d annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland to be held at the Cathedral of the Incarnation in Baltimore next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Representatives attending from Cumberland will include Rev. H. M. Richardson and George F. Hazelwood, Emmanuel parish; Rev. David C. Streett, Holy Cross and St. Philip's churches; Hugh G. Bartik and Wade E. Sheetz, Holy Cross, and William N. Wood and William W. Stewart, St. Philip's.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese of Maryland will meet in Baltimore in the Cathedral Undercroft on the same days. Those attending from here will be Miss Sophie M. Deneen, Mrs. Paul E. Steinla and Mrs. Wallace Wilson, Emmanuel; Mrs. George Furstenburg and Mrs. Harry F. Goss, Holy Cross; and Mrs. William W. Stewart and Mrs. William N. Wood, St. Philip's.

Rev. Noble C. Powell, D. D., Bishop of Maryland, will be celebrant at Holy Communion opening the convention at 11 a.m. He will be assisted by Rev. Harry Lee Doll, D. D., suffragan bishop, Rev. David C. Streett, dean of the Convocation of Cumberland, and by the deans of the Convocations of Annapolis, Baltimore and Towson.

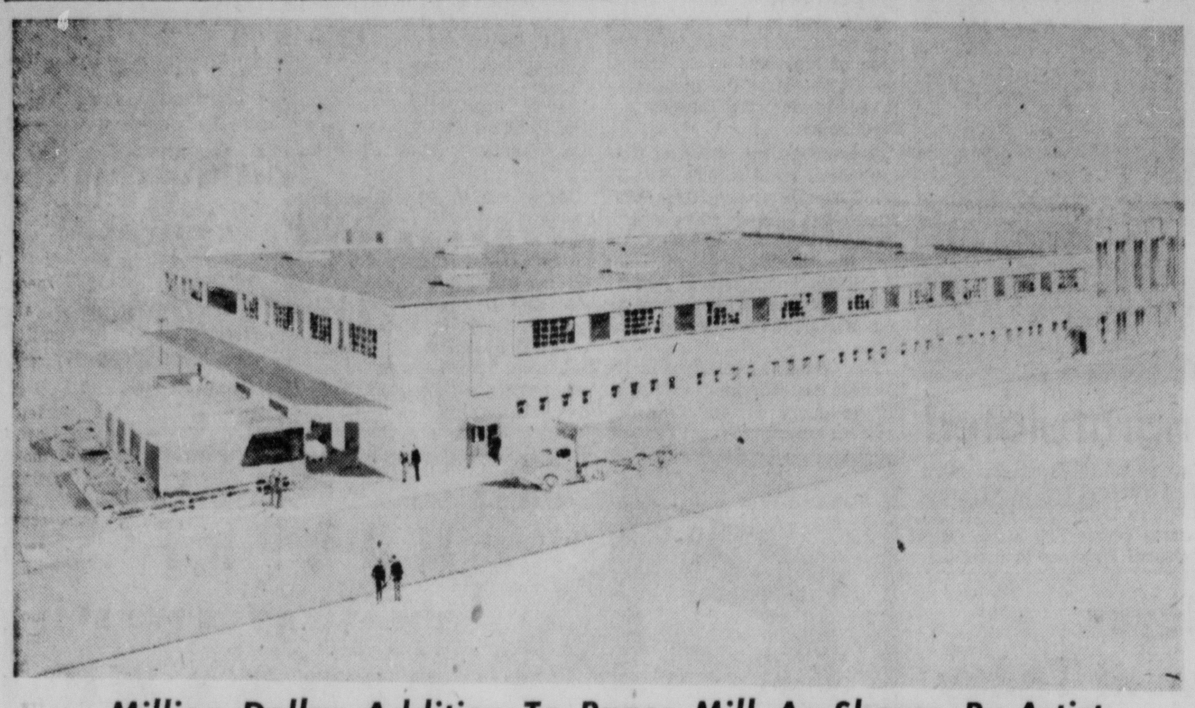
Work On Luke Plant Expansion To Start In Spring



Million Dollar Addition To Paper Mill As Shown By Artist

Finishing Room Cost Placed At Million Dollars

Marks Beginning Of Huge Program

LUKE — Construction of a two-story masonry block and steel addition to the present finishing room building will get under way in the near future as a part of the $50,000,000 expansion program of the Luke Mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, John A. Luke, mill manager, announced yesterday.

Expected to cost close to $1,000,000, the extension, located parallel to Cromwell Street in Luke, will be 250 by 130 feet and 58 feet high. It will join the east end of the present finishing room building, which is 580 feet long and an average of 85 feet wide, and also will tie in with a part of the north side of the experimental coater building in order to take advantage of railroad sidings.

Construction is expected to start in the spring as soon as engineering plans are completed.

Preliminary Plans Ready

Preliminary plans for the structure have been drawn by Glenn C. Hancock and Associates, Charleston, W. Va., industrial architects, working in cooperation with engineering and operating staffs of the Luke Mill.

Construction of the addition will require demolition of seven company-owned frame houses located between the east end of the present finishing room building and a company parking lot on the south side of Cromwell Street.

These houses are expected to be vacant sometime during February so that razing can be started promptly. Bids for demolition of the houses will be asked.

The new building will provide a more efficient paper finishing operation as well as systematic storage, and also will provide facilities to handle increased production anticipated upon completion of the expansion program.

Additional facilities for both truck and rail shipping will be built in the interest of efficiency and to relieve congestion in the mill yard.

To Move Trimming

The trimming operation will be moved from its present location to the second floor of the addition. This will provide a straight-line flow of paper from the cutters where rolls of paper are cut into sheets and then moved on to be trimmed. The second floor also will be used for inspection, wrapping and strapping skids for shipment, storage of paper in process between the cutter room and trimmers, additional rest room facilities, offices for finishing room foremen and packaging of paper for carton stock.

Finished packages will be moved by elevator to the first floor for storage and shipping.

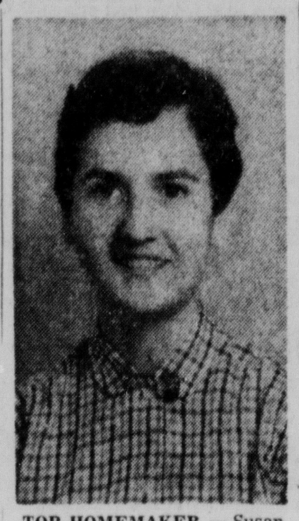
The present truck loading platform in the mill yard at the west end of the finishing room may be eliminated and all of this service moved to the east end of the new building.

Covered Space

Only two trucks can be handled simultaneously under the current arrangement, and the new loading dock will supplement, if not replace entirely, the operation at the present location. The new dock will provide covered space for nine trucks at a time.

Five new railroad loading spots, all enclosed, will increase the number of such locations to eight. This will be accomplished by extending and lowering the present railroad sidings along the south side of the finishing room building. There are five such loading spots but two of them will have to be abandoned when rail sidings are relocated on a lower level.

Relocation of the box shop in the east end of the present finishing room building also is being considered. This would provide space for more lumber storage and a more efficient flow of packaging materials used in the finishing room.



TOP HOMEMAKER — Susan Vanorsdale, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Vanorsdale, 416 Hammond Street, Westernport, has been selected the Betty Crocker "Homemaker of Tomorrow" at Bruce High School there. Her examination paper will be entered in competition to name Maryland's candidate for the title of "All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow" and will also be considered for the runnerup award in the state. For her achievement, the senior will receive an award pin designed by Trifari of New York.

Homemakers Endorse Motor Law Changes

MIDLAND — The Homemakers Club went on record in favor of revised motor vehicle laws for Maryland and voted a donation to the March of Dimes Drive.

A Valentine party is planned for the February 20 meeting to be held in Red Men's Hall at 7:30 p.m. At this time the Senior and Junior 4-H girls and leaders will be entertained with games, singing, comic alentines exchange, and refreshments.

Mrs. Anna Stakem, president, opened the January meeting with Flag Salute and the Lord's Prayer, recited in unison.

Committee reports were given, sympathy cards and get well cards were sent to members and area people, and to Mrs. Robert Miller and family, Silver Spring, Md. Mrs. Anna Stakem and Mrs. Pearl Blair reported on a recent executive board meeting of Homemakers held at the Cumberland Library.

Mrs. Stakem announced the Landscape Tour to be held March 28-29; a Homemakers Chorus program February 10 in First Christian Church, Cumberland, and the county achievement dinner October 22. Also announced was a canning class with dates to be announced by Miss Mary Wise, home demonstration agent, Cumberland.

Aunt Jemima To Aid Parsons Church Fund

PARSONS — Members of the First Methodist Church in Parsons, led by the Rev. Meade Gutshall, pastor of the church, have entered into a fund raising campaign to provide additional Sunday School facilities. The initial step in this campaign to raise the necessary funds will be a pancake and sausage feed in the K. of P. Hall in Parsons, February 15 and 16.

The meal will be served Friday from 5 p. m. till 8 p. m., and on Saturday serving will start at 11 a. m. and continue as long as necessary to take care of the crowd.

Food supplies will be donated by various companies; The Aunt Jemima Company will furnish supplies and donate the services of "Aunt Jemima" who will appear in person both days. The Pet Milk Company has agreed to supply the milk for the meal and The Clover Farm Stores are furnishing the coffee. Tickets now on sale were donated by the Parsons Advocate of Parsons.

The proceeds will be used toward the building program of First Methodist Church, which is believed to be the oldest church in Parsons.

The cost of the meal will be seventy-five cents for adults and fifty cents for children. Tickets will be on sale in the various business houses in Parsons and the public is invited to attend the feed.

Northern High School Boy Tops Record In Garrett County Turkey Production

GRANTSVILLE — Harold Kahl Jr. of Accident, a student at Northern High School, took top honors in the Garrett County 4-H Turkey Production contest held at the Motor Service Company building here. Over forty persons attended.

Tom Glotfelty, a son of Austin Glotfelty of the Underwood section south of Oakland, was runnerup. Ray Beitzel, Bittinger, placed third while others included Roger Beitzel, Bittinger, fourth; Joe Buckel, Bittinger, fifth; Robert Knox, Accident, sixth and David Moon, McHenry, seventh.

Kahl ,a son of Harold Kahl Sr., ran 300 broad breasted bronze turkeys from the Mt. Vernon Hatchery for 26 weeks. His 4-H record shows he had a feed conversion of 3.88 pounds of Purina feed for each pound of turkey produced. He had a mortality record of six per cent with an average weight per bird of 21.4. His record also showed a total cost of 24 cents per pound with a profit of 2.4 cents per pound.

The youth is a member and president of the McHenry 4-H Club and a member of the Cove chapter of the Future Farmers of America. He scored a total of 163.6 points out of a possible 200.

Glotfelty, the runnerup, had a total of 159.5. He is a member of the Oakland chapter of the FFA. His sample consisted of 300 bronze turkeys which he ran for 25 weeks. He showed a feed conversion of four pounds with average weight being 22.5 and the feed cost at 22 cents per pound. He fed Eastern States feed and obtained his poults from Loving Hatchery.

All of the dressed turkeys exhibited in the 4-H show will be exhibited again at the Maryland Turkey Producers' show to be held February 13 at Annapolis. The 4-H boys also will attend the show along with representatives of the Garrett County Turkey Growers Association. The latter organization sponsored the program.

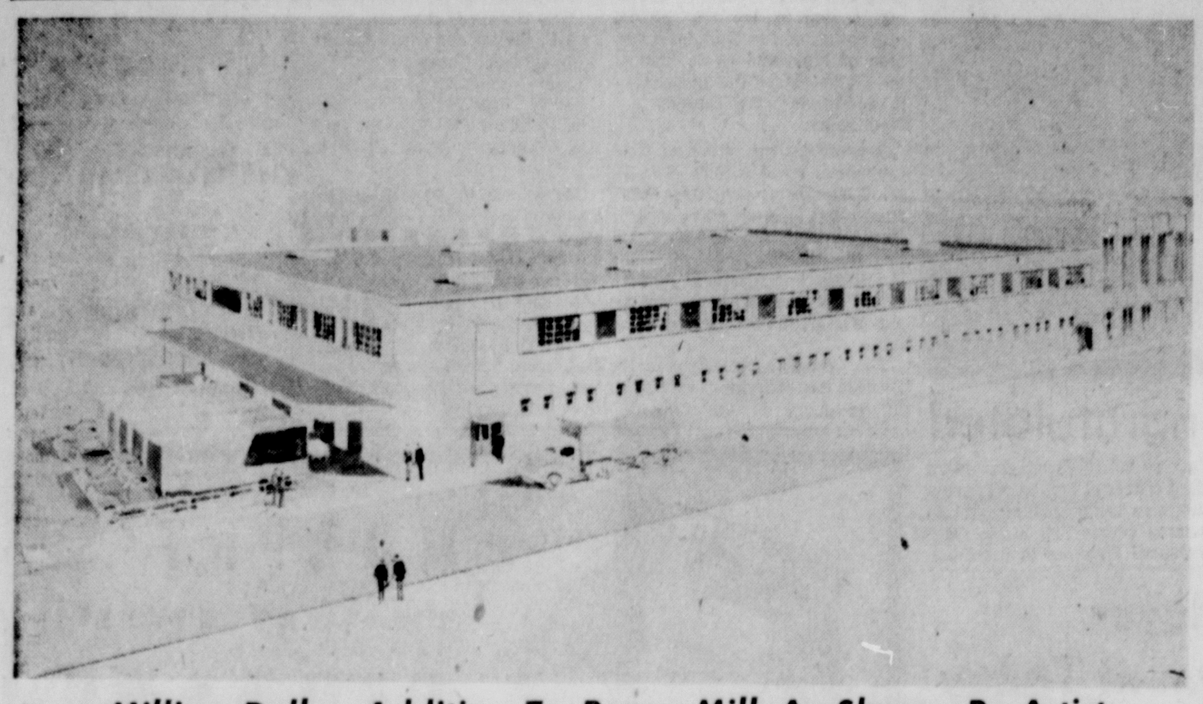
Work On Luke Plant Expansion To Start In Spring



Million Dollar Addition To Paper Mill As Shown By Artist

Marks Beginning Of Huge Program

LUKE — Construction of a two-story masonry block and steel addition to the present finishing room building will get under way in the near future as a part of the $50,000,000 expansion program of the Luke Mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, John A. Luke, mill manager, announced yesterday.

Expected to cost close to $1,000,000, the extension, located parallel to Cromwell Street in Luke, will be 250 by 130 feet and 58 feet high. It will join the east end of the present finishing room building, which is 580 feet long and an average of 85 feet wide, and also will tie in with a part of the north side of the experimental coater building in order to take advantage of railroad sidings.

Construction is expected to start in the spring as soon as engineering plans are completed.

Preliminary Plans Ready

Preliminary plans for the structure have been drawn by Glenn C. Hancock and Associates, Charleston, W. Va., industrial architects, working in cooperation with engineering and operating staffs of the Luke Mill.

Construction of the addition will require demolition of seven company-owned frame houses located between the east end of the present finishing room building and a company parking lot on the south side of Cromwell Street.

These houses are expected to be vacant sometime during February so that razing can be started promptly. Bids for demolition of the houses will be asked.

The new building will provide a more efficient paper finishing operation as well as systematic storage, and also will provide facilities to handle increased production anticipated upon completion of the expansion program.

Additional facilities for both truck and rail shipping will be built in the interest of efficiency and to relieve congestion in the mill yard.

To Move Trimming

The trimming operation will be moved from its present location to the second floor of the addition. This will provide a straight-line flow of paper from the cutters where rolls of paper are cut into sheets and then moved on to be trimmed. The second floor also will be used for inspection, wrapping and strapping skids for shipment, storage of paper in process between the cutter room and trimmers, additional rest room facilities, offices for finishing room foremen and packaging of paper for carton stock.

Finished packages will be moved by elevator to the first floor for storage and shipping.

The present truck loading platform in the mill yard at the west end of the finishing room may be eliminated and all of this service moved to the east end of the new building.

Covered Space

Only two trucks can be handled simultaneously under the current arrangement, and the new loading dock will supplement, if not replace entirely, the operation at the present location. The new dock will provide covered space for nine trucks at a time.

Five new railroad loading spots, all enclosed, will increase the number of such locations to eight. This will be accomplished by extending and lowering the present railroad sidings along the south side of the finishing room building. There are five such loading spots but two of them will have to be abandoned when rail sidings are relocated on a lower level.

Relocation of the box shop in the east end of the present finishing room building also is being considered. This would provide space for more lumber storage and a more efficient flow of packaging materials used in the finishing room.

TOP HOMEMAKER — Susan Vanorsdale, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Vanorsdale, 416 Hammond Street, Westernport, has been selected the Betty Crocker "Homemaker of Tomorrow" at Bruce High School there. Her examination paper will be entered in competition to name Maryland's candidate for the title of "All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow" and will also be considered for the runnerup award in the state. For her achievement, the senior will receive an award pin designed by Trifari of New York.

Aunt Jemima To Aid Parsons Church Fund

PARSONS — Members of the First Methodist Church in Parsons, led by the Rev. Meade Gutshall, pastor of the church, have entered into a fund raising campaign to provide additional Sunday School facilities. The initial step in this campaign to raise the necessary funds will be a pancake and sausage feed in the K. of P. Hall in Parsons, February 15 and 16.

The meal will be served Friday from 5 p. m. till 8 p. m., and on Saturday serving will start at 11 a. m. and continue as long as necessary to take care of the crowd.

Food supplies will be donated by various companies; The Aunt Jemima Company will furnish supplies and donate the services of "Aunt Jemima" who will appear in person both days. The Pet Milk Company has agreed to supply the milk for the meal and The Clover Farm Stores are furnishing the coffee. Tickets now on sale were donated by the Parsons Advocate of Parsons.

The proceeds will be used toward the building program of First Methodist Church, which is believed to be the oldest church in Parsons.

The cost of the meal will be seventy-five cents for adults and fifty cents for children. Tickets will be on sale in the various business houses in Parsons and the public is invited to attend the feed.

MISS GLORIA JEAN CROYLE
Jenners-Boswell-Jennertown Joint High School

Eleventh And Twelfth Entries In Maple Queen Contest Named At Meyersdale

Dozen Somerset County Beauties Compete For Tenth Annual Honor

MEYERSDALE, Pa.—Contestants from Boswell and Berlin complete the roster of 12 high school beauties who will compete for the title of Pennsylvania Queen Maple X. The Maple Queen Contest on February 13 in Cochran Junior High School auditorium in Johnstown, is a preliminary event to the Somerset County Maple Festival to be held April 5-7 in Meyersdale.

Representing Jenners-Boswell-Jennerstown joint high school is Miss Gloria Jean Croyle. She will attempt to capture the sweetest title which is now held by Miss Helen Kathleen Mills of the same school. Berlin-Brothers valley joint high school has selected Miss Jean Hummel as its contestant in the contest.

Outstanding judges have been secured to score the beauties on appearance, personality and talent. The winner receives a state senatorial scholarship, a $100 Maple Festival educational award, and many other gifts.

The 1957 Maple Queen and members of her court will be featured in coronation ceremonies in Meyersdale on April 5. It will open three days of festivities as the Maple Festival pays tribute to the state's maple industry.

Miss Croyle is a 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Croyle of Boswell. She weighs 125 pounds, has green eyes and brown hair. The five foot, seven inch senior is taking the academic course and plans to enter nurses' training in Pittsburgh upon graduation.

Business manager of the yearbook, a member of the Tri-Hi-Y and chorus, Miss Croyle is also a cheerleader in her school. She is a member of the Reformed Church and lists her hobbies as ice skating, water skiing, dramatics and reading. For her talent number in the Maple Queen Contest she will present an original reading, and will be accompanied by Miss Sandra Sheftic.

Miss Hummel is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hummel of Berlin RD 4. A blonde with blue eyes, she is five feet, two inches tall and weighs 110 pounds. The 17-year-old senior is taking the commercial course and hopes to enter business school following graduation.

A reading will be her talent number for the contest. In school Miss Hummel is a majorette in the band, secretary of the Chico club, a member of the Bervalon staff and the twirling club.

A member of St. Peter and St. Paul Greek Orthodox Church, she enjoys twirling, reading and playing the piano as hobbies.

Garbage Fees Increased At Westernport

WESTERNPORT—Mayor Okey E. Michael and Council this week announced that garbage collection fees will be increased April 1 as follows:

Residence, $4 to $6 per year; commercial, $8 to $12 and self-serving markets, $32 to $38.

Harry Richards, inspector, reported that a 24-foot crack has developed in the subsidence basin at the new filtration plant. He was authorized to have a contractor remedy the problem.

Council said the town clerk's office will be open Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to noon and 1 to 5 p. m. and 9 a. m. to noon on Saturday. George Dewitt is in charge.

Town employes were advised to refrain from using Street Department thawing equipment at individual homes. Permission for the construction of a retaining wall on the property of Joseph Taylor was denied.

Robert Sellers, who served two years with the Army in Germany, was rehired with seniority by the Street Department and Ellis Friend, on the recommendation of Water Superintendent Bert Reed, was appointed to take charge of department equipment.

Reed reported that a broken water main on the Georges Creek Boulevard has been repaired. Twelve houses were without water for five days during the break.

Council reported the payment of $307.59 on Parking Lot 1, leaving a balance of $15,047.65. The original figure was $25,000.

The town received $1,687.27 as its share from the state gasoline tax and $1,106.66 as part of the take at Fairgo race track near Cumberland.

Puppet Show Planned

FROSTBURG — A story hour will be held at the Frostburg Public Library, Saturday at 10:30 a. m. with a puppet show "The Frog Who Wanted A King" being presented by the Beall Elementary School pupils under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Gordon Taylor.

AAUW Planning Convention In Frostburg STC

FROSTBURG — Preliminary plans were made and committees briefed on their assignments at a meeting of the Frostburg-Georges Creek branch of the AAUW at the home of Mrs. Harold Lancaster, 152 East Main Street. Mrs. Joseph H. Kruson, convention manager and 18 committee members, were present.

The Maryland convention, scheduled for April 26-27, in Frostburg marks the first time such an affair has been held in Western Maryland. According to Miss Mabel Myers, chairman of publicity for the convention, it is unusual for a branch which has only been organized for four years to assume the responsibility of staging a state conclave.

The new women's dormitory at Frostburg State Teachers College will be used to house the delegates from the 15 branches of the organization in Maryland. The facilities of Compton Hall will be used for all business sessions and also for the registration of delegates.

An art exhibit sponsored jointly by the Garrett, Cumberland and Frostburg-Georges Creek branches of the AAUW under the general chairmanship of Miss Virginia Neff will be a feature of the convention. It will be held in the spacions new gymnasium at the college. This exhibit will be free and will be open to the public on Thursday evening preceding the opening of the convention.

The Maryland State Division of the AAUW now consists of over 1,600 members, and the Frostburg-Georges Creek branch has 65 members. The purposes of the organizations are to unite the alumni of colleges and universities, approved by AAUW, for practical education; to concentrate and increase their influence in the community for the solution of social and civic problems; to participate in the development and promotion of the policies and programs of the AAUW; to contribute to its growth and influence, and to cooperate in its state divisions and regional work.

Danville 4-H Club Elects

McCOOLE — The Danville 4-H Club met recently at the home of Nancy Ward with Nancy Vandervort presiding. The 4-H pledge was given and plans were made for a demonstration of clothing, foods, family life and home furnishings in a novel manner.

Mrs. Vandervort, local leader, announced that a number of changes have been made in the general program and said she wanted a state winner to come from the Danville group.

New officers for the current year are Nancy Vandervort, president; Winnie Crossland, vice president; Elizabeth Van Pelt, secretary and Betty Lou Clem, treasurer.

Chairmen are Carol Crossland, program; Patricia Crossland, song leader; Patricia Fitzpatrick, camp; Cheryl Van Pelt, fair; Elizabeth Van Pelt, Club Week; Nancy Ward, garden; Linda Fike, clothing; Vernie Duckworth, home furnishings; Joyce Grove, food and nutrition; Charlotte Hines, health and safety; Nancy Vandervort, public speaking and Betsy Phillips, recreation.

The next meeting will be held February 28 at the home of Cheryl Van Pelt. Members will make various types of salads and Vernie Duckworth will give a demonstration on "How To Arrange A Dresser Drawer."

Vandals, Dogs Prime Topics In W.Va. House

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 31 (AP)—The House argued long and sometimes heatedly about vandals and dogs today at a two-hour and 20-minute session, longest yet in the 1957 Legislature.

Passed 88-11 and sent to the Senate was a bill to give public and private property a measure of financial protection against vandalism of children by providing for lawsuits against their parents.

The House argued almost an hour over another bill to change the dog vaccination law passed two years ago. It now requires annual vaccinations of dogs against rabies.

The bill by Dels. Morgan (R-Wirt) and Young (R-Upshur) calls for vaccination every three years.

Most of the argument was over an attempt by Del. England (D-Wyoming) a sponsor of the present law, to amend the bill to require vaccination every two years. He was voted down 52-46.

The Senate, without a dissenting vote, passed six minor bills.

Tri-Towns Boy Scouts Plan Observance

PIEDMONT—Preliminary plans for the observance of Boy Scout Week February 4 to 10 were made at a meeting of the leaders and committee members of the Tri-Towns 'troops.'

Monday, February 4, the Senior Scout Council will hold a swimming party at Central YMCA in Cumberland. Scouts and leaders will meet at Trinity Church at 6 p. m. The event will be open to the Senior girls and Explorer boys and leaders of Tri-Towns district.

Tuesday, February 5, the Tri-Valley District meeting will be held in Keyser.

Wednesday, February 6, the Senior Scout Council will hold an open meeting. Tentative plans will be made for the "Sweetheart Ball" on March 29 and the trip to Bethesda in the fall.

The father and son dinner and "Fun Night" will be two outstanding events of the week, but details have yet to be worked out.

Sunday, February 10, all Boy Scouts will attend the church of their choice and will take part in the service if possible.

Sunday night at 7:30 the "Scouts' Own" program will be presented at Piedmont High School in a manner similar to last year.

Boy and Girl Scouts, Cubs and Brownies will assemble at the school at 7 p. m. and march into the auditorium at 7:30. Senior girls and Explorer boys will form the chorus for the service.

Three talks on "Guideposts of Scouting" will be made. George McDowell will be in charge of the program and the lighting effects.

Tomorrow at 7 p. m. members of both Senior Scout troops and the Explorer boys who will be in the choir will meet at the Piedmont library to practice for the Sunday night program. George McDowell will be in charge.

Goals for various phases of scouting were set up at the meeting of the Tri-Valley District scouters at the IOOF hall preceding the Tri-Towns District meeting.

News To Mitchell

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell said today he has "heard nothing about" reports that he might succeed Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense.

Raymond Schrock's Herd Sets Production Record

OAKLAND—Raymond Schrock had the top herd in the Garrett County Dairy Herd Improvement Association No. 1 for December, according to Donald Smith, supervisor.

Mr. Schrock's herd of 28 registered Jersey cows averaged 807 pounds of milk and 44.2 pounds of fat. Elmer Miller was second with 13 grade Holstein cows producing 1,007 pounds of milk and 43.1 pounds of fat on the average.

Simon Tice was third with 19 cross breed cows producing an average of 910 pounds of milk and 40.5 pounds of fat. Henry Yoder, who owns 28 grade Guernsey cows, was fourth with 852 pounds of milk and 35.2 pounds of fat. Allen E. Yoder was fifth with 28 grade Jersey cows producing an average of 737 pounds of milk and 32.8 pounds of fat.

Top cow in the association was Krip, a grade Holstein, owned by Elmer Miller. She produced 1,830 pounds of milk and 93 pounds of fat. Second high cow was Darlenex, a registered Jersey, owned by Raymond Schrock, with 1,450 pounds of milk and 81 pounds of fat. Third was Princess, a cross breed owned by Simon Tice, who produced 1,860 pounds of milk and 78 pounds of fat. Fourth was Nellie, another of Mr. Tice's cross breeds, with 1,600 pounds of milk and 78 pounds of fat. Fifth was another Tice cross breed named Spot with 1,790 pounds of milk and 73 pounds of fat.

Town employes were advised to refrain from using Street Department thawing equipment at individual homes. Permission for the construction of a retaining wall on the property of Joseph Taylor was denied.

Robert Sellers, who served two years with the Army in Germany, was rehired with seniority by the Street Department and Ellis Friend, on the recommendation of Water Superintendent Bert Reed, was appointed to take charge of department equipment.

Reed reported that a broken water main on the Georges Creek Boulevard has been repaired. Twelve houses were without water for five days during the break.

Council reported the payment of $307.59 on Parking Lot 1, leaving a balance of $15,047.65. The original figure was $25,000.

Puppet Show Planned

FROSTBURG — A story hour will be held at the Frostburg Public Library, Saturday at 10:30 a. m. with a puppet show "The Frog Who Wanted A King" being presented by the Beall Elementary School pupils under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Gordon Taylor.

AAUW Planning Convention In Frostburg STC

FROSTBURG — Preliminary plans were made and committees briefed on their assignments at a meeting of the Frostburg-Georges Creek branch of the AAUW at the home of Mrs. Harold Lancaster, 152 East Main Street. Mrs. Joseph H. Kruson, convention manager and 18 committee members, were present.

The Maryland convention, scheduled for April 26-27, in Frostburg marks the first time such an affair has been held in Western Maryland. According to Miss Mabel Myers, chairman of publicity for the convention, it is unusual for a branch which has only been organized for four years to assume the responsibility of staging a state conclave.

The new women's dormitory at Frostburg State Teachers College will be used to house the delegates from the 15 branches of the organization in Maryland. The facilities of Compton Hall will be used for all business sessions and also for the registration of delegates.

An art exhibit sponsored jointly by the Garrett, Cumberland and Frostburg-Georges Creek branches of the AAUW under the general chairmanship of Miss Virginia Neff will be a feature of the convention. It will be held in the spacious new gymnasium at the college. This exhibit will be free and will be open to the public on Thursday evening preceding the opening of the convention.

The Maryland State Division of the AAUW now consists of over 1,600 members, and the Frostburg-Georges Creek branch has 65 members. The purposes of the organizations are to unite the alumni of colleges and universities, approved by AAUW, for practical education; to concentrate and increase their influence in the community for the solution of social and civic problems; to participate in the development and promotion of the policies and programs of the AAUW; to contribute to its growth and influence, and to cooperate in its state divisions and regional work.

Danville 4-H Club Elects

McCOOLE — The Danville 4-H Club met recently at the home of Nancy Ward with Nancy Vandervort presiding. The 4-H pledge was given and plans were made for a demonstration of clothing, foods, family life and home furnishings in a novel manner.

Mrs. Vandervort, local leader, announced that a number of changes have been made in the general program and said she wanted a state winner to come from the Danville group.

New officers for the current year are Nancy Vandervort, president; Winnie Crossland, vice president; Elizabeth Van Pelt, secretary and Betty Lou Clem, treasurer.

Chairmen are Carol Crossland, program; Patricia Crossland, song leader; Patricia Fitzpatrick, camp; Cheryl Van Pelt, fair; Elizabeth Van Pelt, Club Week; Nancy Ward, garden; Linda Fike, clothing; Vernie Duckworth, home furnishings; Joyce Grove, food and nutrition; Charlotte Hines, health and safety; Nancy Vandervort, public speaking and Betsy Phillips, recreation.

The next meeting will be held February 28 at the home of Cheryl Van Pelt. Members will make various types of salads and Vernie Duckworth will give a demonstration on "How To Arrange A Dresser Drawer."

Vandals, Dogs Prime Topics In W.Va. House

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 31 (AP)—The House argued long and sometimes heatedly about vandals and dogs today at a two-hour and 20-minute session, longest yet in the 1957 Legislature.

Passed 88-11 and sent to the Senate was a bill to give public and private property a measure of financial protection against vandalism of children by providing for lawsuits against their parents.

The House argued almost an hour over another bill to change the dog vaccination law passed two years ago. It now requires annual vaccinations of dogs against rabies.

The bill by Dels. Morgan (R-Wirt) and Young (R-Upshur) calls for vaccination every three years.

Most of the argument was over an attempt by Del. England (D-Wyoming) a sponsor of the present law, to amend the bill to rerquire vaccination every two years. He was voted down 52-46.

The Senate, without a dissenting vote, passed six minor bills.

Tri-Towns Boy Scouts Plan Observance

PIEDMONT—Preliminary plans for the observance of Boy Scout Week February 4 to 10 were made at a meeting of the leaders and committee members of the Tri-Towns troops.

Monday, February 4, the Senior Scout Council will hold a swimming party at Central YMCA in Cumberland. Scouts and leaders will meet at Trinity Church at 6 p. m. The event will be open to the Senior girls and Explorer boys and leaders of Tri-Towns district.

Tuesday, February 5, the Tri-Valley District meeting will be held in Keyser.

Wednesday, February 6, the Senior Scout Council will hold an open meeting. Tentative plans will be made for the "Sweetheart Ball" on March 29 and the trip to Bethesda in the fall.

The father and son dinner and "Fun Night" will be two outstanding events of the week, but details have yet to be worked out.

Sunday, February 10, all Boy Scouts will attend the church of their choice and will take part in the service if possible.

Sunday night at 7:30 the "Scouts' Own" program will be presented at Piedmont High School in a manner similar to last year.

Boy and Girl Scouts, Cubs and Brownies will assemble at the school at 7 p. m. and march into the auditorium at 7:30. Senior girls and Explorer boys will form the chorus for the service.

Three talks on "Guideposts of Scouting" will be made. George McDowell will be in charge of the program and the lighting effects.

Tomorrow at 7 p. m. members of both Senior Scout troops and the Explorer boys who will be in the choir will meet at the Piedmont library to practice for the Sunday night program. George McDowell will be in charge.

Goals for various phases of scouting were set up at the meeting of the Tri-Valley District scouters at the IOOF hall preceding the Tri-Towns District meeting.

News To Mitchell

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell said today he has "heard nothing about" reports that he might succeed Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense.

Raymond Schrock's Herd Sets Production Record

OAKLAND—Raymond Schrock had the top herd in the Garrett County Dairy Herd Improvement Association No. 1 for December, according to Donald Smith, supervisor.

Mr. Schrock's herd of 28 registered Jersey cows averaged 807 pounds of milk and 44.2 pounds of fat. Elmer Miller was second with 13 grade Holstein cows producing 1,007 pounds of milk and 43.1 pounds of fat on the average.

Simon Tice was third with 19 cross breed cows producing an average of 910 pounds of milk and 40.5 pounds of fat. Henry Yoder, who owns 28 grade Guernsey cows, was fourth with 852 pounds of milk and 35.2 pounds of fat. Allen E. Yoder was fifth with 28 grade Jersey cows producing an average of 737 pounds of milk and 32.8 pounds of fat.

Top cow in the association was Krip, a grade Holstein, owned by Elmer Miller. She produced 1,830 pounds of milk and 93 pounds of fat. Second high cow was Darlenex, a registered Jersey, owned by Raymond Schrock, with 1,450 pounds of milk and 81 pounds of fat. Third was Princess, a cross breed owned by Simon Tice, who produced 1,860 pounds of milk and 78 pounds of fat. Fourth was Nellie, another of Mr. Tice's cross breeds, with 1,609 pounds of milk and 78 pounds of fat. Fifth was another Tice cross breed named Spot with 1,790 pounds of milk and 73 pounds of fat.

Defense Chief Draws Fire Of State Senate

Members 'Indignant' At Guard Remark

[By The Associated Press]

The Maryland Senate yesterday adopted a resolution expressing "deep indignation and regret over the intemperate language used by" Defense Secretary Wilson in connection with National Guard enlistments. The vote was 20-4 with two senators passing.

Wilson's references to National Guard enlistments during the Korean War as "a sort of scandal" and "a draft-dodging business" were quoted in the resolution, sponsored by Senate President Goldstein (D-Calvert).

The senators also enacted and sent to the governor three bills. One would exempt toll bridges and other facilities operated by county agencies from Public Service Commission regulation. Another would require that Garrett County financial records be audited regularly by a certified public accountant. The third provides for supplementary retirement payments to certain retired teachers in Washington County.

The Senate Agricultural and Natural Resources Committee was called to a late afternoon hearing on a bill to require that the Tidewater Fisheries Commission investigate water pollution harmful to marine life.

At another hearing, a Senate Finance subcommittee heard arguments on the relative merits of two proposed systems of compulsory automobile inspection. One calls for inspection by private garages under State Police supervision, and the other would set up a system owned and operated by the state.

Representatives from Pennsylvania explained operation of the private garage system, and a New Jersey official told of that state's success with state-operated inspection stations.

There was some disagreement among witnesses as to whether an inspection system would materially reduce accidents, and no one would guess how much the accident ratio might be decreased.

The House of Delegates approved some liberalization of fishing laws. Trout fishing, now limited from April 1 to Sept. 15, would be legal 11 months of the year with the season closed only from March 14 to April 15.

Minimum sizes on perch, catfish and fall fish will be removed if the Senate approves. The legal minimum size of bass also would be reduced from 10 to 9 inches.

The House also sanctioned and sent back to the Senate for concurrence in a minor amendment a bill that will end what is known as bait advertising. It is the practice of advertising an item at an unusually low price merely to lure customers and with no intention of selling it, but to sell something priced higher.

be able to work around here they should quit working on the job."

The company states that it is unable to carry out the obligations of the SRC contract because acts of the defendants are forcibly inducing a breach of contract. The complainant asserts is possible, and is paying a wage scale equal to the county's prevailing scale.

The company also says the disagreement is not a labor dispute between the complainant and the defendants but an attempt to force the complainant to breach its present collective bargaining contract with the UCW. The SRC contract calls for completion of the job in 375 working days and further continuance of picketing and, says the bill, violence will result in inability to complete the contract.

A spokesman for the company said about 60 men will be employed on the job. At no time will more than 16 regular skilled employes be working there, he said.

JOHN G. THOMAS

John G. Thomas Wins Top Post In TWUA Local

John G. "Jack" Thomas, 520 Holland Street, was elected president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union, in a runoff contest completed Wednesday night, according to John Kreitzburg, chairman of the election committee.

Thomas defeated the incumbent, Melvin Harris, Frostburg. The two men led the balloting in the initial election last week but neither obtained a majority at that time.

Mr. Thomas served as business manager of the union for 11 one-year terms and was secretary of the CA Department in 1937 when the union local was organized at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation. He also served one term on the executive board.

He earned a BS degree in business administration from the University of Pittsburgh and is an accountant. Mr. Harris is completing his second term of office.

Elected vice president of the union in the runoff balloting was Thomas F. Powers, Lonaconing, who won out over Irvin A. Lewis, Eckhart.

Union officials said the installation of officers will be held next month.

Meanwhile the union is preparing for contract talks with the Celanese Corporation of America. Officials of Local 1874 said notification to the company is scheduled February 8. The current contract expires April 8.

In March the union will elect various department chairmen.

Other officers of the union elected last week were Charles F. Davis, secretary-treasurer; Robert Blair, Lillian Burch, Joseph Barley, Floyd Grady, Walter Mahaney and Ira McBride, members of the executive board; Robert Jones, James McGann, Carl Sherman, John Small and Earl Walker, board of trustees; and Francis "Pi" Harvey, warden.

Brooke Will Be Arraigned Today

A 40-year-old former Cumberland man, William Rexford Brooke, wanted for questioning in the slaying of three Chicago boys is scheduled for arraignment today in Queens Felony Court, New York City.

Brooke was arrested by New York Police on Wednesday at Idlewild Airport as he stepped from a KLM airliner that had just arrived from Amsterdam.

consultant on youth welfare matters for nearly two years.

The State Department of Public Welfare has authorized the establishment this year of two more of these forestry camps in Western Maryland. Plans are ready for advertising for bids on one to be located on Savage Mountain west of Lonaconing in Garrett County. Another, also planned for Garrett County, will be constructed on Meadow Mountain. The Green Ridge camp, with an average enrollment of about 30 boys and a staff of nine, has been functioning since May 1955.

E. P. Berkley, Meyersdale, mechanic; H. L. Sutherland, Westernport, mechanic, and Amos Lechliter, Allegany Grove, mechanic, all of whom will retire today, and J. M. Jankey, city, machinist, and H. C. Garner, city, pipefitter, who retired since the 1956 retirement dinner.

Leo F. Barkman will serve as toastmaster for the annual dinner event. Others at the speakers table will be:

Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; George B. Newman, vice president; C. T. Bell, personnel manager; C. L. Herath, chief engineer; Louis Yeager, general foreman in the Mechanical division.

T. A. Mont, master mechanic; Edwin Rosskamp, Power House machinist; R. C. Adams, Power House machinist; A. E. Johnson and Stanley Zorick.

A total of 35 veteran Kelly employes are retiring today (story on page 9).

Clinic Is Planned

The Health Department will hold a child health clinic today at 9:30 a. m. at Bowmans Addition.

New Potomac Sanitary Problems Seen

By FRANK E. TAYLOR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) — Sanitary engineers today coupled reports of progress on reducing pollution in the Potomac River with reminders that more problems lie ahead.

The reports on big improvements in river pollution in the Washington area were made at the opening session of the winter meeting of the interstate commission on the Potomac River.

Harry Shaw, chief engineer of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, said that while sewage pollution of the river in the Washington area "has long been 'viewed with alarm,' a considerable amount of satisfaction can also be taken in the accomplishments which have been achieved."

No Sewage Discharge

Concerning the Maryland systems under the suburban commission, Shaw said "actually there is now no discharge of raw sewage . . . into any water courses of the area under the commission's jurisdiction" with a few exceptions.

These exceptions, he said, are discharges from approximately 52 houses and a school in the Colmar Manor area and six buildings in Hyattsville. These discharges will be eliminated by early summer, he said.

Among problems of the future, he listed:

1. Need for time to construct relief sewers in various stream valleys.

2. The impact of new government institutions in outlying sections, and the need for greater cooperation by the government in those locations.

3. The treatment of sewage in watersheds other than those in which they originate, with specific reference to the Patuxent River watershed.

4. Finances.

5. Maintaining satisfactory conditions in the Potomac River itself and the need for a prompt study of the uses and needs of the river water.

Maryland suburbs "have done everything they can do at the present time to eliminate sewage pollution from their area," Shaw said. "This does not mean that they expect to sit supinely by, as it is realized that there are future problems."

F. H. Doe Jr., sanitary engineer for Arlington County, said proposed plans for the nearby Maryland and Virginia areas will bring about an over-all effect from treatment plants where the discharge into the river will be within the river's natural assimilation capacity.

Harry Hale, Fairfax County sanitary engineer, said Fairfax "can be justly proud of its progress in solving its sanitary sewage problems and of its progress in reducing the pollution of the Potomac River."

Upon completion of the present program about mid-1958, the county system will have 615 miles of sanitary sewers; 22 pumping stations, excluding those on treatment plant sites; and five treatment plants.

It is estimated, he added, that the county system will continue to expand at a rate of approximately 45 miles a year.

Shopping Center Boosts Permits To High Level

Construction authorized by January building permit issued by the Allegany County assessing department got a tremendous shove past the total for all of 1956 with the approval of a $2,000,000 shopping center along the westerly side of Winchester Road yesterday.

During January some 16 county building permits were issued and they totaled $2,054,950. In all of 1956 some 343 permits were issued and the total estimated value of construction was $1,536,282.80. The 1955 totals were 237 permits and $929,415.

In January 1956, 12 permits were issued for total construction of $63,550. The January 1955 figures were 19 permits for $81,850.

The permits last month were authorized for construction in nine different election districts. District 29 in LaVale was the leader with seven permits. There wre two in District 21 at Gross, Baltimore Pike, and one each in Districts 23, East Side beyond city limits; District 2, Oldtown; District 20, Corriganville; District 12, Frostburg suburban area; District 3, Flintstone; District 6, West Side suburban area, and District 16, North Branch.

Cumberland Shopping Centre Inc. yesterday got the permit for erection of 25 stores at a cost of $2,000,000. Completion date listed on the permit is April 1, 1958. Alexander Hassen is president of the corporation. The permit calls for masonry walls, concrete foundation and slag roof.

Defense Chief Draws Fire Of State Senate

Members 'Indignant' At Guard Remark

[By The Associated Press]

The Maryland Senate yesterday adopted a resolution expressing "deep indignation and regret over the intemperate language used by" Defense Secretary Wilson in connection with National Guard enlistments. The vote was 20-4 with two senators passing.

Wilson's references to National Guard enlistments during the Korean War as "a sort of scandal" and "a draft-dodging business" were quoted in the resolution, sponsored by Senate President Goldstein (D-Calvert).

The senators also enacted and sent to the governor three bills. One would exempt toll bridges and other facilities operated by county agencies from Public Service Commission regulation. Another would require that Garrett County financial records be audited regularly by a certified public accountant. The third provides for supplementary retirement payments to certain retired teachers in Washington County.

The Senate Agricultural and Natural Resources Committee was called to a late afternoon hearing on a bill to require that the Tidewater Fisheries Commission investigate water pollution harmful to marine life.

At another hearing, a Senate Finance subcommittee heard arguments on the relative merits of two proposed systems of compulsory automobile inspection. One calls for inspection by private garages under State Police supervision, and the other would set up a system owned and operated by the state.

Representatives from Pennsylvania explained operation of the private garage system, and a New Jersey official told of that state's success with state-operated inspection stations.

There was some disagreement among witnesses as to whether an inspection system would materially reduce accidents, and no one would guess how much the accident ratio might be decreased.

The House of Delegates approved some liberalization of fishing laws. Trout fishing, now limited from April 1 to Sept. 15, would be legal 11 months of the year with the season closed only from March 14 to April 15.

Minimum sizes on perch, catfish and fall fish will be removed if the Senate approves. The legal minimum size of bass also would be reduced from 10 to 9 inches.

The House also sanctioned and sent back to the Senate for concurrence in a minor amendment a bill that will end what is known as bait advertising. It is the practice of advertising an item at an unusually low price merely to lure customers and with no intention of selling it, but to sell something priced higher.

JOHN G. THOMAS

John G. Thomas Wins Top Post In TWUA Local

John G. "Jack" Thomas, 520 Holland Street, was elected president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union, in a runoff contest completed Wednesday night, according to John Kreitzburg, chairman of the election committee.

Thomas defeated the incumbent, Melvin Harris, Frostburg. The two men led the balloting in the initial election last week but neither obtained a majority at that time.

Mr. Thomas served as business manager of the union for 11 one-year terms and was secretary of the CA Department in 1937 when the union local was organized at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation. He also served one term on the executive board.

He earned a BS degree in business administration from the University of Pittsburgh and is an accountant. Mr. Harris is completing his second term of office.

Elected vice president of the union in the runoff balloting was Thomas F. Powers, Lonaconing, who won out over Irvin A. Lewis, Eckhart.

Union officials said the installation of officers will be held next month.

Meanwhile the union is preparing for contract talks with the Celanese Corporation of America. Officials of Local 1874 said notification to the company is scheduled February 8. The current contract expires April 8.

In March the union will elect various department chairmen.

Other officers of the union elected last week were Charles F. Davis, secretary-treasurer; Robert Blair, Lillian Burch, Joseph Barley, Floyd Grady, Walter Mahaney and Ira McBride, members of the executive board; Robert Jones, James McGann, Carl Sherman, John Small and Earl Walker, board of trustees; and Francis "Pi" Harvey, warden.

The company states that it is unable to carry out the obligations of the SRC contract because acts of the defendants are forcibly inducing a breach of contract. The complainant asserts is possible, and is paying a wage scale equal to the county's prevailing scale.

The company also says the disagreement is not a labor dispute between the complainant and the defendants but an attempt to force the complainant to breach its present collective bargaining contract with the UCW. The SRC contract calls for completion of the job in 375 working days and further continuance of picketing and, says the bill, violence will result in inability to complete the contract.

A spokesman for the company said about 60 men will be employed on the job. At no time will more than 16 regular skilled employes be working there, he said.

Brooke Will Be Arraigned Today

A 40-year-old former Cumberland man, William Rexford Brooke, wanted for questioning in the slaying of three Chicago boys is scheduled for arraignment today in Queens Felony Court, New York City.

Brooke was arrested by New York Police on Wednesday at Idlewild Airport as he stepped from a KLM airliner that had just arrived from Amsterdam.

consultant on youth welfare matters for nearly two years.

The State Department of Public Welfare has authorized the establishment this year of two more of these forestry camps in Western Maryland. Plans are ready for advertising for bids on one to be located on Savage Mountain west of Lonaconing in Garrett County. Another, also planned for Garrett County, will be constructed on Meadow Mountain. The Green Ridge camp, with an average enrollment of about 30 boys and a staff of nine, has been functioning since May 1955.

Mechanical Unit To Fete Retired Kelly Workers

Annual Dinner Is Planned Tomorrow

The fourth annual retirement dinner of the Mechanical division of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will be held tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

To be honored at the dinner meeting are 16 members of the division, most of whom will retire today.

John F. Feeney, 409 Beall Street, mechanic; I. C. Spiker, Corriganville, electrician; Albert C. Brant, Ridgeley, mechanic; Chris L. Pollock, Mt. Savage, mold department; Robert C. Pollock, Mt. Savage, mold department; G. B. McLaughlin, 453 Baltimore Avenue, mechanic; B. J. Leydig, Hydman, paint department.

E. P. Berkley, Meyersdale, mechanic; H. L. Sutherland, Westernport, mechanic, and Amos Lechliter, Allegany Grove, mechanic, all of whom will retire today, and J. M. Jankey, city, machinist, and H. C. Garner, city, pipefitter, who retired since the 1956 retirement dinner.

Leo F. Barkman will serve as toastmaster for the annual dinner event. Others at the speakers table will be:

Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; George B. Newman, vice president; C. T. Bell, personnel manager; C. L. Herath, chief engineer; Louis Yeager, general foreman in the Mechanical division.

T. A. Mont, master mechanic; Edwin Rosskamp, Power House machinist; R. C. Adams, Power House machinist; A. E. Johnson and Stanley Zorick.

A total of 35 veteran Kelly employes are retiring today (story on page 9).

New Potomac Sanitary Problems Seen

By FRANK E. TAYLOR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) — Sanitary engineers today coupled reports of progress on reducing pollution in the Potomac River with reminders that more problems lie ahead.

The reports on big improvements in river pollution in the Washington area were made at the opening session of the winter meeting of the interstate commission on the Potomac River.

Harry Shaw, chief engineer of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, said that while sewage pollution of the river in the Washington area "has long been 'viewed with alarm,' a considerable amount of satisfaction can also be taken in the accomplishments which have been achieved."

No Sewage Discharge

Concerning the Maryland systems under the suburban commission, Shaw said "actually there is now no discharge of raw sewage . . . into any water courses of the area under the commission's jurisdiction" with a few exceptions.

These exceptions, he said, are discharges from approximately 52 houses and a school in the Colmar Manor area and six buildings in Hyattsville. These discharges will be eliminated by early summer, he said.

Among problems of the future, he listed:

1. Need for time to construct relief sewers in various stream valleys.

2. The impact of new government institutions in outlying sections, and the need for greater cooperation by the government in those locations.

3. The treatment of sewage in watersheds other than those in which they originate, with specific reference to the Patuxent River watershed.

4. Finances.

5. Maintaining satisfactory conditions in the Potomac River itself and the need for a prompt study of the uses and needs of the river water.

Maryland suburbs "have done everything they can do at the present time to eliminate sewage pollution from their area," Shaw said. "This does not mean that they expect to sit supinely by, as it is realized that there are future problems."

F. H. Doe Jr., sanitary engineer for Arlington County, said proposed plans for the nearby Maryland and Virginia areas will bring about an over-all effect from treatment plants where the discharge into the river will be within the river's natural assimilation capacity.

Harry Hale, Fairfax County sanitary engineer, said Fairfax "can be justly proud of its progress in solving its sanitary sewage problems and of its progress in reducing the pollution of the Potomac River."

Upon completion of the present program about mid-1958, the county system will have 615 miles of sanitary sewers; 22 pumping stations, excluding those on treatment plant sites; and five treatment plants.

It is estimated, he added, that the county system will continue to expand at a rate of approximately 45 miles a year.

The Hap-O-Happy Club will hold a Valentine party at 8 tonight at the scout house. Each member is to bring a handkerchief and valentine.

Shopping Center Boosts Permits To High Level

Construction authorized by January building permit issued by the Allegany County assessing department got a tremendous shove past the total for all of 1956 with the approval of a $2,000,000 shopping center along the westerly side of Winchester Road yesterday.

During January some 16 county building permits were issued and they totaled $2,054,950. In all of 1956 some 343 permits were issued and the total estimated value of construction was $1,536,282?0. The 1955 totals were 237 permits and $929,415.

In January 1956, 12 permits were issued for total construction of $63,550. The January 1955 figures were 19 permits for $81,850.

The permits last month were authorized for construction in nine different election districts. District 29 in LaVale was the leader with seven permits. There wre two in District 21 at Gross, Baltimore Pike, and one each in Districts 23, East Side beyond city limits; District 2, Oldtown; District 20, Corriganville; District 12, Frostburg suburban area; District 3, Flintstone; District 6, West Side suburban area, and District 16, North Branch.

Cumberland Shopping Centre Inc. yesterday got the permit for erection of 25 stores at a cost of $2,000,000. Completion date listed on the permit is April 1, 1958. Alexander Hassen is president of the corporation. The permit calls for masonry walls, concrete foundation and slag roof.

Anybody Here Speak Arabic?

Arabic, the principal language of the Middle East—whose rolling script is read from right to left—is spoke by very few native Americans who might qualify for work in the foreign field. One former U. S. ambassador in a Middle East country had only one Arabic-speaking language officer on his staff, and that man was soon taken from him by transfer to a post in Latin America. The Russian embassy in the same capital had a staff of seven officials, all of whom spoke Arabic. The problem is aggravated now by a flood of anti-American and anti-Western propaganda in Arabic emanating from Moscow. The United States Information Service has about 50 officials in six Middle Eastern countries. Two of them speak Arabic fluently. Recently the same agency had places in the Foreign Service Institute for seven Americans to study Arabic. It had exactly two applicants. As one foreign service official said the other day: "A new and dramatic policy can be put through in a few weeks, but it takes years to provide the trained public servants to deal with it effectively in the area." American responsibilities in the foreign field are becoming so great that foresight seems to be called for in seeing that Americans are available to perform tasks it is possible will arise in the next few years. It will be difficult to achieve results by going around in a crisis asking hopelessly, "Who speaks Arabic?"

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Nothing Crumbled

During the fiercest excitement over the Suez seizure and the Hungarian uprising, opinion as to the meaning of various events ran to extremes of despair over the consequences of British conduct, and of enthusiasm for the crumbling of the Russian Empire.

I quote from a colleague for a typical statement:

"The long-term interests which unite the United States, Britain and France remain far greater than the disagreement which divides us. The alliance is not shattered but it is shaken and enfeebled. The collective voice of the free world is muted at a time when the crumbling of Moscow's satellite empire gives us our greatest opportunities."

This is fine writing but we are now looking at this from a distance and the alliance between Great Britain, France and the United States is neither shaken nor enfeebled. It stands up despite anger and annoyance. And the Russian Empire has not crumbled. It has, in fact, survived the Hungarian uprising and has formed a closer union with Red China than had ever before existed.

What seems to have happened is that the United Nations has come closer to being an instrument of American policy and that Great Britain is growing closer to Europe and that Soviet Russia is resuming the Cold War as designed by Stalin.

The United Nations has lost moral stature during all these troubles. It has asserted a double standard of morality — one applying to Egypt; another to Hungary. It has disclosed itself as opportunistic, fearful of a power that would strike back; daring and brave against those countries that are willing to abide by its decisions. Undoubtedly, the British, French and other European countries recognize their peril in the operations of the Afro-Asiatic group, formed at the Bandung Conference and continuing to function on a program of hate against Western Europe.

It is now American policy to woo these Afro-Asians. Nehru came to the United States to focus the spotlight on himself as the greatest of Afro-Asiatic statesmen. He accomplished little because his is a meaningless program overlaid with East Asian mystical language which can only mystify such a one as Chester Bowles. In the East of Asia, it is already outmoded.

Chou En-lai has gone in for headier stuff, as he recently exhibited in Poland. Somehow that too astonished those who dwell in Washington and are therefore permanently confused. They have forgotten the Third International—the ruling body of the Soviet Universal State of which Russia is one member and Red China another. And in that body, Mao Tze-tung's word is great and therefore when Chou En-lai speaks in Mao's name, it is as though Stalin had returned to life. Mao possesses seniority in the world Communist movement. Besides Mao possesses a powerful and well-equipped military force that defeated the United States in Korea and the French in Indo-China and that has given the British a tough time in Malaya. Does anybody in Europe want to take on both Soviet Russia and Red China?

And from the events, it is obvious that Chou told Gomulka to make his peace with the Kremlin, for the Soviet Universal State must be one no matter what mistakes have been made or what dangers are encountered.

Now there is speculation out of Washington whether Red China is not more powerful than Soviet Russia. Why speculate? The course of events will make it clear, as it already has, that one will support the other and that there will be no break between them in the interest of the West. The game of history is not being played according to American designs of pacifism.

Having done damage to Great Britain and France, the Russians and the Red Chinese will now wait to see what happens. They have lots of time. They do not expect anything much to happen immediately. They do not expect that the United States intends to go to war with them while President Eisenhower is in the White House. Woodrow Wilson was a pacifist and he took his country into World War I. It is risky business to base a universal policy on the psychological responses of an American President or that American public opinion will not shift like the wind. But that is what the Russians and Chinese are obviously doing. They will try Eisenhower's patience until he can take no more. It is their form of psychological warfare.

Oil Protection Has Great Influence With Congress, State Department

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There is one major thread running through the warp and woof of American policy for the Near East as it affects the following rather remarkable events in and out of Congress today:

1. The manner in which Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas rammed the Eisenhower Doctrine through the House of Representatives under a gag rule forbidding amendment. Regardless of the merits of the Eisenhower Doctrine — and it has some — it should have been open to full debate and amendment. The man who prevented this was Rayburn. Joe Martin, the man supposed to promote the Ike doctrine, was lukewarm. Rayburn, who doesn't like Ike, was dictatorial and demanding that the House support him.

2. The fact that Sen. Lyndon Johnson, also of Texas, also supposed to be against Eisenhower, also demands that the Eisenhower Doctrine be passed soon.

3. The fact that President Eisenhower is welcoming King Saud of oil-rich Saudi Arabia here just after he has refused to meet with the prime ministers of England and France; and that he took the rather unpopular step of greeting the King at the airport personally — the only time he has thus greeted any foreign visitor.

4. The manner in which the Eisenhower administration dropped criminal charges in the huge antitrust suit started against the oil industry by the Truman administration, and has dragged out the civil suit.

5. The interminable delay in the Justice Department's case against the Arabian-American oil group for overcharging the U. S. Navy to the tune of $67,000,000. These are the same companies which support King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

6. The loans, economic aid, and shipments of arms to Saudi Arabia at the expense of the American taxpayer.

"Protect Oil"

All of the above, some of them geographically unrelated, actually are woven together into the cardinal American policy, both foreign and domestic, which can be summarized in two words: "protect oil."

Critics also describe it as: "kowtow to oil." In some cases their description is quite accurate. For the State Department and the Texas leaders of Congress have gone to amazing lengths not merely to protect oil, but to give the oil industry all kinds of bonanzas the ordinary citizen, company, and taxpayer do not get.

When powerful Sam Rayburn cracks the whip over the House of Representatives to put through the Eisenhower Doctrine without free debate or any amendment, it partly means that Texas oil friends have spoken. And when Sam refuses to permit any Congressman who opposes the 27-½ per cent oil depletion allowance, it definitely means that the Texas oil lobby has spoken. The Texas oil lobby can put Sam out of Congress any time it desires, merely by redistricting his 4th District and infiltrating it with Republicans from Dallas. The lobbyists do not have to speak too loud.

Nudging The State Department

The hand of the oil companies is not always so apparent in nudging the elbow of the State Department. Sometimes it is — as when the Washington lobbyist for Aramco gave air-cooling equipment to Loy Henderson, the State Department official in charge of the Near East — a gift similar to the deep freeze deal for which Gen. Harry Vaughan got panned so deservedly and so unmercifully.

But, on the whole, you don't see the hand of the oil companies guiding major foreign policy. Nevertheless, it's there — skillfully, emphatically, vigorously there. It influences both war and peace. It guides the question of loans and gifts. It affects the money the average taxpayer has to put up when he fills out his tax returns.

Take two vital examples: In 1935 when Mussolini started to invade Ethiopia in what the diplomats recognized as a prelude to World War II, the League of Nations took a courageous stand that might have stopped war, not merely in Ethiopia but the world war to follow.

Led by Anthony Eden and with the unofficial but potent backing of Franklin Roosevelt, the League voted economic sanctions against Italy. This meant cutting of all exports to Italy and refusal to receive all imports.

The one key product in these sanctions was oil. Without oil Mussolini's navy could not move. Without gasoline his airplanes could not fly. His invasion could have been stopped overnight.

Eden Slapped Down

The British and American oil companies could have stopped it. But they didn't. They decided that profits were more important than peace. They bucked the League of Nations.

And the State Department, which has nearly always taken its cue from the oil companies whether Democrats or Republicans be in power, bowed to the oil companies. The American Navy was not used to stop the shipment of their oil to Mussolini.

He got away with his trial war. The dictators in Germany and Japan watched the breakup of the world's peace machinery. Later they followed the example of Mussolini.

Six months ago, somewhat the same thing happened — in reverse. This time the oil companies wanted to stop a war over Suez. This time the same Anthony Eden was involved. This time he was on the fighting end, not the pacific end. But again he got slapped down.

This time the oil companies did not want any fighting over Suez because the transit of their oil through the Canal was involved and because their pipelines across Arab countries were in jeopardy. So again they cracked the whip. Again Anthony Eden felt the full lash of that whip — in a defeat that ended his career.

The public thought that he was defeated by his health, by British politics, and by Eisenhower's refusal to see him. All true, in part. But the main motivating factor, more important than any of these, was the whip-cracking of the oil companies on American policy.

The story of how this happened and how the visit of King Saud is one byproduct will be told in another column.

Captious Criticism Punctuates Mid-East Debate

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — Did Adlai Stevenson really win the last election after all? Judging by the speeches being made these days by certain Democratic Senators, parroting almost exactly the line of argument offered by the Democratic Presidential nominee in the last campaign, one could get the impression that the American people did not approve by an overwhelming vote the peace policies of President Eisenhower.

No more bitterly partisan speeches and statements have been made in many a day in the United States Senate and in hearings before the Senate committees than those which boldly seek to blame the Administration for the precipitate action taken by the British and French governments when, without consulting America, they landed troops in the Suez area. But most of the speech-making is usually accompanied by pious professions of nonpartisanship followed by captious criticism based on picayunish points.

Thus, for example, what sort of public crime is it that news about the Eisenhower Doctrine appeared in the press before the committees in Congress were formally advised of it? One reporter got a "scoop" by putting two and two together after reading a very meaningful dispatch from London. He ferreted out the news of the new policy. Thereupon, the Administration decided that, rather than let the case be presented in piecemeal fashion, it would be better to outline in general the proposed policy to some members of the press. Promptly, too, as soon as they could be brought together in a conference, the Democratic leaders, Speaker Rayburn and Senator Lyndon Johnson, were given an outline of the plan by the Secretary of State. Representative Martin and Senator Knowland, Republican leaders in the House and Senate, were present at the conference.

But if one reads the speeches of criticism, the idea is conveyed that the Administration somehow ignored Congress and that, because it didn't happen to have all the details ready for immediate submission to committees — indeed, the committees in the new Congress were not yet organized at the time—a gigantic bluder of some kind was committed.

Senator Mansfield of Montana, an able Democrat, who doesn't think he is partisan but who betrays his partisanship in a subtle way and sometimes is ways not so subtle, made a lengthy speech in the Senate on Tuesday, in which he said:

"I know of no Senator on this side of the aisle who does not believe the country would be better off under a Democratic President."

Such a statement is not consistent with the lukewarm support given by a certain group of Democratic senators to the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket. But the mere pronouncement of such a view in a speech on matters of grave concern in foreign policy is a revelation of the true partisanship which dominates many of the Democrats.

The American people heard during the campaign every argument and every point of criticism that now is being leveled at the Administration. Senator Mansfield says he doesn't see the "urgency" in the Middle East situation and adds that the danger now referred to by the testimony of the Secretary of State "is discovered by the Administration only a short time after the election results are in and a few days before the new Congress is scheduled to convene."

But a quick look at the files of the newspapers will show that the danger arose in the last week of the election campaign, when the British and French actually landed troops in the Suez area. All this happened before the election, and the American people chose to give the Eisenhower Administration a striking vote of confidence at the polls.

Senator Mansfield says America isn't using her influence wisely "when we permit dangerous and largely unnecessary divisions to disrupt our relations with Western Europe." But by what power could Messrs. Eisenhower and Dulles have compelled the British and French Cabinets not to intervene in the Suez last October? The word "permit" assumes an authority over the British and French governments which the U.S. doesn't possess.

The Democrats in the House are not so partisan. Approximately 81 per cent voted for the President's resolution, and 84 per cent of the Republicans did likewise.

The American people want peace, and they trust the President to keep the peace. The voters are not too much interoested in methods but only in results, and, if a world war has been prevented and pease is maintained, the voters in 1958 will again support the Administration on this issue at the polls.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

If the groundhog spots its aardvarking silhouette Saturday we will have six more weeks of winter.

If the aardvark ganders its flat porcine shadow we're going to have one sod-cracking cold spring.

Either way the ultimate consumer is up he creek with no salt in the shaker. There is nothing between this ranch and the North Pole but some telegraph wires. And they're running the wrong way.

What the aardvark is running is a weather filibuster on the jerry-manding public. Like the GOP it has an outdoor majority.

We don't pay any attention to these folk supersitions. We got Blue Cross in case of a tie.

We were over in Switzerland one tough winter when the St. Bernards were waiting on tables.

They were stalling for the weather to soften a bit. If there is any prettier lavaliere than a marquise-cut keg of brandy we never saw it.

How To Grow Old Gracefully And Sensibly

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

My hat is off to the oldster who maintains his sense of humor and zest for life. He has made a remarkable adjustment to the years in a country where youth and newness are emphasized. Vigorous America has little place for the aged.

The average 65-year-old man or woman is entitled to reminisce, relive the past, become sentimental, or even feel a little blue. These are normal reactions and should not be misconstrued as signs of senility or softening of the brain.

Many individuals find it difficult to retire serenely after working 40 years on the same job. It is disturbing also to lose the spouse, other members of the family, or friends. When these vicissitudes are added to our uncomplimentary attitude toward aging, it is no wonder the elderly lose their bounce.

But that is not all. Oldsters must adjust to the physical changes that come with the years. Their strength, hearing, and vision decline and their personal appearance becomes less attractive.

It is frustrating also to lose prestige within the family. When the children reach adolescence, marry, move away, and have families of their own, father no longer is head of the household. This shift makes him think back upon happier times.

Furthermore, normal aging of the brain means a decrease in the ability to learn. The oldster is not as sharp as he was in the past and finds it increasingly difficult to understand the details that go along with a new business proposition, a different machine, or a new rendition of an old procedure. As a result he remains conservative and resistant to change.

The older brain is less flexible and this rigidity makes Grandpa irritated or resentful when everything does not go his way. But this behavior is natural in the aged and should not be confused with abnormal changes in personality.

The retired man or woman is less likely to succumb to futility if new interests and satisfaction are developed to keep alive the enthusiasm for living. As one phase of life passes, the next ought to be entered with curiosity about and awareness of what it has to offer.

TOMORROW: Herpes and chicken pox viruses.

SUPPORT AFTER SURGERY

Mrs. E. writes: I never wore a girdle before my abdominal operation but now the surgeon wants me to wear one. Why do I need to?

REPLY

To support the abdomen until the wound is healed.

BASEBALL FINGER

J. H. writes: A month ago I was playing ball and it hit my ring finger on the left hand. X-ray showed no broken bones but the finger joint is still swollen. When will this enlargement disappear?

REPLY

Injuries of this type heal slowly and in some instances, swelling lessens but never disappears.

COLD VACCINE

H. D. writes: I have been thinking of getting cold shots but was told they are not too effective. What is your opinion?

REPLY

I agree with what you have heard. But in a year or two a good product along this line may be available. Meanwhile, the flu shots should be considered.

SELF-TREATED SCIATICA

C. W. writes: My husband rented a diathermy machine to treat his sciatica. How long must he rent it before he is cured?

REPLY

Indefinitely. In 90 per cent of all victims of sciatica, pain stems from ruptured or slipped disk in the back. Heat may offer relief but will not cure this defect.

DEEP BREATHING

D. E. writes: Are there any advantages to practicing deep breathing exercises?

REPLY

They increase the air capacity of the lungs. This is helpful in treating certain chronic lung diseases, such as emphysema. A good lung capacity also is helpful in swimming under water and in attempting to escape from a smoke-filled room.

NOT BOUNCY AT 50

G. L. writes: Since reaching 50 I do not get up in the morning with the feeling that life is worth living. Is this natural at my age?

REPLY

No. You must be depressed or in need of new goals and diversions. But before blaming a psychological cause, why not have a complete examination to determine whether your fatigue is due to infection, anemia, low metabolism, or other abnormality?

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Are you acquainted with the owner of a small retail store? How is he doing? Has he been the owner of the same store for 10 years or more and still making a profit? If so, he is a man of extraordinary ability. His rating is that of a retailing genius. Such is the opinion of experts on this particular business situation. Only 17 per cent of small retail store owners in this country stay in business in the same store for a period of 10 years or over. In the period of 1948-1955, some 991,200 retail shop owners went out of business. In the same period the ownership of over two million small retail shops changed hands.

GET IT RIGHT

June continues the most popular month for marriage. May is at the bottom of the list in that respect. Why is it May is so unpopular as a marriage month? Is it because May is considered unlucky? It isn't. The long time unpopularity of May as a time for marriage is because it is the mating month for jackasses.

As to where to get a copy of the song, write American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) in New York City.

AMONG THE MARRIED

What is nagging? Many feminine subscribers believe they have been unjustly accused of nagging and request an effort be made to clarify the situation. A young Maryland matron reports she was unable to open a window that stubbornly stuck. She asked her husband to do it. He said he would but didn't. She asked him again. No results. Once more she made the request. This time her husband snapped, "Why keep nagging me about the window?" She asks, "Was that nagging?" Our view is that it was not. It was a case of a simple and reasonable request being rudely ignored and the wife was well within her rights in repeating said request. If, however, the wife had said, "Why can't you do things when I ask you? Why do you always put everything off? Why can't you be like other men and have some consideration for your wife?" And so on and on. That in the opinion of our experts could rightly be called "Nagging."

PROOF

Do you know what "proof" means in the description of whisky? Each degree of "proof" is one half of one per cent of alcohol. So "100 proof" means the whisky in the bottle contains 50 per cent alcohol. It is said a man becomes intoxicated 10 per cent quicker drinking "100 proof" liquor than when consuming "80 proof."

HANDSHAKING

Is handshaking dangerous? Some health experts maintain it is very dangerous. That it spreads germs and can be the cause of such diseases as the common cold, influenza, typhoid, smallpox, food poisoning, measles, gastritis and skin diseases. These health authorities suggest that a military salute be substituted for handshaking.

Anybody Here Speak Arabic?

Arabic, the principal language of the Middle East—whose rolling script is read from right to left—is spoke by very few native Americans who might qualify for work in the foreign field. One former U. S. ambassador in a Middle East country had only one Arabic-speaking language officer on his staff, and that man was soon taken from him by transfer to a post in Latin America. The Russian embassy in the same capital had a staff of seven officials, all of whom spoke Arabic. The problem is aggravated now by a flood of anti-American and anti-Western propaganda in Arabic emanating from Moscow. The United States Information Service has about 50 officials in six Middle Eastern countries. Two of them speak Arabic fluently. Recently the same agency had places in the Foreign Service Institute for seven Americans to study Arabic. It had exactly two applicants. As one foreign service official said the other day: "A new and dramatic policy can be put through in a few weeks, but it takes years to provide the trained public servants to deal with it effectively in the area." American responsibilities in the foreign field are becoming so great that foresight seems to be called for in seeing that Americans are available to perform tasks it is possible will arise in the next few years. It will be difficult to achieve results by going around in a crisis asking hopelessly, "Who speaks Arabic?"

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Nothing Crumbled

During the fiercest excitement over the Suez seizure and the Hungarian uprising, opinion as to the meaning of various events ran to extremes of despair over the consequences of British conduct, and of enthusiasm for the crumbling of the Russian Empire.

I quote from a colleague for a typical statement:

"The long-term interests which unite the United States, Britain and France remain far greater than the disagreement which divides us. The alliance is not shattered but it is shaken and enfeebled. The collective voice of the free world is muted at a time when the crumbling of Moscow's satellite empire gives us our greatest opportunities."

This is fine writing but we are now looking at this from a distance and the alliance between Great Britain, France and the United States is neither shaken nor enfeebled. It stands up despite anger and annoyance. And the Russian Empire has not crumbled. It has, in fact, survived the Hungarian uprising and has formed a closer union with Red China than had ever before existed.

What seems to have happened is that the United Nations has come closer to being an instrument of American policy and that Great Britain is growing closer to Europe and that Soviet Russia is resuming the Cold War as designed by Stalin.

The United Nations has lost moral stature during all these troubles. It has asserted a double standard of morality — one applying to Egypt; another to Hungary. It has disclosed itself as opportunistic, fearful of a power that would strike back; daring and brave against those countries that are willing to abide by its decisions. Undoubtedly, the British, French and other European countries recognize their peril in the operations of the Afro-Asiatic group, formed at the Bandung Conference and continuing to function on a program of hate against Western Europe.

It is now American policy to woo these Afro-Asians. Nehru came to the United States to focus the spotlight on himself as the greatest of Afro-Asiatic statesmen. He accomplished little because his is a meaningless program overlaid with East Asian mystical language which can only mystify such a one as Chester Bowles. In the East of Asia, it is already outmoded.

Chou En-lai has gone in for headier stuff, as he recently exhibited in Poland. Somehow that too astonished those who dwell in Washington and are therefore permanently confused. They have forgotten the Third International—the ruling body of the Soviet Universal State of which Russia is one member and Red China another. And in that body, Mao Tze-tung's word is great and therefore when Chou En-lai speaks in Mao's name, it is as though Stalin had returned to life. Mao possesses seniority in the world Communist movement. Besides Mao possesses a powerful and well-equipped military force that defeated the United States in Korea and the French in Indo-China and that has given the British a tough time in Malaya. Does anybody in Europe want to take on both Soviet Russia and Red China?

And from the events, it is obvious that Chou told Gomulka to make his peace with the Kremlin, for the Soviet Universal State must be one no matter what mistakes have been made or what dangers are encountered.

Now there is speculation out of Washington whether Red China is not more powerful than Soviet Russia. Why speculate? The course of events will make it clear, as it already has, that one will support the other and that there will be no break between them in the interest of the West. The game of history is not being played according to American designs of pacifism.

Having done damage to Great Britain and France, the Russians and the Red Chinese will now wait to see what happens. They have lots of time. They do not expect anything much to happen immediately. They do not expect that the United States intends to go to war with them while President Eisenhower is in the White House. Woodrow Wilson was a pacifist and he took his country into World War I. It is risky business to base a universal policy on the psychological responses of an American President or that American public opinion will not shift like the wind. But that is what the Russians and Chinese are obviously doing. They will try Eisenhower's patience until he can take no more. It is their form of psychological warfare.

'Maybe I Can Still Get His Hide'

Captious Criticism Punctuates Mid-East Debate

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — Did Adlai Stevenson really win the last election after all? Judging by the speeches being made these days by certain Democratic Senators, parroting almost exactly the line of argument offered by the Democratic Presidential nominee in the last campaign, one could get the impression that the American people did not approve by an overwhelming vote the peace policies of President Eisenhower.

No more bitterly partisan speeches and statements have been made in many a day in the United States Senate and in hearings before the Senate committees than those which boldly seek to blame the Administration for the precipitate action taken by the British and French governments when, without consulting America, they landed troops in the Suez area. But most of the speech-making is usually accompanied by pious professions of nonpartisanship followed by captious criticism based on picayunish points.

Thus, for example, what sort of public crime is it that news about the Eisenhower Doctrine appeared in the press before the committees in Congress were formally advised of it? One reporter got a "scoop" by putting two and two together after reading a very meaningful dispatch from London. He ferreted out the news of the new policy. Thereupon, the Administration decided that, rather than let the case be presented in piecemeal fashion, it would be better to outline in general the proposed policy to some members of the press. Promptly, too, as soon as they could be brought together in a conference, the Democratic leaders, Speaker Rayburn and Senator Lyndon Johnson, were given an outline of the plan by the Secretary of State. Representative Martin and Senator Knowland, Republican leaders in the House and Senate, were present at the conference.

But if one reads the speeches of criticism, the idea is conveyed that the Administration somehow ignored Congress and that, because it didn't happen to have all the details ready for immediate submission to committees — indeed, the committees in the new Congress were not yet organized at the time—a gigantic bluder of some kind was committed.

Senator Mansfield of Montana, an able Democrat, who doesn't think he is partisan but who betrays his partisanship in a subtle way and sometimes is ways not so subtle, made a lengthy speech in the Senate on Tuesday, in which he said:

"I know of no Senator on this side of the aisle who does not believe the country would be better off under a Democratic President."

Such a statement is not consistent with the lukewarm support given by a certain group of Democratic senators to the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket. But the mere pronouncement of such a view in a speech on matters of grave concern in foreign policy is a revelation of the true partisanship which dominates many of the Democrats.

The American people heard during the campaign every argument and every point of criticism that now is being leveled at the Administration. Senator Mansfield says he doesn't see the "urgency" in the Middle East situation and adds that the danger now referred to by the testimony of the Secretary of State "is discovered by the Administration only a short time after the election results are in and a few days before the new Congress is scheduled to convene."

But a quick look at the files of the newspapers will show that the danger arose in the last week of the election campaign, when the British and French actually landed troops in the Suez area. All this happened before the election, and the American people chose to give the Eisenhower Administration a striking vote of confidence at the polls.

Senator Mansfield says America isn't using her influence wisely "when we permit dangerous and largely unnecessary divisions to disrupt our relations with Western Europe." But by what power could Messrs. Eisenhower and Dulles have compelled the British and French Cabinets not to intervene in the Suez last October? The word "permit" assumes an authority over the British and French governments which the U.S. doesn't possess.

The Democrats in the House are not so partisan. Approximately 81 per cent voted for the President's resolution, and 84 per cent of the Republicans did likewise.

The American people want peace, and they trust the President to keep the peace. The voters are not too much interoested in methods but only in results, and, if a world war has been prevented and pease is maintained, the voters in 1958 will again support the Administration on this issue at the polls.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

If the groundhog spots its aardvarking silhouette Saturday we will have six more weeks of winter.

If the aardvark ganders its flat porcine shadow we're going to have one sod-cracking cold spring.

Either way the ultimate consumer is up he creek with no salt in the shaker. There is nothing between this ranch and the North Pole but some telegraph wires. And they're running the wrong way.

What the aardvark is running is a weather filibuster on the jerry-manding public. Like the GOP it has an outdoor majority.

We don't pay any attention to these folk supersitions. We got Blue Cross in case of a tie.

We were over in Switzerland one tough winter when the St. Bernards were waiting on tables.

They were stalling for the weather to soften a bit. If there is any prettier lavaliere than a marquise-cut keg of brandy we never saw it.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There is one major thread running through the warp and woof of American policy for the Near East as it affects the following rather remarkable events in and out of Congress today:

1. The manner in which Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas rammed the Eisenhower Doctrine through the House of Representatives under a gag rule forbidding amendment. Regardless of the merits of the Eisenhower Doctrine — and it has some — it should have been open to full debate and amendment. The man who prevented this was Rayburn. Joe Martin, the man supposed to promote the Ike doctrine, was lukewarm. Rayburn, who doesn't like Ike, was dictatorial and demanding that the House support him.

2. The fact that Sen. Lyndon Johnson, also of Texas, also supposed to be against Eisenhower, also demands that the Eisenhower Doctrine be passed soon.

3. The fact that President Eisenhower is welcoming King Saud of oil-rich Saudi Arabia here just after he has refused to meet with the prime ministers of England and France; and that he took the rather unpopular step of greeting the King at the airport personally — the only time he has thus greeted any foreign visitor.

4. The manner in which the Eisenhower administration dropped criminal charges in the huge antitrust suit started against the oil industry by the Truman administration, and has dragged out the civil suit.

5. The interminable delay in the Justice Department's case against the Arabian-American oil group for overcharging the U. S. Navy to the tune of $67,000,000. These are the same companies which support King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

6. The loans, economic aid, and shipments of arms to Saudi Arabia at the expense of the American taxpayer.

"Protect Oil"

All of the above, some of them geographically unrelated, actually are woven together into the cardinal American policy, both foreign and domestic, which can be summarized in two words: "protect oil."

Critics also describe it as: "kowtow to oil." In some cases their description is quite accurate. For the State Department and the Texas leaders of Congress have gone to amazing lengths not merely to protect oil, but to give the oil industry all kinds of bonanzas the ordinary citizen, company, and taxpayer do not get.

When powerful Sam Rayburn cracks the whip over the House of Representatives to put through the Eisenhower Doctrine without free debate or any amendment, it partly means that Texas oil friends have spoken. And when Sam refuses to permit any Congressman who opposes the 27-½ per cent oil depletion allowance, it definitely means that the Texas oil lobby has spoken. The Texas oil lobby can put Sam out of Congress any time it desires, merely by redistricting his 4th District and infiltrating it with Republicans from Dallas. The lobbyists do not have to speak too loud.

Nudging The State Department

The hand of the oil companies is not always so apparent in nudging the elbow of the State Department. Sometimes it is — as when the Washington lobbyist for Aramco gave air-cooling equipment to Loy Henderson, the State Department official in charge of the Near East — a gift similar to the deep freeze deal for which Gen. Harry Vaughan got panned so deservedly and so unmercifully.

But, on the whole, you don't see the hand of the oil companies guiding major foreign policy. Nevertheless, it's there — skillfully, emphatically, vigorously there. It influences both war and peace. It guides the question of loans and gifts. It affects the money the average taxpayer has to put up when he fills out his tax returns.

Take two vital examples: In 1935 when Mussolini started to invade Ethiopia in what the diplomats recognized as a prelude to World War II, the League of Nations took a courageous stand that might have stopped war, not merely in Ethiopia but the world war to follow.

Led by Anthony Eden and with the unofficial but potent backing of Franklin Roosevelt, the League voted economic sanctions against Italy. This meant cutting of all exports to Italy and refusal to receive all imports.

The one key product in these sanctions was oil. Without oil Mussolini's navy could not move. Without gasoline his airplanes could not fly. His invasion could have been stopped overnight.

Eden Slapped Down

The British and American oil companies could have stopped it. But they didn't. They decided that profits were more important than peace. They bucked the League of Nations.

And the State Department, which has nearly always taken its cue from the oil companies whether Democrats or Republicans be in power, bowed to the oil companies. The American Navy was not used to stop the shipment of their oil to Mussolini.

He got away with his trial war. The dictators in Germany and Japan watched the breakup of the world's peace machinery. Later they followed the example of Mussolini.

Six months ago, somewhat the same thing happened — in reverse. This time the oil companies wanted to stop a war over Suez. This time the same Anthony Eden was involved. This time he was on the fighting end, not the pacific end. But again he got slapped down.

This time the oil companies did not want any fighting over Suez because the transit of their oil through the Canal was involved and because their pipelines across Arab countries were in jeopardy. So again they cracked the whip. Again Anthony Eden felt the full lash of that whip — in a defeat that ended his career.

The public thought that he was defeated by his health, by British politics, and by Eisenhower's refusal to see him. All true, in part. But the main motivating factor, more important than any of these, was the whip-cracking of the oil companies on American policy.

The story of how this happened and how the visit of King Saud is one byproduct will be told in another column.

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

My hat is off to the oldster who maintains his sense of humor and zest for life. He has made a remarkable adjustment to the years in a country where youth and newness are emphasized. Vigorous America has little place for the aged.

The average 65-year-old man or woman is entitled to reminisce, relive the past, become sentimental, or even feel a little blue. These are normal reactions and should not be misconstrued as signs of senility or softening of the brain.

Many individuals find it difficult to retire serenely after working 40 years on the same job. It is disturbing also to lose the spouse, other members of the family, or friends. When these vicissitudes are added to our uncomplimentary attitude toward aging, it is no wonder the elderly lose their bounce.

But that is not all. Oldsters must adjust to the physical changes that come with the years. Their strength, hearing, and vision decline and their personal appearance becomes less attractive.

It is frustrating also to lose prestige within the family. When the children reach adolescence, marry, move away, and have families of their own, father no longer is head of the household. This shift makes him think back upon happier times.

Furthermore, normal aging of the brain means a decrease in the ability to learn. The oldster is not as sharp as he was in the past and finds it increasingly difficult to understand the details that go along with a new business proposition, a different machine, or a new rendition of an old procedure. As a result he remains conservative and resistant to change.

The older brain is less flexible and this rigidity makes Grandpa irritated or resentful when everything does not go his way. But this behavior is natural in the aged and should not be confused with abnormal changes in personality.

The retired man or woman is less likely to succumb to futility if new interests and satisfaction are developed to keep alive the enthusiasm for living. As one phase of life passes, the next ought to be entered with curiosity about and awareness of what it has to offer.

Doris G. Gatlin vs. Cecil Gatlin, No. 24760 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII for the Plaintiff, Doris G. Gatlin, and against the Defendent, Cecil Gatlin.

The bill states that on April 9, 1946, Doris G. Gatlin was married to Cecil Gatlin and that one child, Darryl Anthony Gatlin, was born on the 13th day of July, 1947; that the parties lived together until the summer of 1952 when Cecil Gatlin abandoned and deserted the Plaintiff, Doris G. Gatlin, without just cause or reason; that such abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen months and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the Plaintiff prays the custody of the infant son born of said marriage, and that the Plaintiff has been a resident of Allegany County for more than one year.

It is thereupon this 24th day of January, 1957, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before the 25th day of February, 1957, giving notice to the said Cecil Gatlin of the object and substance of this Bill of Complaint, and warning him to be and appear in this Court in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of March, 1957, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Doris G. Gatlin vs. Cecil Gatlin. No. 24760 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII for the Plaintiff, Doris G. Gatlin, and against the Defendent, Cecil Gatlin.

The bill states that on April 9, 1946, Doris G. Gatlin was married to Cecil Gatlin and that one child, Darryl Anthony Gatlin, was born on the 13th day of July, 1947; that the parties lived together until the summer of 1952 when Cecil Gatlin abandoned and deserted the Plaintiff, Doris G. Gatlin, without just cause or reason; that such abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen months and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the Plaintiff prays the custody of the infant son born of said marriage, and that the Plaintiff has been a resident of Allegany County for more than one year.

It is thereupon this 24th day of January, 1957, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before the 25th day of February, 1957, giving notice to the said Cecil Gatlin of the object and substance of this Bill of Complaint, and warning him to be and appear in this Court in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of March, 1957, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Plentiful Fish Ideal Base For Inexpensive Meals

Your market basket this time of year can be filled with a variety of good things to eat, says Virginia McLuckie, Food Economist, Baltimore Office, Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

The shopper who plans meals around meat or other protein foods will find economy by using offerings of fish. Whole fish in good quantity are rock, butter-fish, and sea bass. A few buck shad are beginning to appear on the market. Haddock and ocean perch frozen fillets are in liberal supply and priced low.

It is best to purchase both freshly caught and fresh frozen fish on the day they are to be used. They should be wrapped tightly, and kept in the coldest part of the refrigerator until time for cooking. As frozen fish is highly perishable, it should be used immediately after thawing, and, under no circumstances should it be re-frozen. When purchasing, see that the fish is hard frozen with the glaze unimpaired.

A little attention given to the way you present fish to the table will make the seafood course a welcome one. The various seasonings and garnishes can be used to give distinctive variety to the basic cooking methods.

The meat counter offerings include more corn fed beef which carries higher price tags. However, economical buys are available in ground beef, cured hams, and smoked shoulders. The Delmarva producers are continuing to send quantities of high grade broiler-fryer chickens to market. These young tender chickens carry low price tags.

This is the season when local markets are supplied with fruits and vegetables shipped in from warmer climates. This is also the season of the year when fruits and vegetables are imported from other countries. These imports supplement the supplies from the southern and southwestern states. Last week nearly 600 carloads of imported produce reached markets throughout the United States. From our nothern neighbor, Canada, shipments of apples, potatoes, and rutabagas are arriving.

From Cuba, we are getting tomatoes, cucumbers, and pineapples, and luxury items of honeydew melons, nectarines, peaches, and plums by boat from Chile. This variety of fresh produce so attractively displayed at local markets may have started from gardens in Texas or Cuba. This means a year-round choice of green and fresh vegetables not available in past decades.

Include fresh vegetables on your market list. Economical choices for the week are potatoes, carrots, tomatoes, onions, and cauliflower. Canned corn is still plentiful and economically priced.

Fresh fruit helps to make meals interesting and also to provide roughage needed in the diet. The citrus fruits are plentiful and excellent in quality. As the peak season for grapefruit and juice oranges draws near, prices are reasonable. Other fruits in good supply are bananas, Bosc and D'Anjou pears. These fruits wear attractive price tags.

The price of Grade A large eggs is down and they are in abundant supply. Wise shoppers will check the egg grade and size on the carton when buying to see that they get the quality they pay for. Purchase eggs that are kept under refrigeration, and keep them refrigerated at home until they are used.

STUFFED FISH FILLETS

- ¾ cup finely cut celery
- 3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 6 tablespoons melted fat
- 3 cups coarse bread crumbs
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- Pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1 teaspoon thyme or other savory seasoning
- 1 to 1½ pound thawed haddock or perch fillets
- Fine crumbs
- 2 tablespoons fat

Cook celery and onions in fat for a few minutes.

Add bread crumbs and seasonings, and mix well.

Place stuffing on skin side of salted individual fillets. Roll and fasten with toothpicks.

Roll the stuffed fillets in fine crumbs and brown in fat in a frying pan. Cover and cook over low heat until tender—about 10 minutes.

Apple Pancakes For "Brunch"

Sunday or holiday "brunch", that happy combination of a late late breakfast and an early hearty luncheon, has become a national habit. This marvellous meal permits the kids to sleep late without keeping mother everlastingly in the kitchen. And then when everyone is up and about — and hungry, too — it combines two meals in one. A time saver and a work saver, even a family fun occasion.

Pancakes have been a national habit, too, for a long, long time. But apple pancakes are suggested this year as a pleasant change for this has been a vintage year in American orchards. These appetizing cakes made of such tasty ingredients as tart cooking apples, cinnamon and lemon juice satisfy even the biggest appetites in the most healthful way.

They are easily and quickly prepared, too, on the handsome new Revere Ware griddle, a stunning companion piece to the popular line of copper-clad stainless steel cooking utensils. The heavy copper bottom spreads the heat evenly and swiftly. The shiny stainless steel is so easy to clean. Those apple pancakes will taste better, for sure.

Apple Pancakes
(Makes 20 Pancakes)

- 2 eggs, separated
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 1/2 cup sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- dash of allspice
- 2 tart cooking apples, pared, cored, and finely chopped
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/4 cup sugar mixed togther with 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Beat egg yolks until light and lemon-colored in 1 quart mixing bowl; stir in milk and oil. Measure flour, sugar, salt and allspice into 4 quart mixing bowl; add egg-milk mixture; beat with rotary beater just until smooth. (Overbeating batter tends to toughen pancakes.) Batter will be fairly thin. Chill 30 minutes. Marinate chopped apples in lemon juice while batter chills. Drain apples; stir into batter. Combine egg whites and cream of tartar in 1 quart mixing bowl; beat until stiff; fold into apple mixture. Heat Revere Ware griddle. Test temperature by sprinkling a few drops of water on it. When drops "skitter" about, temperature is right. Spoon 2 tablespoons batter onto heated griddle to make 3-inch pancake. Repeat to make 3 or 4 pancakes at each baking. (They should be about 1/4 inch thick.) Bake until tops appear fairly dry and undersides are golden brown; turn; brown on other side. Sprinkle each pancake with cinnamon and sugar; arrange in stacks of 3 or 4 on plate; cover until ready to serve.

Bacon In Sandwiches

Fry some extra bacon at breakfast time to use in sandwiches for school or work lunchboxes. Crisp-fried, well-drained bacon makes a hearty sandwich filling, either in strips or crumbled with a filling mixture. Here are some suggestions for using bacon in sandwiches:

1. Place bacon strips between slices of cracked wheat bread spread with apple butter.
2. Mix crumbled bacon with chopped egg and salad dressing and spread on rye bread.
3. Place bacon strips between buttered slices of Vienna bread with chili sauce or catsup.
4. Mix crumpled bacon with peanut butter and mayonnaise and spread on whole wheat bread. bread.
5. Place bacon strips on cracked wheat bread spread with butter or mayonnaise. Place a leaf of lettuce in a separate wrapper for adding at lunch time.

Franks With Potatoes

This recipe for franks, Italian style, is the kind homemakers should keep tucked in an easy-to-reach place, for it is a quickly prepared main dish that both the youngsters and the adults of the family will enjoy.

Frankfurters, Italian Style

- 6 frankfurters
- ¼ cup minced onions
- 2 tablespoons bacon drippings or fat
- 3 medium potatoes, pared and diced
- 1 can tomato paste
- ½ tomato paste can of water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cut frankfurters lengthwise into quarters. Cook onions in hot fat 5 minutes, then add potatoes, tomato paste, water, salt and pepper. Cover and cook over low heat 20 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Add franks and cook until heated through. Serve immediately. 4 servings.

Suggest Veal Oven Dish

Brown the meat, combine the ingredients, place 'em in a casserole and bake . . . that is all there's to this veal casserole.

It takes just 40 minutes and presto, dinner is served!

Casserole

- 2 pounds ground veal
- 1 teaspoon lard
- 2 cups sliced celery
- ½ cup finely chopped green pepper
- 3 tablespoons grated onion
- ½ cup sliced blanched almonds
- 1 teapsoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- ¾ cup grated processed cheese
- ¾ cup crushed potato chips

Brown veal in lard. Pour off drippings. Combine veal, celery, green pepper, onion, almonds, salt, pepper, lemon juice and mayonnaise. Place in a greased 2-quart casserole and cover top with grated cheese. Sprinkle potato chips around edge. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 40 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Time To Decorate Ham

This is the time of year that a whole ham just needs that special glaze and decorative scoring before being brought to the dinner table. Plain fruit glazes, brown sugar or even a honey glaze are appropriate. Use your imagination when scoring a ham and studding it with cloves. Garnish the platter on which the ham is placed but remember not to over garnish . . . making it difficult for the carver.

There are five copies of the Gettysburg Address in Lincoln's handwriting still extant.

Along The Potomac

by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — Inaugural week has come and gone. It was wonderful to see and hear from the hundreds of people from my Congressional district who came to Washington for these events.

Our Maryland business community will be interested in learning that the House Judiciary Committee, of which I am a member has decided to hold hearings on the anti-trust bill, H. R. 11. The bill seeks to control price "discrimination" by manufacturers among local distributors.

Many Marylanders will also be interested in the scheduled hearings before the House subcommittee on Immigration on the overall refugee problem. My colleagues and I on the Immigration subcommittee are trying to evaluate the refugee program and its effects.

I have re-introduced my bill, "Simultaneous Death Act," which passed the House last year but did not pass the Senate. The measure would help solve some of the legal difficulties in the District of Columbia which arise when deaths occur at the same time or at close intervals and it is impossible to determine which death occurred first. At present the District of Columbia is without any orderly plan of distribution of estates in the case of simultaneous death. My bill will make the District's law the same as it is in Maryland.

The President, in his Annual Economic Report, has one section of special interest to Western Maryland; it calls attention to the problem of "persistent unemployment" in some areas of the nation. He recommends the establishment of an area assistance administration in the Department of Commerce and an enlargement of present federal facilities for aiding areas of under-employment.

On My Calendar

Friday, February 1—8 a. m.—guest—Seventh National Aircraft Conference Breakfast—UAW.

Saturday, February 2—6:15 p. m. — guest — Board of Trade, Mayflower Hotel.

Monday, February 4 — Noon—guest — Maryland and Virginia, Milk Producers Association—Sheraton-Park Hotel.

Tuesday, February 5—12:30 p. m. — National Council of Jewish Women, Montgomery County U. S. Capitol. 7:30 p. m.—guest—Congressional Dinner, VFW Sheraton-Park Hotel.

Spanish Tenderloin Patties

Si. Just the dinner for company! Add ½ teaspoon salt to 1 beaten egg. Dip 6 pork tenderloin patties in egg and then in ¾ cup fine cracker crumbs. Brown slowly in 3 tablespoons lard or drippings. Arrange an orange slice and onion slice on each patty. Add ¼ cup water, cover tightly and cook slowly for 30 minutes or until well done.

Lard In The Diet

Lard, the all-purpose shortening, which appeals to economy minded homemakers, is as good for you as it is for your purse. The pure fat is the most highly concentrated source of food energy. It supplies the nutritional elements needed for growth and good skin health in greater quantities than any other commonly used fat. Also, lard is almost completely digestible.

Besides its high nutritional advantages, lard offers old-time cooks, and modern ones, too, an easy way to produce tender pie crusts, flaky biscuits, crisp cookies and fine textured, long-keeping cakes.

- ¾ cup finely cut celery
- 3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 6 tablespoons melted fat
- 3 cups coarse bread crumbs
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- Pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1 teaspoon thyme or other savory seasoning
- 1 to 1½ pound thawed haddock or perch fillets
- Fine crumbs
- 2 tablespoons fat

Cook celery and onions in fat for a few minutes.

Add bread crumbs and seasonings, and mix well.

Place stuffing on skin side of salted individual fillets. Roll and fasten with toothpicks.

Roll the stuffed fillets in fine crumbs and brown in fat in a frying pan. Cover and cook over low heat until tender—about 10 minutes.

Apple Pancakes For "Brunch"

Sunday or holiday "brunch", that happy combination of a late late breakfast and an early hearty luncheon, has become a national habit. This marvellous meal permits the kids to sleep late without keeping mother everlastingly in the kitchen. And then when everyone is up and about — and hungry, too — it combines two meals in one. A time saver and a work saver, even a family fun occasion.

Pancakes have been a national habit, too, for a long, long time. But apple pancakes are suggested this year as a pleasant change for this has been a vintage year in American orchards. These appetizing cakes made of such tasty ingredients as tart cooking apples, cinnamon and lemon juice satisfy even the biggest appetites in the most healthful way.

They are easily and quickly prepared, too, on the handsome, new Revere Ware griddle, a stunning companion piece to the popular line of copper-clad stainless steel cooking utensils. The heavy copper bottom spreads the heat evenly and swiftly. The shiny stainless steel is so easy to clean. Those apple pancakes will taste better, for sure.

Apple Pancakes
(Makes 20 Pancakes)

- 2 eggs, separated
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 1/2 cup sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- dash of allspice
- 2 tart cooking apples, pared, cored, and finely chopped
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/4 cup sugar mixed togther with 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Beat egg yolks until light and lemon-colored in 1 quart mixing bowl; stir in milk and oil. Measure flour, sugar, salt and allspice into 4 quart mixing bowl; add egg-milk mixture; beat with rotary beater just until smooth. (Overbeating batter tends to toughen pancakes.) Batter will be fairly thin. Chill 30 minutes. Marinate chopped apples in lemon juice while batter chills. Drain apples; stir into batter. Combine egg whites and cream of tartar in 1 quart mixing bowl; beat until stiff; fold into apple mixture. Heat Revere Ware griddle. Test temperature by sprinkling a few drops of water on it. When drops "skitter" about, temperature is right. Spoon 2 tablespoons batter onto heated griddle to make 3-inch pancake. Repeat to make 3 or 4 pancakes at each baking. (They should be about 1/4 inch thick.) Bake until tops appear fairly dry and undersides are golden brown; turn; brown on other side. Sprinkle each pancake with cinnamon and sugar; arrange in stacks of 3 or 4 on plate; cover until ready to serve.

Bacon In Sandwiches

Fry some extra bacon at breakfast time to use in sandwiches for school or work lunchboxes. Crisp-fried, well-drained bacon makes a hearty sandwich filling, either in strips or crumbled with a filling mixture. Here are some suggestions for using bacon in sandwiches:

1. Place bacon strips between slices of cracked wheat bread spread with apple butter.
2. Mix crumbled bacon with chopped egg and salad dressing and spread on rye bread.
3. Place bacon strips between buttered slices of Vienna bread with chili sauce or catsup.
4. Mix crumpled bacon with peanut butter and mayonnaise and spread on whole wheat bread. bread.
5. Place bacon strips on cracked wheat bread spread with butter or mayonnaise. Place a leaf of lettuce in a separate wrapper for adding at lunch time.

Franks With Potatoes

This recipe for franks, Italian style, is the kind homemakers should keep tucked in an easy-to-reach place, for it is a quickly prepared main dish that both the youngsters and the adults of the family will enjoy.

Frankfurters, Italian Style

- 6 frankfurters
- ¼ cup minced onions
- 2 tabiespoons bacon drippings or fat
- 3 medium potatoes, pared and diced
- 1 can tomato paste
- ½ tomato paste can of water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cut frankfurters lengthwise into quarters. Cook onions in hot fat 5 minutes, then add potatoes, tomato paste, water, salt and pepper. Cover and cook over low heat 20 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Add franks and cook until heated through. Serve immediately. 4 servings.

Suggest Veal Oven Dish

Brown the meat, combine the ingredients, place 'em in a casserole and bake . . . that is all there's to this veal casserole.

It takes just 40 minutes and presto, dinner is served!

Casserole

- 2 pounds ground veal
- 1 teaspoon lard
- 2 cups sliced celery
- ½ cup finely chopped green pepper
- 3 tablespoons grated onion
- ½ cup sliced blanched almonds
- 1 teapsoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- ¾ cup grated processed cheese
- ¾ cup crushed potato chips

Brown veal in lard. Pour off drippings. Combine veal, celery, green pepper, onion, almonds, salt, pepper, lemon juice and mayonnaise. Place in a greased 2-quart casserole and cover top with grated cheese. Sprinkle potato chips around edge. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 40 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Time To Decorate Ham

This is the time of year that a whole ham just needs that special glaze and decorative scoring before being brought to the dinner table. Plain fruit glazes, brown sugar or even a honey glaze are appropriate. Use your imagination when scoring a ham and studding it with cloves. Garnish the platter on which the ham is placed but remember not to over garnish . . . making it difficult for the carver.

There are five copies of the Gettysburg Address in Lincoln's handwriting still extant.

Along The Potomac

by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — Inaugural week has come and gone. It was wonderful to see and hear from the hundreds of people from my Congressional district who came to Washington for these events.

Our Maryland business community will be interested in learning that the House Judiciary Committee, of which I am a member has decided to hold hearings on the anti-trust bill, H. R. 11. The bill seeks to control price "discrimination" by manufacturers among local distributors.

Many Marylanders will also be interested in the scheduled hearings before the House subcommittee on Immigration on the overall refugee problem. My colleagues and I on the Immigration subcommittee are trying to evaluate the refugee program and its effects.

I have re-introduced my bill, "Simultaneous Death Act," which passed the House last year but did not pass the Senate. The measure would help solve some of the legal difficulties in the District of Columbia which arise when deaths occur at the same time or at close intervals and it is impossible to determine which death occurred first. At present the District of Columbia is without any orderly plan of distribution of estates in the case of simultaneous death. My bill will make the District's law the same as it is in Maryland.

The President, in his Annual Economic Report, has one section of special interest to Western Maryland; it calls attention to the problem of "persistent unemployment" in some areas of the nation. He recommends the establishment of an area assistance administration in the Department of Commerce and an enlargement of present federal facilities for aiding areas of under-employment.

On My Calendar

Saturday, February 2—6:15 p. m. — guest — Board of Trade, Mayflower Hotel.

Monday, February 4 — Noon—guest — Maryland and Virginia, Milk Producers Association—Sheraton-Park Hotel.

Tuesday, February 5—12:30 p. m. — National Council of Jewish Women, Montgomery County U. S. Capitol. 7:30 p. m.—guest—Congressional Dinner, VFW Sheraton-Park Hotel.

Spanish Tenderloin Patties

Si. Just the dinner for company! Add ½ teaspoon salt to 1 beaten egg. Dip 6 pork tenderloin patties in egg and then in ¾ cup fine cracker crumbs. Brown slowly in 3 tablespoons lard or drippings. Arrange an orange slice and onion slice on each patty. Add ¼ cup water, cover tightly and cook slowly for 30 minutes or until well done.

Lard In The Diet

Lard, the all-purpose shortening, which appeals to economy minded homemakers, is as good for you as it is for your purse. The pure fat is the most highly concentrated source of food energy. It supplies the nutritional elements needed for growth and good skin health in greater quantities than any other commonly used fat. Also, lard is almost completely digestible.

Besides its high nutritional advantages, lard offers old-time cooks, and modern ones, too, an easy way to produce tender pie crusts, flaky biscuits, crisp cookies and fine textured, long-keeping cakes.

the only luxury-type margarine at no extra cost!

That real true taste—at an everyday price! It's a Filbert family secret, and no other spread has it! New Mrs. Filbert's is the only spread that gives you that "expensive" taste you love—at a margarine price!

Made to a woman's taste! New Mrs. Filbert's combines everything you want—the delicate texture and wonderful spreadability of margarine, and the real true taste of the costliest spread itself. And it contains 4 times as much Vitamin D as the high-priced one—plus at least 15,000 units of Vitamin A in every pound!

Smoothest spread of them all! Nothing—not even the costliest spread money can buy—has the satin-smooth texture of New Mrs. Filbert's. Spread it icy-cold, right from the refrigerator, on the freshest bread—not a hole, not a lump! Tonight—treat your family to that real true taste of New Mrs. Filbert's!

The Filbert Family Guarantee: If you don't agree that New Mrs. Filbert's has that real true taste, send us your reasons to Box 1317, Baltimore 29, Md., enclosing "Sweet Flavor Discovery" panel from carton. We'll send you 60¢! One offer to a family, and offer ends one month from today.

Mrs. Filbert's NEW Margarine

Sausage And Cornbread Combination

Sausage today is one of the most versatile meats . . . used not only as a breakfast meat, it also has won a prominent place in many a luncheon and dinner menu.

This Upside-Down Sausage and Cornbread creation presents good eating and good nourishment.

In this recipe, the pork sausage links are baked in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. These links may also be cooked in a frying-pan. Simply add 2 tablespoons of water, cover tightly, simmer from 8 to 10 minutes, remove cover and brown.

All pork is cooked to the well-done stage.

Upside-Down Cornbread With Pork Sausage

1 pound pork sausage links
1 cup yellow cornmeal
1 cup sifted enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup milk or tomato juice
¼ cup sausage drippings

Bake sausage in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) in 9-inch cake pan until done (about 15 minutes). Pour off all but 2 tablespoons of drippings and save ¼ cup. Arrange sausage in desired design. Mix together cornmeal flour, baking powder and salt. Add egg, milk or tomato juice and sausage drippings. Stir lightly and pour over sausage links. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Serve with cream gravy, butter, or syrup. Yield: 6 servings.

The ancient Egyptians used petroleum to grease their chariots and to preserve their pharaohs.

American Beauty Salad Mold

About 12 California dried figs
1 cup fresh, raw cranberries
½ cup sugar
2 pkgs. cherry flavored gelatin
3 cups boiling hot water
½ cup minced fresh celery

Cover the California Dried Figs with very hot water for 10 minutes. Drain. With scissors, snip off the stems. Then cut the figs into very small bits. Put the washed cranberries through the fine blade of the food grinder. Mix with the sugar and the figs. Dissolve the gelatin in the hot water. Cool. Mince the celery. When the gelatin is cold, stir in all the other ingredients. Add more sugar if needed. Place in small molds and chill. Turn out on crisp salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise or a dressing made of whipped cream, honey and lemon juice to taste. Serves about 8.

Ground Beef Prices

Wonder why you see so many prices for ground beef or hamburger in your store? Well, ground beef may come from the chuck, neck, brisket, plate or shank, flank and heel of the round. Usually, the lowest priced ground beef has the highest percentage of fat. The most expensive ground beef is usually prepared from the choicest cuts — round steaks, or sirloin tips.

No matter which you choose, you're on your way to nutritious eating, whether you use the ground meat in loaves, balls, spaghetti sauces, or hamburgers.

No matter which you choose, you're on your way to nutritious eating, whether you use the ground meat in loaves, balls, spaghetti sauces, or hamburgers.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"It's lovely — send it back!"

Outrigger Salad, Tropicale

Crisp letture
Cottage cheese
Pineapple Spears
Avocado slices
Maraschino cherries or ripe olives

For each serving: Pile cottage cheese on lettuce. Place 2 pineapple spears about 2 inches apart on cheese. Arrange 3 thin slices of avocado with edges overlapping pineapple; garnish with cherries or olives. Serve with crisp crackers, and a pot of tea for luch.

Care Of Carving Tools

Without a doubt the carving set in your household will receive much use in the coming few weeks. To get full cooperation from your carving set, give it good care. Keep it separated from other cutlery so the knife will not be dulled or nicked. A good blade needs only occasional sharpening, but it should always be steeled before using.

For luncheon or bridge party refreshment these open-face sandwiches are sure to make a hit. Combine 2 cups cottage cheese with with ¼ tsp. grated onion, ¼ tsp. salt, a dash of paprika, ½ cup finely chopped radishes and ½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce. Grate 2 unpeeled red Washington Delicious apples. Add to cheese mixture. Spread 8 slices Boston brown bread lightly with softened butter. Spread each slice with apple-cheese filling. Makes 8 open-face sandwiches.

Pork Cookery

When pork is cooked in your home remember . . . pork is always cooked at a moderate temperature until well-done. Fresh pork cuts are roasted in a 350° F. oven; smoked pork cuts are roasted in a 300° F. oven.

It is wise to remember that all pork is cooked to the well-done stage.

Senior Citizens, Attention!

It is known today that senior citizens who eat ample amounts of beef are more alert and active and are less likely to get sick.

Planned Menu Essential For The Career Wife

The homemaker who must hurry home after a day at the office often finds meal preparation burdensome. The well - organized working wife plans her menus several days in advance—ideally, before she does the weekly shopping. And she plans her cooking, too, to provide flavorful meals without spending too much of her minimum free time in the kitchen.

Especially for the career wife is this recipe for glazed pork butt with apples. The smoked pork butt may be cooked in water one evening, then refrigerated overnight until ready for heating through with the tangy glaze.

GLAZED PORK BUTT WITH APPLES

Water
1 clove garlic, halved
6 whole cloves
1 bay leaf
3 cored apples, halved crosswise
½ cup cherry or cranberry jelly
½ cup horse-radish

Place meat in deep kettle; cover with water. Add garlic, cloves, and bay leaf. Cover pan and simmer over low heat 1½ hours or until meat is tender. Remove meat and place in a shallow baking pan. Place apple halves around meat. Blend jelly and horse-radish and spread over meat and apples. Bake 25 minutes at 325° F. (longer for meat refrigerated overnight before glazing). 6 servings.

Delectable Variety Meat

Brains are a delicate meat, both in flavor and texture, and are suitable for a light meal such as breakfast or lunch. Here, the pre-cooked, tender meat is simmered in mushroom sauce and served over crisp toast.

BRAINS WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE

1 pound brains
Water, salt and pepper
1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 10½ can mushroom soup
½ cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon flour

As soon as brains come from market, soak in salt water 15 minutes. (Use 2 quarts cold water and 2 tablespoons salt.) Simmer 15 minutes in fresh water to which vinegar or lemon juice has been added. Drain, drop into cold water, drain again, and remove any membranes. Refrigerate or use immediately.

Cook onions in butter 4 minutes over low heat. Add mushroom soup, diluted with ½ can water, and celery. Cover and simmer 20 minutes. Stir in flour, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Continue stirring and cook until thickened. Cut brains into serving pieces and add to sauce. Simmer until heated through. Serve on crisp toast. 4 servings.

Flavorful Short Ribs

Short ribs of beef are cut from the end of a standing rib roast and have lots of rich beef flavor. You can prepare this economy meat as you would a pot roast—by braising.

SHORT RIBS POT ROAST

2 pounds beef short ribs, cut in serving pieces
3 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons drippings or fat
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 small onion, sliced
3 carrots, sliced
¼ cup water

Roll ribs in flour and brown in hot fat in a heavy skillet. Add remaining ingredients, cover pan, and simmer 2 hours over low heat or until meat is tender. Add more water during cooking, if necessary. 4 servings.

3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup milk or tomato juice
¼ cup sausage drippings

Bake sausage in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) in 9-inch cake pan until done (about 15 minutes). Pour off all but 2 tablespoons of drippings and save ¼ cup. Arrange sausage in desired design. Mix together cornmeal flour, baking powder and salt. Add egg, milk or tomato juice and sausage drippings. Stir lightly and pour over sausage links. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Serve with cream gravy, butter, or syrup. Yield: 6 servings.

The ancient Egyptians used petroleum to grease their chariots and to preserve their pharaohs.

American Beauty Salad Mold

About 12 California dried figs
1 cup fresh, raw cranberries
½ cup sugar
2 pkgs. cherry flavored gelatin
3 cups boiling hot water
½ cup minced fresh celery

Cover the California Dried Figs with very hot water for 10 minutes. Drain. With scissors, snip off the stems. Then cut the figs into very small bits. Put the washed cranberries through the fine blade of the food grinder. Mix with the sugar and the figs. Dissolve the gelatin in the hot water. Cool. Mince the celery. When the gelatin is cold, stir in all the other ingredients. Add more sugar if needed. Place in small molds and chill. Turn out on crisp salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise or a dressing made of whipped cream, honey and lemon juice to taste. Serves about 8.

Ground Beef Prices

Wonder why you see so many prices for ground beef or hamburger in your store? Well, ground beef may come from the chuck, neck, brisket, plate or shank, flank and heel of the round. Usually, the lowest priced ground beef has the highest percentage of fat. The most expensive ground beef is usually prepared from the choicest cuts — round steaks, or sirloin tips.

No matter which you choose, you're on your way to nutritious eating, whether you use the ground meat in loaves, balls, spaghetti sauces, or hamburgers.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"It's lovely — send it back!"

Outrigger Salad, Tropicale

Crisp letture
Cottage cheese
Pineapple Spears
Avocado slices
Maraschino cherries or ripe olives

For each serving: Pile cottage cheese on lettuce. Place 2 pineapple spears about 2 inches apart on cheese. Arrange 3 thin slices of avocado with edges overlapping pineapple; garnish with cherries or olives. Serve with crisp crackers, and a pot of tea for luch.

Care Of Carving Tools

Without a doubt the carving set in your household will receive much use in the coming few weeks. To get full cooperation from your carving set, give it good care. Keep it separated from other cutlery so the knife will not be dulled or nicked. A good blade needs only occasional sharpening, but it should always be steeled before using.

For luncheon or bridge party refreshment these open-face sandwiches are sure to make a hit. Combine 2 cups cottage cheese with with ¼ tsp. grated onion, ¼ tsp. salt, a dash of paprika, ½ cup finely chopped radishes and ½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce. Grate 2 unpeeled red Washington Delicious apples. Add to cheese mixture. Spread 8 slices Boston brown bread lightly with softened butter. Spread each slice with apple-cheese filling. Makes 8 open-face sandwiches.

Pork Cookery

When pork is cooked in your home remember . . . pork is always cooked at a moderate temperature until well-done. Fresh pork cuts are roasted in a 350° F. oven; smoked pork cuts are roasted in a 300° F. oven.

It is wise to remember that all pork is cooked to the well-done stage.

Senior Citizens, Attention!

It is known today that senior citizens who eat ample amounts of beef are more alert and active and are less likely to get sick.

Planned Menu Essential For The Career Wife

The homemaker who must hurry home after a day at the office often finds meal preparation burdensome. The well - organized working wife plans her menus several days in advance—ideally, before she does the weekly shopping. And she plans her cooking, too, to provide flavorful meals without spending too much of her minimum free time in the kitchen.

Especially for the career wife is this recipe for glazed pork butt with apples. The smoked pork butt may be cooked in water one evening, then refrigerated overnight until ready for heating through with the tangy glaze.

GLAZED PORK BUTT WITH APPLES

Water
1 clove garlic, halved
6 whole cloves
1 bay leaf
3 cored apples, halved crosswise
½ cup cherry or cranberry jelly
½ cup horse-radish

Place meat in deep kettle; cover with water. Add garlic, cloves, and bay leaf. Cover pan and simmer over low heat 1½ hours or until meat is tender. Remove meat and place in a shallow baking pan. Place apple halves around meat. Blend jelly and horse-radish and spread over meat and apples. Bake 25 minutes at 325° F. (longer for meat refrigerated overnight before glazing). 6 servings.

Delectable Variety Meat

Brains are a delicate meat, both in flavor and texture, and are suitable for a light meal such as breakfast or lunch. Here, the pre-cooked, tender meat is simmered in mushroom sauce and served over crisp toast.

BRAINS WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE

1 pound brains
Water, salt and pepper
1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 10½ can mushroom soup
½ cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon flour

As soon as brains come from market, soak in salt water 15 minutes. (Use 2 quarts cold water and 2 tablespoons salt.) Simmer 15 minutes in fresh water to which vinegar or lemon juice has been added. Drain, drop into cold water, drain again, and remove any membranes. Refrigerate or use immediately.

Cook onions in butter 4 minutes over low heat. Add mushroom soup, diluted with ½ can water, and celery. Cover and simmer 20 minutes. Stir in flour, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Continue stirring and cook until thickened. Cut brains into serving pieces and add to sauce. Simmer until heated through. Serve on crisp toast. 4 servings.

Flavorful Short Ribs

Short ribs of beef are cut from the end of a standing rib roast and have lots of rich beef flavor. You can prepare this economy meat as you would a pot roast—by braising.

SHORT RIBS POT ROAST

2 pounds beef short ribs, cut in serving pieces
3 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons drippings or fat
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 small onion, sliced
3 carrots, sliced
¼ cup water

Roll ribs in flour and brown in hot fat in a heavy skillet. Add remaining ingredients, cover pan, and simmer 2 hours over low heat or until meat is tender. Add more water during cooking, if necessary. 4 servings.

Apples And Cabbage Are Appetizing In Many Ways

Red and green cabbage deserves special attention at this time of the year, as do fresh apples, because these foods are rich in Vitamin C and the important protective minerals that help build resistance to colds and infections. Cooked together you'll find cabbage and apples also wonderfully appetizing and satisfying and today's recipes are timely now when crisp flavorful fresh apples are plentiful. Newest arrivals in local markets are the late-harvested Winesaps from Washington State's famous orchards and, since this is an excellent all-purpose variety, you can enjoy these apples in cooked or baked dishes, as well as for eating as fresh fruit and in salads.

Fresh Apples and Cabbage

2 small heads red cabbage
½ cup vinegar
3 strips bacon, diced
1 small onion, finely chopped
1 Winesap apple, peeled, chopped
1 tablespoon flour
1½ teaspoon caraway seed
2 teaspoons sugar
1 bouillon cube
½ cup hot water

Wash cabbage and remove outside leaves. Core and chop finely, sprinkling with vinegar as you chop. Cook bacon and onion in large heavy kettle until bacon is crisp; add chopped cabbage, apple, flour, caraway seed, sugar and bouillon cube dissolved first in the hot water. Cover and simmer slowly for 2 hours, stirring frequently. Serves 8.

Apples and Cabbage With Cheese

Winesap apples, sliced to make 2 cups
4 cups shredded raw cabbage
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
2 cups cream sauce
½ cup buttered bread crumbs
½ cup cheddar cheese, diced

In a greased baking dish place alternate layers of apple slices and shredded cabbage. Season each layer with salt and sugar. Mix diced cheese bits with cream sauce and pour over apples and cabbage. Top with buttered crumbs. Bake, covered, in a moderate oven (350°F.) about 45 minutes or until tender. Remove cover to brown during last 10 minutes.

Mock Chicken Legs, Cream Gravy

1½ pounds veal
1 pound lean pork
1¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups cracker crumbs
2 eggs, beaten
8 wooden skewers
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk

Cut meat into 1-inch cubes. Place five pieces on each stick alternating first veal, then pork. Roll legs in cracker crumbs, dip in egg, and again in cracker crumbs. Melt butter in heavy frying pan; add chicken legs and brown. Add about ¼ cup water, cover and simmer over low heat. Add extra water, if needed to keep legs from sticking. Cook until meat is tender — about 1 hour. Chicken legs may be browned on top of stove and then baked in 325° F., oven for 45-60 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

To make gravy, remove chicken legs; add 2 cups milk. Put flour in covered jar with just enough milk to make a smooth paste (¼ cup). Shake until free from lumps; add to liquid in frying pan, stirring constantly. When thickened, add more milk if necessary and cook to proper consistency. Serve over hot, baked potatoes.

Tea Party Sandwiches

— a delightful addition to your list of treasured little goodies to serve for a tea. These sandwiches are dainty for party use on tiny hearts or circles and they are just plain good if filling is spread between two pieces of bread for any old time.

About 20 California dried figs
1 cup pecan or walnut meats
½ cup confectioners sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 3oz. or 1 large pkg. cream cheese
milk to soften the cheese.

Cover the California dried figs with boiling water for 10 minutes. Then drain and, with scissors, snip off the stems. Cut the figs into very tiny pieces or put them through the food grinder. Chop the nut or grind until they are very fine. Blend the figs and nuts with the sugar, lemon juice and the cheese. If too stiff to spread, add a little milk. Best on white bread.

A taste-tempting salad that's quick and easy to prepare, is made of diced, unpeeled Washington Delicious apples, sliced bananas and chopped dates. Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing.

Cranberry Nut Bread

(Use fresh cranberries in this recipe)

2½ cups sifted enriched flour
4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
¼ cup shortening
1 cup milk
1 egg
½ cup chopped nuts
1 cup fresh cranberries, chopped

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together in mixing bowl. Cut in shortening until texture of coarse meal. Form a well in dry ingredients. Add milk and egg. Mix until flour mixture is dampened. Stir in chopped nuts and cranberries. Pour into well-greased 9" x 55 x 3" loaf pan.

Spread batter into corners of pan, leaving the center slightly hollowed. Allow to stand 20 minutes before baking. Bake in moderate over 350 degrees F. 60 to 70 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool. Store overnight for easy slicing.

When buying poultry, you can always rely on the bird that has been Government inspected for wholesomeness and graded for quality. U. S. Grade A poultry is tops in quality, and was slaughtered and packed under sanitary conditions.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (INS) — The passing show—

Politics and oil make strange bedfellows. What is expedient for President Eisenhower to do — break bread with King Saud in the hope of lessening Middle East tensions—would have constituted political suicide for Bob Wagner, New York's fine young mayor.

Curiously, both hosts are impeccably correct. For the President not to play the part of active host, even to the downing of fruit juice toasts, would demolish his good chance of swinging Saud away from the corrosive influence of Nasser. Saud is the Croesus among a swarm of mendicant Arab nations. He is least likely to succumb to Soviet influence, since it portends an end to his ability to build himself $30,000,000 castles when the whim strikes him.

Yet there are close ethnic, religious and cultural ties between Saudi Arabia and some of the Arab states which plainly prefer the East to the West. Egypt, for example, sends vast numbers of pilgrims to Mecca and Medina each year. Saud's army of brothers have invested heavily in Egyptian property.

He won't turn his back on Nasser very readily. But Ike has a good chance of making clear to him the reasons why he should and must tone Nasser down.

Mayor Wagner all but understated things when, in refusing to give Saud the standard big town reception for visiting royalty, he denounced the king as anti-Catholic, anti-Semitic and a trafficker in slaves. Saud is more. He stands for the extermination of Christian thought and the utter annihilation of the state of Israel. I think New York showed rare class—through Wagner—by making it plain that it will keep the Little Picture in mind and let the Feds take of the Big Picture.

One won't soon forget the pickets at the Waldorf, their flags and their clothes soddened by rain, but their squashing feet still full of determination. Nor, if one is in my business, can he fail to continue to thrill to the cadence of one of the finest "leads" I've read in years:

"King Saud arrived today on a diplomatic green carpet rolled out at President Eisenhower's request—but not even a 21-gun salute could drown out the silence of the City's official snub." — George Carpozi, Jr., in Tuesday's New York Journal American.

With the pure-jet age almost upon us, why doesn't the commercial aviation industry put up a $100,000 prize, or give a sum to research, for an efficient method whereby the passenger can ransom his belongings in a hurry? At proposed jet speeds and current baggage-handling pace, it would take a man as long to redeem his suitcase as it took him to fly from Chicago to New York.

Almost from the day his reporter reached New York he has received a weekly letter from Johnny Toker, a Brooklynite with a keen sense of humor and an enduring interest in the wonders of the world around him. Johnny seldom fails to come up with a penetrating thought. This week's offering:

"Joe Louis should use some European style diplomacy. He should write to the Treasury and threaten to join the Communists. To keep him in the West, we'd promptly send him a loan. Then he could pay his taxes."

I.N.S.'s Olga Curtis, who wrote such great stuff from the Kelly wedding, received a slab of Grace's wedding cake today. Seems that Jack Kelly's aide, Tom Labrum, brought it from Monaco for Olga in April, 1956, but forgot to mail it until reminded by the birth of Princess Carolina.

Olga reports: "Cake petrified. Alas! Too lumpy to put under pillow."

2 cups milk

Cut meat into 1-inch cubes. Place five pieces on each stick alternating first veal, then pork. Roll legs in cracker crumbs, dip in egg, and again in cracker crumbs. Melt butter in heavy frying pan; add chicken legs and brown. Add about ¼ cup water, cover and simmer over low heat. Add extra water, if needed to keep legs from sticking. Cook until meat is tender — about 1 hour. Chicken legs may be browned on top of stove and then baked in 325° F., oven for 45-60 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

To make gravy, remove chicken legs; add 2 cups milk. Put flour in covered jar with just enough milk to make a smooth paste (¼ cup). Shake until free from lumps; add to liquid in frying pan, stirring constantly. When thickened, add more milk if necessary and cook to proper consistency. Serve over hot, baked potatoes.

Tea Party Sandwiches

— a delightful addition to your list of treasured little goodies to serve for a tea. These sandwiches are dainty for party use on tiny hearts or circles and they are just plain good if filling is spread between two pieces of bread for any old time.

About 20 California dried figs
1 cup pecan or walnut meats
½ cup confectioners sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 3oz. or 1 large pkg. cream cheese
milk to soften the cheese.

Cover the California dried figs with boiling water for 10 minutes. Then drain and, with scissors, snip off the stems. Cut the figs into very tiny pieces or put them through the food grinder. Chop the nut or grind until they are very fine. Blend the figs and nuts with the sugar, lemon juice and the cheese. If too stiff to spread, add a little milk. Best on white bread.

A taste-tempting salad that's quick and easy to prepare, is made of diced, unpeeled Washington Delicious apples, sliced bananas and chopped dates. Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing.

Cranberry Nut Bread

(Use fresh cranberries in this recipe)

2½ cups sifted enriched flour
4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
¼ cup shortening
1 cup milk
1 egg
½ cup chopped nuts
1 cup fresh cranberries, chopped

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together in mixing bowl. Cut in shortening until texture of coarse meal. Form a well in dry ingredients. Add milk and egg. Mix until flour mixture is dampened. Stir in chopped nuts and cranberries. Pour into well-greased 9" x 55 x 3" loaf pan.

Spread batter into corners of pan, leaving the center slightly hollowed. Allow to stand 20 minutes before baking. Bake in moderate over 350 degrees F. 60 to 70 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool. Store overnight for easy slicing.

When buying poultry, you can always rely on the bird that has been Government inspected for wholesomeness and graded for quality. U. S. Grade A poultry is tops in quality, and was slaughtered and packed under sanitary conditions.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (INS) — The passing show—

Politics and oil make strange bedfellows. What is expedient for President Eisenhower to do — break bread with King Saud in the hope of lessening Middle East tensions—would have constituted political suicide for Bob Wagner, New York's fine young mayor.

Curiously, both hosts are impeccably correct. For the President not to play the part of active host, even to the downing of fruit juice toasts, would demolish his good chance of swinging Saud away from the corrosive influence of Nasser. Saud is the Croesus among a swarm of mendicant Arab nations. He is least likely to succumb to Soviet influence, since it portends an end to his ability to build himself $30,000,000 castles when the whim strikes him.

Yet there are close ethnic, religious and cultural ties between Saudi Arabia and some of the Arab states which plainly prefer the East to the West. Egypt, for example, sends vast numbers of pilgrims to Mecca and Medina each year. Saud's army of brothers have invested heavily in Egyptian property.

He won't turn his back on Nasser very readily. But Ike has a good chance of making clear to him the reasons why he should and must tone Nasser down.

Mayor Wagner all but understated things when, in refusing to give Saud the standard big town reception for visiting royalty, he denounced the king as anti-Catholic, anti-Semitic and a trafficker in slaves. Saud is more. He stands for the extermination of Christian thought and the utter annihilation of the state of Israel. I think New York showed rare class—through Wagner—by making it plain that it will keep the Little Picture in mind and let the Feds take of the Big Picture.

One won't soon forget the pickets at the Waldorf, their flags and their clothes soddened by rain, but their squashing feet still full of determination. Nor, if one is in my business, can he fail to continue to thrill to the cadence of one of the finest "leads" I've read in years:

"King Saud arrived today on a diplomatic green carpet rolled out at President Eisenhower's request—but not even a 21-gun salute could drown out the silence of the City's official snub." — George Carpozi, Jr., in Tuesday's New York Journal American.

We tooled in from Topeka the other day at speeds which at times reached 420 m.p.h.

The baggage came off the plane and into the Newark airport at another interesting speed: .000194 m.p.h.

With the pure-jet age almost upon us, why doesn't the commercial aviation industry put up a $100,000 prize, or give a sum to research, for an efficient method whereby the passenger can ransom his belongings in a hurry? At proposed jet speeds and current baggage-handling pace, it would take a man as long to redeem his suitcase as it took him to fly from Chicago to New York.

Almost from the day his reporter reached New York he has received a weekly letter from Johnny Toker, a Brooklynite with a keen sense of humor and an enduring interest in the wonders of the world around him. Johnny seldom fails to come up with a penetrating thought. This week's offering:

"Joe Louis should use some European style diplomacy. He should write to the Treasury and threaten to join the Communists. To keep him in the West, we'd promptly send him a loan. Then he could pay his taxes."

I.N.S.'s Olga Curtis, who wrote such great stuff from the Kelly wedding, received a slab of Grace's wedding cake today. Seems that Jack Kelly's aide, Tom Labrum, brought it from Monaco for Olga in April, 1956, but forgot to mail it until reminded by the birth of Princess Carolina.

Olga reports: "Cake petrified. Alas! Too lumpy to put under pillow."

WMI Teams Open Final Half Of Campaign Tonight

Campers Will Face Indians In Mt. Savage

Valley To Host Fort Hill; Beall To Invade Bruce

Mt. Savage High School will attempt to halt Allegany's dash toward the championship of the W.M.I. League when the teams clash tonight at Mt. Savage as the final half of the county schedule gets under way.

Allegany gave the Indians an 85-61 pasting here and should take the Indians again but the return game could be much closer.

Beall plays at Bruce and Fort Hill invades Valley High for other Friday night games in the W.M.I. circuit.

Allegany takes a 13-1 record to Mt. Savage, including a string of ten wins. The Campers head the W.M.I. race with 5-0.

Valley Seeks Sweep

Valley, breathing down Allegany's back, with four wins and one loss, figures to sweep its series with Fort Hill tonight after belting the Sentinels to the tune of 60-48 in the opener here. Valley's overall record is 11-4.

Beall High is 3-2 in the league and 11-2 for the season. The Mountaineers hold a 59-53 decision over Bruce.

Piedmont High (7-1) and West Virginia School for the Deaf (6-1), leader and runner-up in the Potomac Valley Conference, play games at home tonight.

PVC Leaders In Action

Coach "Huck" Miers' club hosts Moorefield, a team it whipped earlier by the score of 69-47. West Virginia Deaf will be gunning for a sweep of its series with Fort Ashby after having taken the opener, 74-69.

Other P.V.C. action finds Franklin (7-2) at Petersburg (5-4) and Romney High (8-3) at Ridgeley (4-3). Franklin's Panthers hold a 51-47 decision over the Vikings and Romney eked out a 44-43 verdict over the Blackhawks in their initial contest.

Winless Flintstone plays at Oldtown tonight. The Aggies made their basketball debut last season and have yet to win a game in 20 starts. Oldtown owns a 1-10 record this season and has dropped eight games in a row. Last season Oldtown whipped the Aggies twice, 50-35 and 58-34.

Bulldogs Host Keyser

Keyser High School steps out of the conference tonight to engage Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs at Martinsburg.

Bell Gets $10,000 Boost

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31 (AP) — The National Football League owners tonight voted Commissioner Bert Bell a $10,000 a year salary increase, boosting his pay to $40,000.

The owners also voted Bell a $10,000 bonus for 1956.

Duke Spills Terps, 72-60

DURHAM, N. C., Jan. 31 (AP)—Led by forward Jim Newcome's 24 points, Duke's Blue Devils avenged an early season loss to Maryland by handing the Terps a 72-60 lacing tonight in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.

Bayard Victor Over Oakland

Tops Southern High, 68-67 in Overtime

BAYARD, W. Va., Jan. 31 — Bayard High School defeated Southern High of Oakland in an overtime battle here tonight by the score of 68-67.

At the close of the regulation game the score was knotted at 64-64 and three foul goals by "Moak" Kuhn and one by Eddie Kopfle in the extra period sewed up the decision for Coach Francis Maleonski's quint.

Ronald Kuhn scored 29 points for Bayard and might have tied the school record of 33 set in 1951 by Funk if he hadn't fouled out with two minutes remaining in the final period. Shaffer was high scorer for Southern with 21 tallies. Lineups:

Clubs Pick, Pickets March At Draft Meeting Of NFL

Few Well-Known Drawn; Alderton Named By Lions

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31 (AP) — There were pickings and pickets at the National Football League meeting today, the clubs picking players and pickets marching outside protesting alleged discrimination against Negro players by the Washington Redskins.

The 12 NFL teams opened their 1957 annual meeting with the final 26 rounds of the player draft. The first four rounds were held last November in an effort to gain an even start with Canadian teams in signing top graduating college players.

It was quite obvious that the pickings were going to be mighty slim. The 49 players, including Green Bay's bonus choice of Notre Dame quarterback Paul Hornung in November, pretty well cleaned out the cream of the crop.

In today's first round—actually it was the fifth of the complete draft—there were few well-known players drawn.

The Philadelphia Eagles, selecting first under the draft rule which made the order of selection from last place to first in the 1956 standings, took Jimmy Harris, quarterback of the national champion Oklahoma Sooners. Cleveland named Milt Campbell, U.S. Olympic decathlon champion, who hasn't played football since 1955. Campbell, a halfback, expects to return to Indiana University when his current Navy enlistment expires and to play pro football on graduation.

Other fifth round selections:

Los Angeles—Dean Derby, University of Washington halfback; Baltimore — Ronnie Underwood, Arkansas back; Pittsburgh—Perry Richards, University of Detroit end; San Francisco—Carl Rupke, Southern California center; Chicago Cardinals—Wayne Bock, Illinois tackle; Detroit—John Barrow, Florida guard; Chicago Bears — Dick Zucco, Michigan State back; and New York—Larry Wesley, Florida tackle.

Cleveland also obtained Henry Jordan, Virginia tackle, with Green Bay's draft spot as a result of a previous trade.

Eighth round—Baltimore, Jack Harmon, end, Eastern Oregon; Washington, Paul Lopata, end, Yale; Detroit, Dave Liddick, tackle, George Washington.

Ninth round—Baltimore, Robert White, tackle, Otterbein.

Tenth round — Baltimore, Joe Neal Grisham, end, Austin Peay.

Eleventh round—Baltimore, Andy Nelson, Memphis State back.

Twelfth round—Baltimore, Don Simonic, Tennessee Tech tackle.

Thirteenth round—Los Angeles, Robert Wolfenden, Virginia Poly back; Baltimore, John Call, Colgate back; Washington, Claude Austin, George Washington back.

Fourteenth round—Los Angeles, Joe Lazzarino, Maryland tackle; Baltimore, Joe Guido, Youngstown back.

Fifteenth round—Baltimore, Hall Whitley, Texas A. & I. center; Detroit, Gene Alderton, Maryland center; Chicago Bears, Anthony Hosec Jr., West Virginia end.

Sixteenth round—Baltimore, Joe Canavino, Ohio State back (choice acquired from Pittsburgh as part of previous trade); Detroit, Hillmer Olson, VPI center; Chicago Bears, Ed Heuring, Maryland end.

Seventeenth round — Cleveland, Frank Tamburello, Maryland back; Baltimore, Dan Wizniewski, Pittsburgh guard.

Eighteenth round — Baltimore, Jim Villa, Allegheny College (Pa.) back; Washington, Ed Sakach, George Washington guard, Chicago Bears, Al Wharton, Maryland guard.

Nineteenth round — Baltimore, Charles Froehle, St. John's University (Minn.) guard; Detroit, Bob Gundermann, Virginia end.

Twentieth round — Baltimore, Walter Livingstone, Heidelberg back.

Twenty-first round — Baltimore, Owen Mulholland, Houston back; Chicago Cardinals, Joe Kopniski, West Virginia end.

Twenty-second round — Baltimore, Chester Van Atta, Kansas tackle; Chicago Bears, Tom Dalvell, Virginia Poly tackle.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 31—Coach Homer Brooks' Frederick High School Cadets avenged their only loss of the season by whipping Martinsburg High School here tonight by the score of 57-46.

The victory tied Frederick with North Hagerstown for first place in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League while the Bulldogs were knocked out of their top berth. Frederick had lost to Martinsburg earlier in the season by the score of 43-35.

Tonight's triumph was the 10th in 11 starts for the Cadets.

Bucky Summers was Frederick's "big gun" with 10 goals and 24 points while Charley Keller contributed 17 points. Dailey and Alger led the Bulldogs with nine points each.

Martinsburg suffered its second loss of the week, having dropped a 54-38 decision in undefeated Handley High of Winchester on Tuesday. The Bulldogs' overall record is eight wins and three losses. Lineups:

Orioles Sign Gus Triandos

BALTIMORE, Jan. 31 (AP) — Gus Triandos, Baltimore's leading long ball hitter for the past two years, today signed his '57 contract with the Orioles. His paycheck will run about $16,000.

Manager Paul Richards called Triandos "the second best catcher in the American League," deferring only to the Yankees' Yogi Berra.

Last year Gus, dubbed the Garrulous Greek by Baltimore writers, belted 21 homers, nine more than the year before, and drove in 88 runs, an increase of 23 over his rookie year.

Billy Pierce Is Satisfied With Contract

White Sox Star Comes To Terms

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP) — Billy Pierce, star left handed pitcher for the Chicago White Sox, came to contract terms today in a telephone conversation, Vice President Charles Comiskey announced.

Pierce, a holdout who rejected previous offers, was given a "substantial increase," Comiskey said, without announcing any figures.

He is the highest paid pitcher in the ball club's history and reputedly one of the three highest paid in the American League.

Pierce is the White Sox's first 20-game winner since Thornton Lee's 22 and 11 record in 1941. Last year Pierce won 20 and lost 9 to tie for second in the league in total wins and winning percentage.

He tied for the league lead with Bob Lemon of Cleveland by pitching 21 complete games. His completion percentage of .636—21 complete games in 33 starts—was the best in the league.

Pierce, 29, appeared in the All-Star games in 1953, 1955 and 1956 and has a record of no wins and one loss.

Careless Miss, 18-1 Shot, Wins Hialeah Feature

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP)—Careless Miss, a New York campaigner, celebrated her winter debut with a surprise triumph today over 11 other fillies and mares, including Argentina's highly rated Tana Linda, in the $6,000 Fair Sex Purse at Hialeah Park.

Owned by C. L. Heeken, of Cincinnati, Careless Miss outgamed A. J. Della-Pietra's Miss Erlen, winner of her last four starts at Tropical, by a head at the end of a swiftly-run six furlong test. It was timed in 1:10 2/5. Ralph Lowe's Jet Girl was two lengths back in third place, while Elmendorf's Classic Music finished fourth.

Careless Miss, completing a double for Steve Brooks, paid $38.70, $11.10 and $6.10. Miss Erlen, the second choice, returned $4.30 and $3.40. Jet Girl, held at 16 to 1, was $6.30 third.

Careless Miss, idle since November at Jamaica, had speed from the outset, caught Miss Erlen inside the 16th pole and then outgamed that filly, thanks to Brooks' superior handling. Careless Miss won 3 of 16 starts and $14,300 in 1956. She is trained by Sherill Ward.

Mantle Expected To Get $55,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Mickey Mantle, baseball's player-of-the-year in 1956, is expected to sign before Monday a $55,000 contract making him the third highest salaried player in New York Yankee history.

The 25-year-old slugger probably will settle for $55,000, it was learned today. The figure, about $10,000 less than his original demand, is $25,000 more than Mantle earned last year when he led the American League in batting, home runs and runs batted in.

Delany Will Run In Boston Meet

BOSTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Boston A.A. today learned unexpectedly that Ron Delany, Ireland's 1,500 meter Olympic champion, will run in the BAA meet Saturday at Boston Garden.

Delany, 21 a Villanova junior, had been withdrawn from competition by Villanova Coach James Elliott after the Olympics "for a needed rest."

Bahama, Logart Clash Tonight

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Yama Bahama, a carpenter from the Bahamas, and Isaac Logart, a young Cuban who is the fourth-ranking world welterweight contender, clash in the 10-round televised feature fight tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden.

The two will go in at approximately 155 pounds. The bout will be televised over National Broadcasting Co. network at 10 p.m. (EST).

Bahama won 23 straight bouts until last Aug. 9 when he dropped a 10-round decision to Pat Lowry in Saginaw, Mich.

Logart won seven of eight fights last year. Logart's last fight was a seven-round kayo of Duke Harris in Chicago Nov. 7.

Ben Gets Invite

LONDON, Jan. 31 (AP) — British golfers want one more look at Ben Hogan.

An invitation was sent to Hogan's Fort Worth home today asking him to compete in a Sept. 19-21 tournament at Hollinwell in Nottinghamshire. Hogan never has lost in England or Scotland.

Gene Fullmer And Robinson Meet April 24

Title Scrap Set For Chicago Ring

Fullmer lifted the crown from the 36-year-old Robinson with an unanimous decision Jan. 2.

James Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, said today the return bout will take place in the Chicago Stadium and each fighter would receive 30 per cent of the receipts.

Norris said television arrangements had not been completed but the bout would be televised over the usual Wednesday fight network (ABC). The same network will broadcast by radio.

Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson, wanted the bout in Madison Square Garden where the first clash drew 18,134 and a gate of $184,645. Fullmer said he was willing to fight anywhere.

Fullmer, 25, who works as an apprentice welder in a copper mine, didn't show much profit on his first fight with Robinson. To make the match, he agreed to accept 12½ per cent of the gate receipts and waive his share of the TV money. He collected $20,915.40 from the gate while Robinson took home $138,000 including $60,000 from TV.

Zernial Signed; 21 A's In Line

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 31 (AP)—Two outfielders and a catcher agreed to 1957 contract terms with the Kansas City Athletics today.

They brought to 21 the number of A's who have come to terms.

The club announced that outfielders Gus Zernial and Leroy Schmidt had signed contracts and that Tim Thompson, catcher, had accepted terms by letter.

Zernial, from Culver City, Calif., hit .225 for the Athletics last season, getting 16 home runs and batting in 44 runs.

Schmidt, a rookie from St. Louis, was with Abilene, Tex., of the Big State League and hit .288 in 51 games.

Thompson, who makes his home at Lewistown, Pa., is playing baseball in Puerto Rico this winter. Purchased by the A's from Brooklyn last spring, he had a 1956 batting average of .271 and was credited with driving in 27 runs.

Yule Thief Sentenced

BALTIMORE, Jan. 31 (AP)—John D. Goodwin, 38-year-old treasurer of an industrial plant group who ran off with the group's Christmas savings, was sentenced to four years in prison yesterday by Criminal Court Judge John T. Tucker.

Goodwin, a Negro, admitted taking $6,084. He blamed gambling, saying he lost the money on horses and boxing matches.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31 (INS)—You may remember reading in this column about Anna Maria Duringer, the Viennese actress I met at the O. W. Fischer party and whom I said looked like Marlene Dietrich. Well, Buddy Adler told me that he has signed Anna Maria for "Fraulein," based on the James McGovern book, which will be filmed in April in Berlin.

Anna Maria speaks German, naturally, and English very well. Walter Reisch, the producer, and Henry Koster, director, will make a trip to Berlin to make all arrangements.

Speaking of Fischer, the first day of shooting on "My Man Godfrey," he introduced himself to every technician on the set. Made a hit, too.

For the first time, Playhouse 90 will present three dramas to be filmed (instead of live) with imposing casts. The first of these is the story of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondolet, whose mother house is outside of Tucson. For this, Helen Hayes, Katy Jurado, Janice Rule and Ralph Meeker have been signed. The local order of the Sisters of St. Joseph is at St. Martin of Tours, and when Sister Georgine Marie read the script, she said it deserved an "A plus."

The other two films are "Without Incident," starring Errol Flynn, Ann Sheridan, Julie London and John Ireland and "Lone Woman," with Kathryn Grayson, Scott Brady and Vincent Price.

I would say that Jack L. Warner is really on a novel buying binge. His latest move in that direction is the purchase of "Home Before Dark" by Eileen Bassing, which is the emotional story of a young woman mentally disturbed.

Random House are the publishers of the book and Ingo Preminger made the deal. When I asked who would be starred, I was told it is intended for Carroll Baker. Seems they are lining up stories for her.

I don't like to call a child a prodigy, but 13-year-old Frank Sinatra, Jr., comes close to qualifying in that class. He played the piano for us at a buffet dinner Nancy Sinatra gave in honor of Lorayne Brock Busse and Joseph Hall, who will be married Feb. 14.

Young Frankie doesn't care for rock 'n' roll, and says he's never seen Elvis Presley. But he feels that Elvis came up too suddenly and that he should work as hard as Frank, Sr., Bing Crosby and Perry Como did for their success.

We played Frank, Sr.'s new record, and Frank, Jr., congratulated Jimmy McHugh on "I Didn't Sleep a Wink Last Night," included in the album. Believe me, coming from Frankie that was a compliment.

Joseph Schenck, Dorothy Manners, the William Perlbergs, the George Seatons, the Harry Brands and the Ed Leshins gathered around the piano to hear this talented boy play.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Rex Harrison stayed over in New York to await the arrival of Lilli Palmer from Europe so they can discuss divorce plans.

We may soon have a member of the Astor family in our Hollywood movies. John Jacob Astor's son, William, is coming here to have a try at acting.

Bells are not ringing for Judy Holliday and Sid Chaplin, who are reported feuding.

At the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce dinner, Gordon MacRae told me that he and his wife, Sheila, are not expecting a baby as was reported in several New York columns.

Congratulations to Kitty and Mervyn Le Roy on their wedding anniversary tomorrow. Doesn't seem possible it's 11 years ago that I attended their wedding.

Jim Bishop sends me the cover of his book, "The Day Christ Died," and writes: "Harper's sent me this today. I'm a lucky guy. There were 25 lean and hungry years before 'The Day Lincoln Was Shot,' and now this, of which 75,000 copies already are sold."

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Correct a double chin or crepy throat with these exercises

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Chin-Up Exercise Works Wonders For Throat

In spite of what many despairing women think, a double chin or a crepy throat aren't beyond remedying. They needn't go on saying the most unflattering things about your age. You'll have to work to hold jaw and necklines or to tighten flabby tissues, but wonders can be accomplished in two ways. First, hold your head up, carry it proudly by habit. Then, be faithful to these exercises:

1. Slowly rotate your head first to the right and then to the left, letting it fall as far as possible in all direcions.

2. While chewing hard, throw your head straight back and hold it for a count of ten. Repeat, directing your chin to the far right and to the far left.

3 With the chin well up, say "aye" with a wide grin, and "oh" with pursed lips.

4. As a day long workout, keep your chin parallel to the floor. Look down at tasks with your eyes—never drop your chin.

5. As a passive but effective measure, mold your jaw between your thumb and forefinger and stroke your throat upward with your palm when giving your face its daily care.

No exercises sound easier than these—it may be hard to believe that they can be truly effective. But don't let this be the reason for giving up after the first few times or not starting the exercises at all. And don't simply decide to give the whole thing a try for a short time. Good results may not come as rapidly as with some other exercises for other parts of the body, but they will come. You're dealing with small muscles and delicate tissues there and strenuous exercise won't do for them. Strict adherence to the method and persistence wins.

Tomorrow—An early start.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 club	1 heart	2 diamonds
Pass	2 no trump	Pass	3 clubs
Pass	3 hearts	Pass	3 spades
Pass	6 clubs	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Four of spades.

Today's hand, selected from a recent tournament, saw all declarers but one go down in a slam contract. It took a shrewd diagnosis of the opening lead to enable the successful player to hit upon the one way to bring home the slam.

The final contract at all tables, six clubs, was reached on descriptive bidding. After the trump suit was agreed upon, South showed the heart ace and North the spade control, whereupon South assumed full responsibility for the slam.

West opened the four of spades, and most declarers, mindful of the vulnerable overcall, assumed the king of spades to be favorably located and took the finesse. The king won, and a spade return settled the issue then and there.

"I didn't see how I could make the hand, partner, unless the king of spades was right," was the comment at the time.

At one table, against the same opening lead, declarer saw that the hand could be made though the king of spades were "wrong."

He mused for a moment over what the opening lead might be and concluded that it was not very likely from the king. In view of the vulnerable overcall, West surely has the king-queen of hearts. Why, then, would he choose to lead from something like K-J-x-x of spades with a more attractive lead available in his own suit? On this line of reasoning, South decided that the four of spades was probably a singleton and observed that of West had only one spade, the slam contract could not be defeated.

He won with the ace of spades, cashed the ace of diamonds, wound up in dummy after the second lead of trumps, and led the queen of diamonds. If East had covered he intended to ruff, reenter dummy and discard spades on the high diamonds, But in the actual case, East played low. South discarded a spade, and West was in with the king of diamonds. Inasmuch as West had no spade to return, declarer was able to regain the lead and discard his two remaining spades.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Clara M. Mowery, who passed away three years ago today, Feb. 1, 1954.
No one knows how much we miss you or knows the bitter pain.
In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweetly tender, fond and true;
There is not a day dear mother
That we do not think of you.

CHRYSLER
'56 Chrysler H. T. Nassau
The former owner of this beautiful all white Hard Top was a local Doctor that kept the car in Tip-Top condition with regular 1,000 mile checks. The custom made interior of white Vinyl and Nylon does not have a spot. The powerful V8 motor of 250 HP has Push Button control and will be trouble free, as the car has only been driven 16,000 miles. The equipment includes: Power Steering, Power Brakes, Radio with rear seat speaker, Heater, Defroster, Tinted Glass, Signal lights, Back lights, the original White Side Wall tires, and all of Chrysler's small accessories. This is your opportunity to own a powerful Chrysler and our price only

Late Profit-Taking Sends Market Lower On Balance

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Late profit-taking skimmed the cream off the last two days of advance by steels and other industrials, leaving the stock market lower on balance today.

Leading issues declines from fractions to around 2 points.

Volume for the day remained at a modest 1,920,000 shares compared with 1,950,000 yesterday, continuing the sub-average pace of this week's market and illustrating the lack of conviction both on the upward and downward moves of the past few sessions.

The action of Bethlehem Steel pointed up the performance. It was off slightly at the opening, dipped around a point, then erased its loss and moved about a point to the upside. As a result of the late selling it showed a net loss of 1¾ on the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 50 cents to $176.60 with the industrials down 50 cents, the rails down 80 cents and the utilities down 20 cents.

After the close Bethlehem's directors declared a dividend of 60 cents a share on its new common stock, equivalent to $2.40 on the old stock, slightly less than the $2.50 payment announced a year ago. While Bethlehem's net income for 1956 was lower than for 1955, the company was affected by last summer's steel strike.

Bethlehem Steel's when-issued stock, following its pending 4-for-1 stock split, was the most active issue of the day, off ½ at 45½ on 37,300 shares.

Judge Enjoins Unions From Job Violence

Polish Mountain Injunction Issued

Chief Judge George Henderson yesterday signed a temporary restraining order in Allegany County Circuit Court enjoining four local building trades unions from acts of violence and trespass on property on the west side of Polish Mountain where the Central Pennsylvania Quarry Stripping and Construction Company, Hazelton, Pa., is attempting to start a $1,594,280.20 highway improvement project on U. S. Route 40.

The company, through the Harrisburg, Pa. law firm of McNees, Wallace and Nurick and W. Earle Cobey, local attorney, filed a six-page bill of complaint yesterday afternoon asking for the injunction. Edward C. First was attorney for the Harrisburg firm at yesterday's session.

The suit was brought against Local Union No. 37-B, International Union of Operating Engineers; Local Union No. 616, International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union of America; Local Union No. 1024, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America and Local Union No. 453, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America.

Violence Charged

Also named as defendents in the action are the business agents of the four locals, Harry L. Hickle of Local 37-B; Robert T. Weaver of Local 616; F. Patrick Allender of Local 1024, and Charles E. Stutzman of Local 453.

The suit also singled out Russell C. Jeffries of Lonaconing, a member of Local 37-B. The bill of complaint charged that on January 28 Jeffries "viley abused and threatened" Harry C. Smith, superintendent on the construction job, seized him physically and attempted to remove him from his office on the job site. The bill of complaint adds that Smith notified the LaVale office of Maryland State Police and Sheriff Edward R. Muir of disorder but authorities made no effort to end picketing.

The bill of complaint listed a number of events which allegedly have taken place since the first of the year. On or about January 2, the company entered into contract with the State Roads Commission for grading, drainage and surfacing of the west slope of Polish Mountain on U.S. Route 40.

The company states it also entered into contract with United Construction Workers, Division of District 50, United Mine Workers of America, as to heavy and highway construction within the State of Maryland under which the UCW has been designated as exclusive bargaining agent of employes of the company who are not of a supervisory or technical capacity.

Commenced Work

On January 21, the contractor started work on the job site, using four specially skilled employes regularly employed by the company as well as seven Allegany County residents, all of whom were required to sign application cards for membership in the UCW. They were forced to shut down, the company stated, when the next day some 50 men, including Hickle, Weaver and Allender, with their automobiles, blocked the job site and field office and advised the company that the employes would be forcibly restrained if they attempted to work.

At a conference January 25 between officers of the company and counsel for the individual defendants, the latter advised the company that they would not permit work unless the company entered into contract with the various unions. The company explained that it could not do this because of its contract with UCW.

The company's contract with the SRC provides that insofar as possible the company is to employ all qualified unskilled labor through the Cumberland office of the Employment Security Board. Some 10 local men referred by the office reported to the job site January 28 but because of picketing there, refused to accept employment and returned to their homes.

Then on January 29, the company said, 10 persons referred by the local employment office reported for work, joined the UCW and were assigned to clear brush on the job. The bill of complaint asserts that pickets forcibly took tools away from the men and drove them off the job. Hickle was quoted as saying that if the employes "wanted to live and

Consultant Offers Delinquency Advice

Richard J. Clendenin, left, of Arlington, Va., head of National Consultants of Youth Welfare, is shown on a visit to Allegany County, where he offered advice on the operation of the Green Ridge Forestry Camp for boys. With him is David Curran, a field supervisor who is assistant to Raymond L. Manella, chief of the Division of Training Schools of the State Department of Public Welfare. The two men were classmates at Indiana University. Mr. Curran, who has been attempting to obtain prospective employes for the two additional forestry camps which his department plans in Garrett County, brought Mr. Clendenin to the Green Ridge camp to address the staff and other interested persons.

Expert Says Forestry Camp Is Pioneer In Eastern U.S.

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

The Green Ridge Forestry Camp for Boys just off U. S. Route 40 some 19 miles east of the Cumberland city limits is an eastern pioneer in this type of program for juvenile delinquents.

This observation came from a national authority on the treatment of juvenile delinquency, Richard J. Clendenin, Arlington, Va., head of National Consultants on Youth Welfare. He visited the camp on Green Ridge Mountain Wednesday afternoon in conjunction with his present duties as a special consultant to the State Department of Public Welfare.

Mr. Clendenin gained national recognition a few years ago as executive director of the U. S. Senate sub-committee on juvenile delinquency. Former Senator Robert C. Hendrickson of New Jersey was the first chairman of this sub-committee and was succeeded by Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee when the Democrats gained control of the Senate.

First In The East

He told the Green Ridge camp staff that as far as he knew this is the first forestry camp for juvenile delinquents operated by a state east of the Mississippi River. The Federal Bureau of Prisons operates one at Natural Bridge, Va., he said.

Besides the camp staff, representatives of the Juvenile Court, the County Welfare Department, the State Department of Forests and Parks, the County Health Department and the county public school system attended the session with the consultant.

Forestry camps for boys were an accidental development, he told the group of about 20. They started in Los Angeles County, Calif. Some years ago the Los Angeles area was swamped with transient teen-agers who came there seeking fame in the movies.

Realizing that something had to be done with the transients, authorities decided to utilize an abandoned Civilian Conservation Corps camp. Many of the youngsters seemed to benefit from their experience at the camp and it was decided to continue the camp as a place for training of the county's own juvenile delinquents.

For some 100 years most states have operated nothing more than training schools. Mr. Clendenin described these schools as "huge baskets" in which juveniles of all types are thrown indiscriminately together. The development of the camp idea is the first significant break away from the training school concept. More diversified facilities are needed.

One of the basic misconceptions of the public, the consultant emphasized, is that there would be less juvenile delinquency if more children were punished for their misdeeds. He contended that most delinquents called before him have been punished and in many cases almost brutally beaten.

Dos and Don'ts

He closed his remarks with several recommendations for the staff. He suggested that they not expect to do wonders overnight with boys who have been developing as delinquents for 15 to 17 years. Because of the backgrounds of the youngsters it is only natural to expect that sooner or later one of them is going to run away and steal a car or commit some other crime.

Mr. Clendenin urged the camp staff to develop their techniques to the point that they will be able to handle aggression in a non-punitive manner. He concluded by saying that cooperation and teamwork are necessary on the part of the staff for a successful camp.

A native of LaPorte, Ind., the visitor to Allegany County is a 1940 graduate of Indiana University. He has been a private

Girl Scouts Elect Officers, Board Members

Mrs. George J. Miller, Bowling Green, was elected president of Cumberland Council Girl Scouts for a term of two years to succeed Mrs. Ralph C. Isiminger, at the annual meeting of the council last night in Central Methodist Church.

Mrs. Eric Roeder, 808 Trost Avenue, was re-elected first vice president and Mrs. Isiminger, Roberts Place, was elected second vice president, succeeding Mrs. Bernard G. Renz, 316 Mountain View Drive.

Mrs. William D. Claus, LaVale Boulevard, was elected recording secretary to succeed Mrs. Miller; and Mrs. Frank J. Leger, 611 Washington Street, was re-elected chairman of District I.

Elected to the board of directors are Mrs. Milton Beneman, 109 Luteman Highway; Mrs. Aden Everstine, Ridgeley; Theodore P. Foote, LaVale; Mrs. C. Eugene Howell, 123 Pennsylvania Avenue; Mrs. Karl G. Perry, Flintstone; Mrs. Paul M. Umberger, Bowling Green; F. Allan Weatherholt, 419 Fairmont Lane, and Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, 42 West Loo Street, Frostburg.

Elected to the Membership-Nominating Committee are Mrs. Albert D. Darby Jr., Cumberland Street; Mrs. Lawrence I. Horner, LaVale, and Mrs. George W. Legge, 841 Braddock Road.

In making her annual report, Mrs. Isiminger noted that the Girl Scout program has expanded steadily here. In 1955, when she assumed office, there were 656 girls registered in scouting, plus 188 active adult leaders. As of January 1 this year there were 805 girls registered, plus 247 adult leaders, making a total of 1,052 registered Girl Scouts in the Council, the first time the registration has exceeded 1,000 active participants.

Ross Decker of the Boy Scout Council outlined the experiences of the Boy Scouts in developing and financing the development of Camp Potomac. He expressed the view that the Girl Scouts had made an excellent purchase and selection of their new camp near Flintstone, and offered suggestions on development procedure.

Miss Pauline House led singing and Mrs. Perry offered the invocation. After the dinner, new officers and board members were formally installed by Miss Olive Hurlburt, scout executive.

Date Change Noted

The date of the Fort Hill Players' production of the mystery comedy, "Nine Girls," has been changed to February 14, instead of today, the school reminded yesterday.

Legislative Ire Is Raised By Pay 'Padding'

Ban On Practice Will Be Sought

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 31 (AP)—Legislative resentment mounted today over charges state departments have been boosting employes' salaries with money allocated for filling vacant positions.

Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto County), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he would push for early action on a bill to ban such practices.

Three members of the House Ways and Means Committee, meanwhile, launched a special study to determine the extent of such "payroll padding" and its impact on the new budget now before the finance groups.

Tacked On Increases

Figures supplied the Senate committee indicate $1,700,000 in pay increases has been tacked onto more than $40,00,000 in raises approved by the General Assembly last February.

The latest raises were approved between sessions of the Legislature by the governor and the Standard Salary Board, and were financed mainly with funds the departments had left over from vacant positions.

Finance committee members have been questioning department heads on this matter and have received pretty much the same answer: The increases were considered necessary to attract and retain qualified personnel.

Sen. Phoebus (R-Somerset), Senate Republican minority leader has joined Turnbull, the majority leader, in attacking the practice. They contend it subverts authority of the Legislature.

Extra Million Spent

"All we've been doing is designating power," Phoebus said. "We leave here and in a month an extra million dollars has been spent."

Turnbull said he would not wait for the completion of budget hearings to move out of committee a bill he introduced Jan. 21 to prohibit amending the budget for such increases. He said it will be reported out as soon as he can get a couple of technical amendments prepared.

"There's nothing we can do about those that have already been increased," he said, "but we can certainly prevent it in the future."

The House Ways and Means Committee members who attacked the practice today were Dels. Staten (D-Balto County), Hanna (D-Wicomico) and Mandel (D-Balto 5th).

Ask For More Jobs

They charged that the use of unspent funds to raise salaries of existing personnel may run into several million dollars, and said several departments involved are asking for even more jobs in their new budgets. They promised to assemble fiscal data on just how much money is involved.

The delegates said they have already noted nine agencies which are asking for a total of 274 additional jobs although they presently have 533 unfilled positions.

They said that the Rosewood State Training School budget calls for 729 jobs. Recent payroll data shows only 629 are filled, leaving 100 vacancies. Rosewood has said that 70 of the 100 will be needed to staff a new wing at the institution.

This would leave only 30 unfilled jobs, but in the proposed 1958 budget the school has asked for money to fill 42 additional positions.

At Springfield State Mental Hospital, 1,095 jobs are currently authorized and only 1,021 are filled. Fifteen additional jobs are being sought in the 1958 budget.

Long before budget hearings began yesterday, committee chairmen planned to delve into the salary question. They sent questionnaires to department heads requiring them to list how many people they had on their payrolls and what the payrolls amounted to for two different pay periods.

Food To Be Distributed

Surplus food commodities will be distributed from 9:30 a. m. today at the home of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion in Ridgeley.

Baby Scalded To Death By Vaporizer

Paul T. Mouse Dies In Hospital

A four-month-old infant died yesterday afternoon at Sacred Heart Hospital of burns he received after being scalded in an accident at his home shortly before noon.

He was Paul Thomas Mouse, son of Francis C. and Marguerite (Powers) Mouse, 611 Henderson Avenue.

Mrs. Mouse was treating her son for a cold and was using a steam vaporizer. She had placed the infant on the couch and the vaporizer on the floor, and had gone into the kitchen.

While she was gone the infant toppled off onto the vaporizer, suffering second degree burns over his body.

He was rushed to the hospital, but died about two hours after being admitted. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy medical examiner, said death was caused by shock from the burns.

Surviving, in addition to his parents, are his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Powers, Lonaconing, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Mouse, city.

Prayers will be offered Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the Kight Funeral Home by Rev. John U. Lyness, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Burial will be in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

Revenues Rise Under Revised Water Rates

Surplus revenues are being produced by the new rate schedule of the Water Department.

A report on income and expenditures of the department for the six months ending December 31, prepared by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, shows that income exceeded expenditures by $27,364.93.

This represents an increase of about $6,000 over the second period of 1955, when income from the rate revision began to take effect.

Taxes Up Deficit

Mr. Gibson said the increase in net revenues are being used to take up deficits sustained under the rates in effect prior to July 1, 1955, and to compensate for the additional financing needed to lay the North Branch water line to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant and complete modernization of water treatment facilities at Lake Gordon.

The report showed water rents of $170,890.43 from water sold to individuals. This is virtually the same income as a year ago, when individual users paid $170,856.70.

Income from industrial users totaled $97,924.41, up from the $89,581 of the second half of 1955, and total water rents were $262,449.76, as opposed to $254,214.52 a year ago.

Debt Costs Increase

Total half-year income including meters, taps and interest, was $273,504.26, as opposed to $264,622.02 a year ago.

Expenditures for debt service and fixed charges totaled $130,617.53, up from 1955's second half total of $124,871.28.

Expenses at Lake Gordon totaled $43,628.76, up slightly from the $41,967.20 in the 1955 period.

Expenses in the city totaled $71,893.04, about $5,000 less than 1955's second half, when heavy expenditures for pipe, fittings and meters brought city expenses to $86,252.37.

Total six-month expenditures were $246,139.33, as compared to $243,090.85 in 1955, and the excess income after expenditures totaled $27,364.93, up from 1955's $21,531.17.

ALBERT D. KUEHN

A. D. Kuehn Is Promoted At Celanese

Succeeds H. A. Smith, Who Retires Today

Albert D. Kuehn, Vocke Road, has been promoted to the position of assistant superintendent of Textile Manufacturing at Celanese Corporation's Amcelle plant.

He replaces Harry A. Smith, who retires under the provisions of the Celanese retirement plan effective today.

Mr. Kuehn came here June 16, 1955 as assistant to the Textile Manufacturing superintendent. Prior to this he was plant manager of Navaho Weaving of Esmond, R. I.

Prior to World War II service in the European Theatre, he held various supervisory positions in the New England textile industry, including Hathaway Manufacturing Company of New Bedford, Mass.

He attended the New Bedford Textile Institute where he majored in textile engineering. While in college he was president of his senior class and vice president of the local chapter of Delta Kappa Phi, a textile fraternity. In his senior year he won the medal awarded annually by the National Association of Cotton Manufacturing for outstanding scholarship and leadership.

He also completed courses at Kinyon Business School and Rhode Island University.

He is married to the former Mary E. West of Lynn, Mass., and they have a son, Matthew, 4.

A native of Rockville, Conn., Mr. Smith joined the Amcelle plant of Celanese on July 1, 1930, after having held supervisory positions in the textile industry in that state and Rhode Island. He held other positions in the Textile Section of the local plant before promotion to the position of assistant superintendent on September 1, 1952.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith reside in Park Heights.

1,400 Buy Tickets For Symphony

Ticket sales for the Pittsburgh Symphony concert scheduled here Monday have gone over the 1,400 mark, Wilton Sykes, chairman of the ticket committee, said last night.

The advance ticket sale which ended last Friday sold over 1,200 tickets, and Mr. Sykes said at least 200 more have been bought since then at the Sykes Music Store, 22 North Centre Street.

The 90-member Pittsburgh orchestra is expected to arrive in Cumberland early on Monday and will stay overnight at the Fort Cumberland Hotel following the concert.

The remaining less than 200 seats available at the Fort Hill High School auditorium are being sold on a first-come-first-served basis and are expected to be gone by concert time.

All seats unsold by Monday will become available at the box office at the school auditorium, Mr. Sykes stated.

Dr. Charles L. Kopp, general chairman, reports that public interest in the concert, sponsored by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, is very high. The company will turn over all proceeds of the concert program to worthy causes, he added.

Sen. See To Be In Office Tomorrow

State Senator Charles M. See will be in his office in the Union Street County Building tomorrow from 1 to 4.

He said he plans to come home this weekend unless the weather turns bad.

The Senator said he can also be reached at his home by telephone.

Citizens of the county who wish to contact any Allegany County legislator may do so by writing or calling at the State House in Annapolis.

Senator See suggested that telephone calls be made person to person since it is not always possible for the legislators to come to the telephone immediately.

He invited comment on the LaVale zoning bill, saying a joint hearing will be held on the measure February 20 at 3 p. m. in Senate Room 104.

Lewis J. Ort Is Elected Chest President

Agency Canvass On UF Plan Is Slated

Lewis J. Ort last night was elected president of the Cumberland Community Chest.

Mr. Ort, who served as chairman of the 1956-57 Community Chest Campaign, was named to the top post as the 21-member Board of Directors met in the Chest office.

Other officers named were A. Earl Johnson, vice president; Duard H. Little, treasurer, and Mrs. Lucile Roeder, re-elected secretary.

Directors named to the Executive Committee were Harold D. Barber, Dr. Charles L. Kopp, Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, A. W. Tindal and William L. Wilson Jr.

Canvass Is Ordered

Other directors of the Chest are Mrs. James A. Avirett, Dr. Lillian C. Compton, Henry K. Duke, Coy F. Dyer, Mrs. H. W. Eliason, Homer S. Higgins, Clarence Lippel, James B. Reinhart, Charles E. Stutzman, Mrs. Allen M. Sell, James C. Warden and James L. Weber.

Board members expressed appreciation to Dr. Kopp for his work during the past year and to members of his official staff.

The board directed that the nine Red Feather agencies be canvassed to determine their views regarding a United Fund after Dr. Kopp presented a report on the United Fund study.

UF Report Set

A report will be presented, he said, at a public meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Court House here.

The December financial report, presented by Simon Rosenbaum II, showed receipts of $59,091.07 on tthe 1956-57 Chest on January 1.

Disbursements totaled $10,689.98, leaving a cash balance of $48,401.09. Receipts from pledges totaled $71,334.08, or 47 per cent of all pledges.

Plan To Block Street For Flood Job Is Dropped

Plans to block North Mechanic Street to expedite the laying of a storm sewer for the flood control project were dropped by the City of Cumberland yesterday afternoon.

A City Hall spokesman said the move was made in the interest of merchants, who would suffer business losses if the street were blocked for any length of time.

The decision was made yesterday afternoon at a conference in City Hall, attended by Mayor Roy W. Eves and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum; Roy Hubble, project manager for the E. J. Albrecht Company, and Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers.

Albrecht crews are installing a 450-foot section of 18-inch storm sewer on North Mechanic Street from Canada Place to the downstream edge of Wolfe's abattoir at 722 North Mechanic Street.

The company has been excavating, laying the line and backfilling just as much as could be completed each day, but it had been suggested that the work, now at Kline's Market, be excavated from manhole to manhole, so the storm sewer could be adjusted to grade as the work proceeded.

The work is being done under difficulties due to the large number of sewer lines and lateral utility lines encountered in the excavation.

Fog Envelopes Tri-State Area Following Rain

Misty fog, following in on the heels of yesterday's all-day drizzling rain, enveloped much of the tri-state area last night and early this morning.

State police reported some patches of the fog were very heavy and with highways wet because of the rain, cautioned motorists to take care on the roadways.

Garrett County, covered with about an inch of snow Wednesday night, was reported clear yesterday, after State Roads Commission crews had cindered highways and yesterday's rain had dissipated most of the snow.

Temperatures remained in the mid-30s most of the day and dropped to freezing last night.

Youth For Christ Plans Activities

"Missing Christians," a color film, will be shown at the Tri-State Youth For Christ rally Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel.

District Boy Scouts Plan Numerous Activities For 47th Anniversary

Local units of the Nemacolin Trail District of Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America are planning a series of programs in celebration of the 47th anniversary of the founding of scouting in America next week.

Scout Week will be celebrated universally beginning Wednesday, February 6, and continuing through February 12. The actual birthday of scouting is February 8.

Many of the scout activities in the district here are on a unit basis, Henry Lowery, activities chairman, said, with numerous neighborhood dinners scheduled throughout the week.

Actually, some programs are set for Tuesday, February 5, and Wednesday, February 13, he said, in conjunction with the anniversary celebration.

A number of courts of honor, parent nights, window displays and charter presentations will highlight the week-long festivities also.

A new troop, No. 79, will be chartered at a program Thursday, February 7, at 7:30 p. m. at Oldtown High School. The troop is being sponsored jointly by the Oldtown PTA and the Oldtown Sportsmen's Club.

The Rotary Club's Troop No. 7 will receive its charter on Tuesday, February 5, at the regular noon meeting of the club at Central YMCA.

The LaVale Lions Club meeting scheduled at 6:30 p. m. will feature scouting on its program.

Among the neighborhood dinners planned are one at St. Mary's Church hall in South End on Wednesday, February 6, beginning at 6:15 p. m. This will be for troops and cub packs in that area.

On Monday, February 11, at LaVale Methodist Church, units in the Narrows Park and LaVale areas will hold a dinner at 6 o'clock.

Centre Street Methodist Church will be the scene of a dinner program on Tuesday, February 12, at 6:30 p.m. for scouts and cubs in the North End area of Cumberland.

West Side organizations will hold their dinner at SS. Peter and Paul hall on the same night, beginning at 6:30 p.m. also.

On Wednesday, February 13, a special program is planned at Frostburg American Legion Home at 6:30 p.m. for units in that area.

Many other covered dish dinners also are scheduled, particularly in cub packs, Lowery stated.

Many scout groups plan to attend church services during Scout Week, particularly where the units are sponsored by the churches. In Frostburg, Sunday, February 10, special scout services will be conducted at Frostburg First Presbyterian Church, a continuation of an annual program held in the past.
